

Neomyah Guzman, front, and Jack Mercier hammer golf tees into pumpkins during Early Childhood Education's Preschool Halloween Party held in the Tribal gymnasium on Friday, Oct. 31.

Ghouls and goblins

Levi Liebelt helps his daughter, Kalea, make a peek-a-boo ghost craft during Early Childhood Education's Preschool Halloween Party held in the Tribal gymnasium on Friday, Oct. 31.

Adahy LaBonte plays the pumpkin toss game during Early Childhood Education's Preschool Halloween Party held in the Tribal gymnasium on Friday, Oct. 31.

Grand Ronde Health & Wellness Center employees line up to be judged during the Employee Halloween Costume Contest on Friday, Oct. 31. They include, from left, Jeff Lorenz, executive director of Health Services; Kayla Leno and Amber Yates, who both work in patient registration; Lillian Engel, senior HIT supervisor/privacy officer; Janelle Laster, Adult Foster Care director/RN; and Kandee Little, pharmacy technician. Lorenz won runner-up for funniest costume, Laster runner-up for most adorable costume and Little runner-up for scariest. Winners were Controller Linda Hanna, scariest; Senior Help Desk Technician Roger Asbahr, most creative; Photographer Michelle Alaimo, funniest; Senior Help Desk Technician Candice Olsen, most adorable; and Cultural Education Specialist Brian Krehbiel, best carved pumpkin.

Visit the Tribe's
facebook
 page to see more photos

Photos by Michelle Alaimo