Tribe seeking advisory vote input

The Tribe is currently seeking ideas for advisory votes that will appear on the September Tribal Council ballot. The Tribe’s General Council Ordinance establishes the process for advisory votes and an online survey is available to gather advisory vote suggestions. After receiving advisory vote suggestions, Tribal Council will review and evaluate the suggestions for possible inclusion on the ballot. Previous examples of advisory votes have included whether the Tribe should increase its investment in environmental stewardship and should the Tribe build a child care center in Grand Ronde. Tribal members can participate in the online survey via Survey Monkey by visiting www.grandronde.org and clicking on the Government dropdown tab and then clicking on 2022 Advisory Votes. The 2021 Tribal Council ballot included four advisory vote questions. A final input session will be held after the 11 a.m. Sunday, April 3, General Council meeting, which will be a hybrid meeting with limited in-person attendance. For more information, contact Tribal Council Chief of Staff Stacia Hernandez at stacia.martin@grandronde.org. ■

‘We will also start opening the campus to the membership and guests’

of the Omicron surge. Originally, the Health Authority had projected March 31 as the end date for the statewide mask rule. Then, it was moved to March 19. The March 12 date aligns with mask requirements lifting in California and Washington. Spirit Mountain Casino General Manager Bruce Thomas said during a Wednesday, Feb. 23, Facebook Live event that he was authorized by the Grand Ronde Gaming Commission to follow state rules regarding mask wearing within the facility. “As we begin to ease the restrictions,” Fullerton added, “we will also start opening the campus to the membership and guests. Department managers are currently developing protocols for their specific area to minimize exposure and ensure safety for everyone. Updates for individual building protocols will be updated on social media and I encourage everyone to call before visiting.” Fullerton was given the responsibility of overseeing the Tribe’s response to the pandemic and use Tribal resources to respond and recover from its effects in March 2020 when Tribal Council approved the Tribe’s first-ever State of Emergency declaration, which is still in effect. “While we are hopeful that additional COVID-19 restrictions will also be lifted, we are continuing to monitor the situation here and across the state,” Fullerton added. “As the situation changes, additional decisions will be made.” ■
