

A Flower From God Tiffany Ann Burns-Johnson

God planted a flower named Tiffany I know;
He sat back and watched as His flower did grow;
He rained upon her, the rivers of life;
He planted her in sunshine to help her to grow right.
She grew and she bloomed, this flower so bright,
Her love for others brightened each life.

God's glorious flower loved music and song;
All God's creatures, above and beyond.
She loved the ocean, mountains and streams.
God's precious flower loved all of His things.

Sometimes life's little weeds called sadness and woe;
Could cause His flower to wilt or grow slow;
God then would reach down from His throne above;
And shower His flower with perfect love.

God planted a flower named Tiffany I know;
He took her to Heaven just a few days ago;
Tears fill my eyes and pain sears my heart;
For this blossom of life from our Earth did depart;
God said that no pain or sorrow enters there;
In His heavenly garden, so bright and so fair.

God's planting my flower named Tiffany today;
In His heavenly garden is where she will stay.
She'll grow in the light of His glorious grace;
Forever to bloom in such a heavenly place;
My flower named Tiffany is not far away;
She fills my heart's memories each and every day.

I miss you, Tiff,
Mom
