Chinuk Wawa Announcement

It is back to school time and there are many chances to learn chinuk wawa. One of those is the evening language classes and they are starting back up. We follow the college schedule so classes will begin the week of September 29th. The classes Monday and Wednesday nights at Chachalu and Wednesday nights at CTGR Portland Office can be taken for college credit. If you would like to take them for college credit please contact Kathy Cole at 503-879-2249 and she will help you register. No classes in your area? Don't fret! The Tribe's Chinuk Wawa iApp will be released to the public following our celebration event on October 9th (see separate ad for information). Additionally we have created a Chinuk Wawa booklet and 2 CD set featuring an introduction to the language as well as stories and songs which is currently for sale at Chachalu.

STORIES OF TRIBAL VETERANS HONORING OUR WARRIORS

LAND & CULTURE DEPARTMENT ORAL HISTORY PROJECT

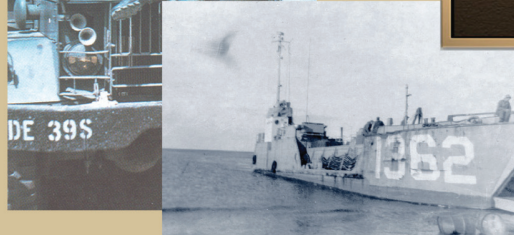

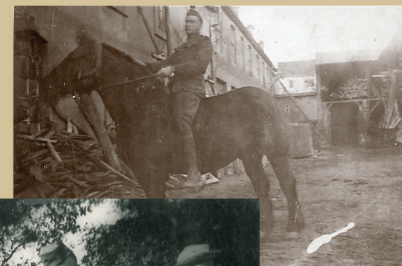

In less than a month we have compiled more than a dozen Veteran's histories. These Veterans and their stories will stand as a memorial for our future generations.

These are our stories and the stories of our fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles and friends; warriors all of them. The staff here at Chachalu have the utmost respect and honor for our Veterans. Everyone at Land and Culture appreciates and thanks these Veterans for sharing their military stories and experiences. As we learn more about their acts of bravery and sacrifice, we will hold our heads high in thanks for their military service.

We have dedicated a room at Chachalu for recording oral histories. It is set up for both audio only and video recordings. Additionally we have mobile audio equipment for those who wish to participate but are unable to travel to Chachalu.

If you would like to participate in the project, or would like additional information, please contact Reina Nelson at 503-879-2313.
