

EDUCATION OPPORTUNITIES

Southern Oregon University Preview Weekend Jan. 15-16

Southern Oregon University is dedicated to diversity and making college accessible to all students. During the Succeed at Southern Preview Weekend, participants will have the opportunity to meet supportive faculty and staff who are dedicated to making college accessible to first generation, low-income and multicultural students.

Students will have the opportunity to tour campus and the residence halls, meet with faculty in their major of interest, explore resources and facilities, learn about financial aid, dine in the Cascade Food Court and stay the night in the SOU residence halls.

The fee for the program can be waived upon request. Students can learn more and sign up online at www.sou.edu/admissions/visitus/succeedweek-end.html.

For more information, contact Chava Florendo, Admissions Counselor, Southern Oregon University at 541-552-6418.

Last chance to submit your Gates Millennium Scholarship application

Gates Millennium Scholarships are open to all high school seniors, as well as high school and GED graduates who will begin classes Fall 2010. You must be Native American, African American, Asian American or Latino to apply. This scholarship pays for 100 percent of unmet need for college for your bachelor's degree, and some master's degrees. Applications are due Jan. 11, 2010. For more information, or to apply, visit www.gmsp.org/.

American Society of Safety Engineers/ Oregon State University Environment, Safety and Health Ph.D Fellowship

Purpose: The American Society of Safety Engineers (ASSE) is committed to creating a vibrant future for the field of occupational safety and health. Towards that end, ASSE has created a Ph.D fellowship opportunity in conjunction with Oregon State University to fund tuition costs for two Ph.D candidates admitted to OSU's Ph.D in Public Health, concentrating in Environment, Safety and Health.

ASSE wants to ensure that there are enough qualified educators to teach the next generation of occupational safety and health professionals that have been schooled in formal academic research practices and pedagogy.

This fellowship program is also intended to produce a thread of evidence-based research in the economic and financial analysis of environmental, safety and health issues and practices. Doctoral candidates will be required to complete a number of research projects to advance this subfield of safety management research.

Eligibility requirements:

Basic requirements: The ASSE Ph.D fellowship program is only open to applicants who are natural or naturalized citizens of the United States. All candidates must have attended a higher education program in the United States. Proof of citizenship and a copy of the individual's bachelor's and master's degree diploma will be required upon final offer.

Acceptance to Oregon State University: In order to apply for this fellowship, the applicant must initially apply to Oregon State University's Ph.D program in Public Health with a concentration in Environment, Safety and Health. For more information on the Ph.D program application requirements, please see the Ph.D graduate program Web site <http://www.hhs.oregonstate.edu/ph/graduate-programs> where more detailed information about the Ph.D in Public Health as well as fellowship information can be read.

Academic and professional background: Applicants for this Ph.D program may have an academic and professional background in Public Health, Business, Engineering or other allied discipline.

Personal statement and references: In addition to the OSU Ph.D program application materials, the applicant must submit a two-page personal statement describing why they believe environment, safety and health education is important for the nation. In addition, the applicant must produce at least two references who can be contacted by OSU to validate the applicant's intentions to teach and do research.

Terms of appointment: The fellowship recipient must enroll in the Ph.D program at Oregon State University as a full-time student for three years.

Application deadlines and award notification: All applications must be postmarked by March 1, 2010. All applicants will be notified of their status by May 1.

For more information, contact College of Business, Oregon State University, 309 Bexell Hall, Corvallis, Oregon 97331. Phone: 541-737-4330.
