The Truth About Fentanyl

This handout contains information everyone should know about fentanyl.

The facts

- Fentanyl is a powerful opioid, 50–100 times more potent than heroin
- Fentanyl gets added into many drugs, including "normal looking" pills
- A pill containing fentanyl can look exactly like a pill without fentanyl
- Two pills with different amounts of fentanyl can look exactly the same
- Many people don't realize they are taking fentanyl
- Fentanyl is causing a dramatic increase in overdoses
- Anyone who uses drugs can overdose, even if it's their first time or if they have been using for a long time

Naloxone

Naloxone (Narcan or Kloxxado) can reverse a fentanyl overdose. Fentanyl is a strong opioid, so you may need multiple (3, 4, or more) doses of naloxone. The biggest risk in giving someone too much naloxone is a more intense withdrawal.

Help people who are overdosing

If you have gloves and a mask, wear them for extra safety. You've got to breathe in a VERY LARGE amount of fentanyl over a REALLY LONG time to even begin to feel its effects - like dust-storm levels in a closed room for over 3 hours.

If you get fentanyl powder on you

Dry fentanyl powder is not absorbed by skin. Your skin will only absorb fentanyl powder if it's mixed with a liquid.

- While dry, brush off as much as you can
- Don't touch your mouth or eyes where fentanyl can be easily absorbed
- Flush with water (to dilute the fentanyl)
- Wash your clothes

What can I do?

- Share the facts without judgment
- Learn how to use naloxone and always keep it with you
- Help people who are overdosing
- Encourage the people in your life who use drugs not to use alone, always have naloxone, and accept treatment when they are ready
- Make sure your tribe/clinic offers fentanyl testing strips

Fentanyl test strips

Test strips can't detect all versions of fentanyl. But they can reveal the most common versions in a drug. This can save lives.

Healing medications

Medications that treat opioid use disorder—like "bup" (buprenorphine) and methadone—work for people who take fentanyl. Ask a substance use treatment provider for more information.

There is hope

We can heal our communities by educating ourselves, supporting each other, and accepting help when we need it.
