

Tribal member Jon George, right, gifts a necklace to John Mullen, Oregon Parks & Recreation Department park manager for the Tryon Creek/Milo McIver Management Unit, as a thank you for working in partnership with the Tribe for State Parks Day at Milo McIver State Park near Estacada on Saturday, June 2. The park's day-use fee was waived for the day and members of the Tribe who live in the Portland area did craft demonstrations, sang and drummed, and traditional foods, such as salmon and hazelnuts, were sampled.

Tribal encampment

Tribal member Lisa Archuleta sings the thank you song with other members of Place of Our Ancestors, the Tribe's Portland drum group, during State Parks Day at Milo McIver State Park near Estacada.

Place of Our Ancestors, the Tribe's Portland drum group, sing and drum for a crowd.

Tribal member Greg Archuleta prepares salmon to be cooked traditionally and served for visitors.

Tribal Elder Debi Anderson talks about the Canoe Journey with visitors to State Parks Day after they asked about the canoe on display at her table.

Tribal member Jon George demonstrates to visitors of State Parks Day how to start a basket by weaving at Milo McIver State Park near Estacada on Saturday, June 2.

Visit the Tribe's facebook page to see more photos

Photos by Michelle Alaimo