Anderson!!
We love you to the moon and back.

TERO Worker of the Month February 2021

Name: Quin James
Employer: Freyssinet

Position: Laborer - bridge repair

Quin James joined TERO in 2020 and was placed in the Northwest College of Construction's apprenticeship program. This was Quin's first time utilizing the Grand Ronde TERO program.

Since starting with Freyssinet in January, Quin has been very dependable, hardworking and an overall great person to have on the job site. His willingness to learn and pick up new skills has made him a great apprentice and good employee.

Quin says he plans on utilizing the TERO program again and has learned new skills and techniques every day while on the job site.

"TERO helped me get dispatched through the Northwest College of Construction apprenticeship and get a job at a company I enjoy working for," he said. "I've learned a lot of new skills and gained new experiences."

Nice job, Quin!

For more information on the TERO Skills Bank and other TERO opportunities, contact the TERO office or the TERO director.

The Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde Tribal Veterans Service Office and the Veterans Affairs Office of Tribal Government Relations presents

March 25, 2021 at 2 p.m. To register contact the CTGR TVSO (contact information at the bottom of this flyer)

Understanding Complex PTSD: Working with Trauma in Veteran Populations

After traumatic events, many people tend to report prolonged durations of symptoms across their life despite treatment and often repeated similar experiences of victimization. For these individuals, repeated experiences of trauma tend to engrain certain values, beliefs, and behavioral patterns and this experience has been more recently labeled in literature as "Complex PTSD." This presentation will highlight how to better understand, help support, and treat those who have experienced a "lifestyle" of trauma versus a singular event. It will discuss the thematic differences between PTSD and Complex PTSD and ways our treatment protocols can be enhanced to facilitate posttraumatic growth in Veteran populations.

Presented by, Jason C. Steward, Ph.D. Jason is the Acting Chief of Psychology for the Alaska VAHCS. He is also the Acting Director of Training in Psychology, and Supervisory Psychologist in the Mental Health Clinic.

Dr. Steward received his doctorate in Counseling Psychology in 2005 from the University of Minnesota-Twin Cities. He has worked at the Bay Pines, Orlando, and Portland VA since 2009 and his expertise is in psychological assessment and the treatment of trauma survivors within populations of sexual assault, combat, terrorism, maltreatment, and sudden bereavement. Along with his various roles in training, he works clinically within the service providing individual, couple, and family therapy.

And,

Whole Health: A New Model of Healthcare for Veterans.

Whole Health is an exciting new approach to health and well-being. It is based on a strong collaboration between Veteran and provider, and is based on what matters the most in the Veteran's life. This presentation will review the history of the Whole Health model, the basic principles of Whole Health, and how Veterans can start to apply this model in their lives.

Presented by, David Greaves, Ph.D. David is the Clinical Director of Whole Health and the VA Portland Health Care System.

Dr. David Greaves is a clinical psychologist with the VA Portland Health Care System and is the Clinical Director of Whole Health. Prior to him joining the Whole Health Team in 2018, he was the Chief of Psychology and Administrative Director of the Mental Health and Clinical Neurosciences Division at the Portland VA. Dr. Greaves is also an Associate Professor in the Department of Psychiatry at Oregon Health and Science University. He is a native Oregonian and grew up in Salem.
