

Tribal member JC Rogers carries a pumpkin she picked at the Heiser Farms pumpkin patch during the field trip. She eventually decided this pumpkin was too heavy for her to carry and chose a smaller and lighter one.

PUMPKIN TIME!

Students from the Tribe's Education Division took their annual field trip to Heiser Farms in Dayton on Friday, Oct. 14. More than 60 children from grades K-12 took part in the activities, which included learning about the farm, a petting zoo, a hayride, a corn maze and pumpkin picking. After the farm, the group went to Third Street Pizza in McMinnville to eat pizza and watch the movie "Zookeeper" in the restaurant's Moonlight Theater.

Tribal members Makenzie Aaron, left, and Alexandria Thorsgard pet a Suffolk/Hampshire mix sheep at the Heiser Farms petting zoo.

Youth Education children run into each other and cause a traffic jam as they exit one of the slides at Heiser Farms.

Tribal descendant Onahzay Pacheco receives help bagging her pumpkin from Matt Bucknell, Tribal Elementary Lead, before leaving the pumpkin patch at Heiser Farms.

Photos by Michelle Alaimo