

A spooktao

Grand Ronde Tribal Librarian Kathy Cole, left, talks with a driver before the start of the Halloween Spooktacular Drive-Thru Parade held at the old Powwow Grounds on Friday, Oct. 29. Besides free candy, there also were prizes for youth in costumes and the top three decorated vehicles. More than 200 children participated. The event was put on by the Tribe's Youth Empowerment and Prevention Department.

Tribal member Abigail Ryan holds her 2-year-old son, Decland, while being driven through the Halloween Spooktacular Drive-Thru Parade by Shawn Bobb at the old Powwow Grounds on Friday, Oct. 29.

Tribal members Tinlle, 8, left, and Lilee Bishop, 5, participated in the Halloween Spooktacular Drive-Thru Parade held at the old Powwow Grounds.

Grand Ronde Royalty Tiny Tot Ulali Quenelle passed out candy during the Halloween Spooktacular Drive-Thru Parade.

Social Services 477 Caseworker Rhonda Leno dressed as the "The Wizard of Oz" during the Halloween Spooktacular Drive-Thru Parade.