

Volunteers sought for child welfare projects

PORTLAND — Volunteers are being sought for ongoing child welfare projects that consist of using a checklist tool to ascertain Indian Child Welfare Act compliance in the Multnomah County juvenile court system. The volunteer position includes going to preliminary court hearings and filling out the compliance checklist. This work also could include attending hearings for ongoing active cases.

Volunteers must pass a state Department of Human Services background check, complete a volunteer application and attend a volunteer orientation before starting. Volunteers also must have a valid Oregon driver's license and clean driving record.

The job offers a possible flexible and varied schedule working out of either a northeast Portland or downtown location.

For more information, contact Jordana Leeb at 503-872-5586. ■
