Members of the Tribe's Natural Resources Division visited Willamette Falls on Friday, July 29, to harvest lamprey that will be distributed to Tribal Elders. Division employees had gone out twice before and had moderate success, but on July 29 they harvested a bunch, said Tribal Biologist Rebecca McCoun. The last harvest day of the season was July 31. Participating in the harvest were, from left, Tribal member and Natural Resources Division Manager Michael Wilson, Tribal Fish and Wildlife Program Manager Kelly Dirksen, Tribal Biological Technician Lindsay Belonga and McCoun (not pictured).
