Reminder to Current STT/C&DE Students

The STT/C&DE Programs can help with the required textbook and supplies needed as you return to school — but only required materials. The cost of any "extras" you purchase at your college or school's book store (school sweatshirts, food items, etc.) are your responsibility and cannot be paid for out of Education Division funds. If you are unsure about a particular item, please check with the Continuing Education office prior to purchase.

Call for Artists: United States Mint Artistic Infusion Program

The United States Mint invites artists nationwide to participate in a renaissance of American coin and medal design. The Artistic Infusion Program has been created to enrich and invigorate the design of United States coins and medals by developing a pool of up to 20 professional artists and up to 20 college and graduate-level art students in sculpture, printmaking, engraving, graphic design, drawing and other visual arts, who will be invited to create and submit new designs for selected coin and medal programs throughout the year.

The National Endowment for the Arts will assist the Mint with the application evaluation and selection process. Applications should be post-marked no later than January 9, 2004.

Artists selected for the program will attend a United States Mint-sponsored orientation on February 19-20, 2004, in Philadelphia to learn about the history of coin and medal design, the coin-making process and upcoming design opportunities.

The United States Mint was created in 1792 to produce circulating coins for the nation. Today, the Mint creates popular coins such as the 50 State Quarters® Program, the new nickel series, and commemorative coins and congressional medals that honor outstanding persons and events of special meaning to the American people.

Application packets (which include program details, eligibility requirements, artistic criteria, and detailed application guidelines) are available on the United States Mint's website at www.usmint.gov/artists.

Please direct all inquiries to the Mint by telephone at 202-354-7727 and by e-mail at art@usmint.treas.gov.

Health Professions Scholarships Target American Indians, Alaska Natives

HHS' Indian Health Service has announced the availability of $3.7 million in health professions scholarship funds for fiscal year 2004. The grants are intended to encourage American Indians and Alaska Natives to enter the health professions, and to assure the availability of Indian health professionals to serve Indians. Roughly 200 awards will be made under the Health Professions Preparatory and Pregraduate Scholarship Programs for Indians, where the average award for a full-time student is about $20,000. About 240 awards will be made under the Indian Health Scholarship Program, for which the average award for a full-time student is about $23,500. The application deadline is February 28, 2004. For more, see the notice in the Oct. 23 Federal Register at www.access.gpo.gov/su_docs/fedreg/a031023c.html under Indian Health Service.

Portland Teachers Program

The Portland Teachers Program (PTP) is a partnership effort among Portland Public Schools (PPS), Portland Community College (PCC), Portland State University (PSU) and the University of Portland (UP). It is designed to recruit and help prepare culturally competent teachers, with a special focus on historically under-represented groups in the teaching profession. As a retention and scholarship program, it assists selected students in completing teacher education through the regular course work at PCC and PSU or UP. For more information please contact Deborah Cochrane, Director, Portland Teachers Program, 705 N Killingsworth Portland, OR 97217. Phone 503-978-5444 or 978-5020 or email dcochran@pcc.edu.
