

Native American Heritage Month

Rebecca Payne

Stephen Paul

Photos by
Toby McClary

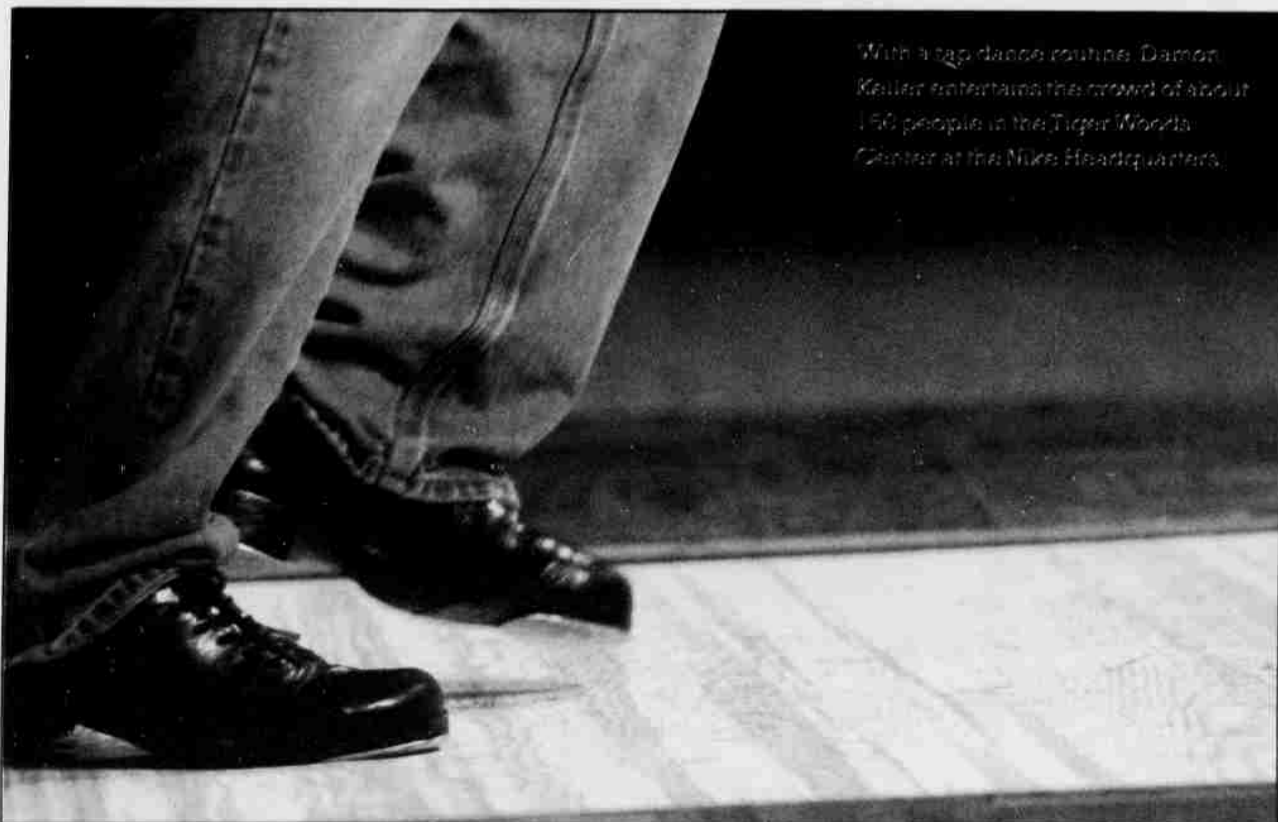

Sam McCracken

Eric Sprunk

Nike's Sam McCracken Is A Cover Boy

They praise him for his work with Indian health care issues — diabetes in particular — as well as for opening Native access to the many lines of Nike shoes and clothing.

"Nike's Sam McCracken is another prime example of a successful Native leader who is focusing on the big picture — in this case, Indian Health — and giving back to Native American Communities," read the cover story in the 2005 Fall/Holiday Catalog for Native Threads magazine.

With a tap dance routine, Damon Keller entertains the crowd of about 150 people in the Tiger Woods Center at the Nike Headquarters.

