

Jacob Holmes goes up against Portland Thunder offensive lineman Brandon Lockheart as they run offensive drills during a Portland Thunder youth football camp held on the Tribal campus.

Thunder ball

On Tuesday, July 15, the entire Portland Thunder arena football team visited the Tribal campus and led a youth football camp. Spirit Mountain Casino is a sponsor of the team for the 2013-14 season and arranged the camp in an effort to make its sponsorships more about the Tribe and the community. Forty-nine youths participated in the camp, where they ran receiving, catching, running and hitting drills, and were taught throwing techniques.

Gibson Mercier tosses a football to Dominik Briant as they play a game during the Portland Thunder youth football camp held on the Tribal campus. Mercier was named the camp's most valuable player and Briant received the best hands award.

Visit the Tribe's
facebook
 page to see more photos

Portland Thunder defensive lineman Jake McDonough tells Makai Simmons to put his hand up as they run defensive drills during a Portland Thunder youth football camp held on the Tribal campus.

Photos by Michelle Alaimo