Tribal member Fabian Quenelle attempts to distract the guesser on the opposing team while playing a game of itukuʻa during Community Stick Game Night at Chachalu Tribal Museum & Cultural Center on Wednesday, April 26. On the left in the background, Tribal Elder Arlettia Krehbiel hides the bones waiting to be picked. Quenelle taught the game to about 50 people in attendance and hopes to hold more game nights and bring the game back to the community.

INTRODUCTION TO GRADE READING

SAT., JUNE 3, 2023, 8 A.M - 5 P.M.

WHAT IS GRADE SHOOTING?

Shooting grade is the process of testing the elevation of a construction project in order to level or slope it. Shooting grade properly is critical to every facet of construction including excavation, pipe laying, and forming footers and foundations.

Free training and lunch will be provided.

- Understanding grade reading.
- Why shooting grade is important.
- What tools you will use to shoot grade.

This will be a one-day introductory course open to all Tribal members or Tribal descendants 16 years and older.
