

Tribal youth wins poetry contest

Tribal youth Saghaley Lewis, 11, won first place in the 9 to 12 years of age division in a poetry contest held by the Willamette Heritage Center at Mission Mill in Salem.

Lewis' poem was titled "The Playground":

"This was a playground that looked quite cool, But I was such a fool. In the winter, I could taste the cold, wet air;

In the summer, we could pick the flowers and wear them in our hair.

It used to have a very long slide, You would hear the children's laughter as they went for a ride.

It was amazing, it was cool. Now it is middle school."

Saghaley Lewis

Saghaley is the son of Tribal member David Lewis, the Tribe's Cultural Resources Department manager, and his wife, Donna.
