

Political season

Photos by Dean Rhodes

Political hopefuls have started visiting the Grand Ronde Tribal Council as the November general election draws nearer. Above, Kathy Roth, a candidate for Oregon City Commissioner, talks with Tribal Chairwoman Cheryle A. Kennedy and other Tribal Council members on Tuesday, July 20. Roth touted her Native connections, being married to a Standing Rock Sioux member. Below, Cheryl Myers, a candidate for state representative out of Clackamas County, visited and is pictured with Tribal member and Tribal lobbyist Justin Martin. Both candidates visited the Tribe, seeking support in their respective campaigns for public office.

Tribal member Jake McKnight picks up opponent Damaso Periera as the two compete for the catch weight superfight title during the Caged Combat event at Spirit Mountain Casino on Saturday, July 10. McKnight was the winner by unanimous decision.

Tribal members win bouts at casino

Tribal members Jake McKnight and Denny Linton won their bouts at the mixed martial arts event held Saturday, July 10, at Spirit Mountain Casino.

Linton, 19, fought Frankie Mendez in the bantamweight amateur title bout and won at the 1 minute 32 second mark of the first round on a technical submission.

McKnight, 32, who is the Tribe's Forest Patrol Officer, fought Damaso Periera in the catchweight super title fight and won a unanimous decision after three rounds of action. ■
