Some very good coal, for burning purposes, has been delivered at this place recently. It came from Riverton, burns well, and is comparatively free from cinder, the ashes being very much like wood ashes.

Company K voted aid to private J. H. Welch, to help pay his expenses while he was laid up with a broken arm. It was an act not only in keeping with governmental military affairs, but, of true humanity.

Do not forget your obligation to Thrift & Langlois, but go and settle with them before they are obliged to asked you to. Don't say my account is so small they can wait awhile longer. If they should say the same, how would their goods be paid for.

Fire got into the timber, last week, near where Mr. Chenoweth and son had been getting out timber for the Floras creek bridge, and made them rustle for a couple of days to save their work. By using all the teams they could get in the neighborhood, they managed to do so.

IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

BY LE GARCON.

What might have been? Hast thou then thrown away
The gem experience, that monitor
That taught thee truisms from day to day?
Ah well, 'tis so with man; a constant war
Of mind against the inevitable.
Bright visions of the future, then the scene
Will change—a retrospect unprofitable,
Ending with that sad sigh, it might have been.

Man is the child of circumstances; prone
To indulge in phantasies of brain.
Anon his castles in the air have flown,
And left him nothing but a conscious pain;
Placed in whate'er position, still he drinks
The bitter drops of disappointment keen;
His darling project launched, behold it sinks—
No solace left, but that—it might have been.

The weary wanderer thro' this world of woe,
Bereft of all that makes existence dear,
No loving heart to cherish, doomed to go
Alone! Alas, it makes life's journey drear.
But still, the true, the calm, reflective mind,
From out the desert will pluck something green;
Beset with thorns, mayhap a flower 'twill find,
And pay no heed to that which might have been.

DAIRYVILLE ITEMS.

Miss Flora Given, of Empire City, visited friends here last week.

Mrs. Dixon and family, who have been visiting Mrs. Thrift the past few days, returned to her home at Myrtle Point last Monday.

C. E. and T. O. Langlois returned from Roseburg last Thursday, where they had been on land business.

The high tides the last few days have caused Sow Lake to raise about three feet.

Messrs. Chenoweth are busily engaged in building the Floras creek bridge.

The ball given at this place last Saturday night was a success in every particular; dancing was commenced at seven in the evening and lasted until five in the morning. Misses Zumwalt and Sabin furnished the music. The supper at the hotel was all that could be asked for, "except eggs for breakfast, Mr. Doc!"

Miss Stella Smith and W. D. Shoemaker returned from Roseburg, Tuesday evening, where they had been to make proof on their final claims.

There was quite a large delegation from Port Orford attended the dance here, Saturday night.

The latest joke of the season is, that Mr. Bence can't know his horse from Mr. Rosa's, but found out the difference before he arrived at Woodville.

NESTICHEED.

THE NEW OCEAN STEAMER.

We are much pleased to be able to furnish the information that the long talked of and much needed ocean steamer to ply between this port and San Francisco is practically assured. Bandon's ship yard, which, since its establishment, has been almost steadily occupied, will within three weeks present again a scene of activity, and the hum of industry will gladden the ear of the progressive citizen. Capt. Harkin, who has designed and probably will control the new craft, was here this week and effected arrangements for the construction with our famous builder, Capt. Hans Reed. Captain Reed has the model completed and will at once proceed with work on the patterns and when these are ready, will put a small crew at the frames, etc. The near approach of the rainy season will necessitate a shed covering, and will probably delay the vessel's completion to some extent the purpose being to launch her about the first of May next.

The steamer will be 150 feet in length, 33 feet beam, and 10 feet depth of hold. This, it is estimated, will give her a coal carrying capacity of 400 tons on a water draft of 9 feet. The Fulton Iron works will furnish the machinery, which is of latest design and great power, the company guaranteeing 12 knots. She will carry compressed engines (12x24x20) with 20 inch stroke and operate independently two 7½ foot propellers. Passenger accommodation will be first class for 30 in the cabin and 10 in the steerage.

It is the desire of the originators that at least half of the stock be taken on the river, so that continuance in this trade be assured, but San Francisco capital will build her, should our people decline to invest in the enterprise. The estimated cost of the vessel is $40,000.

The Oregon State Secular will meet in Second Annual Conference at Portland, on the 11, 12 and 13th inst. A large array of Nation speakers will be in attendance and a notable gathering is expected.

"HERE'S TO THE WOMEN, GOD BLESS THEM."

Should women wear the breeches,
Faith I never will object
If Creation's Lords can't fill them,
They then must them eject
And put them on their dainty legs,
Also, the boots and spurs,
And instead of being called Madam,
We then must call them Sirs.

CHORUS.

Then here's to the women, God bless them,
The idols, the charmers we prize:
We'll cherish, obey and caress them
And their bunting will raise to the skies.

We'll send them to the capitol,
To frame us better laws
And drive from Halls of Congress,
That flock of noisy daws.
We'll make them, too, embassadors,
In place of blundering fools
The sycophants at foreign courts,
Their panderers and their tools.

CHORUS.

We, too, will make them judges,
To judge 'twixt man and man,
And render well a verdict,
Regardless of a clan.
To punish the wrong-doer,
And never take a bribe
To screen a guilty person
Of any sect or tribe.

CHORUS.

We'll also make them Lawyers,
The law to well expound,
And show in Courts of Justice,
Far better sense, I'm bound,
Than a host of pettifoggers,
Brim full of dire abuse,
Who spout not law, but nonsense,
And squirt tobacco juice.

CHORUS.

And on the roll of Doctors,
In place of ignorant quacks
Who vend their poisons daily,
All o'er the States in packs.
Though very few can write their name,
Their pockets always flush
With pamphlets, pills, and nostrums
'Twould make a Galen blush.

CHORUS.

Tho' last not least as preachers,
Vice Romos in the church,
Who dearly love the Yellow Legs
And than the farmer's perch.
With such angels then to lead us,
Our roosters will not stray,
And our pullets will be pullets still,
Aged ne'er so apt to lay.

CHORUS.

Old Adam called you woman,
Before he had been cursed,
But now the sons of Adam
Have quite the thing reversed:
They've shed for you the breeches,
Likewise, the whip and spurs,
And had behind your petticoats,
And changed Madame to Sirs.

CHORUS.

A woman rules with matchless skill—
The greatest power on earth;
Her sway extends from zone to zone,
'Tis freedom's place of birth.
If Britain's daughter thus can rule,
And lead this wide world's van,
Why not Columbia's fair ones too,
As Queen American.

CHORUS.

If any one hath fault to find,
With ought I here have said,
Just let him watch those hosts of men,
By foolish isms led,
And see corruption far and near,
A-stalking through our land;
Then he will say, a woman sure,
Ought try her little hand.
Then here's to the women, etc.

GEORGE BENNETT.
V. O. Signal Service U. S.

A gentleman who was present at the parade of Company K. O. N. G., and who is conversant with military parading and drilling, says he was agreeably surprised at the excellent time kept and the precision and exactitude with which the various maneuvers of the manual and platoon gun drill, marching past, etc., were executed, and that they reflect great credit, not only on the intelligence of the rank and file,—particularly when we bear in mind that they have only one day's drill in the month—but, also, on the manifest care and attention bestowed by Capt. Blumenrother and the other officers, in the instruction of those whose efficiency in the execution of the various details required of them, would almost entitle them to compete with the veteran batallions of the imperial William, or those of her most gracious majesty, Queen Victoria.

MARINE NOTES.

Arrived.

Oct. 1.—Schr. S. Danielsen, Olsen, 14 days from San Francisco to J. A. Lyons.

Sailed.

Oct. 1.—Schr. Coquelle, Schroeder, San Francisco.

The Schr. Del Norte has been barbound for several days and the Eureka is ready for sea.

In getting out of the Ocean House hack, yesterday morning, Miss Rena Averill's clothes caught on the hack, throwing her to the ground; one arm was dislocated and other slight injuries received. The arm was immediately put in place and no serious results are anticipated.

CORN AND DAIRY.

Mr. J. A. Cox, of Floras creek brought up a stock of corn, last Sunday, grown from seed of the white dent variety, that measured 12 feet in length, containing two partially developed ears of corn; the seed was planted the latter part of May. Now we do not wish to pose as a corn producing country, for corn does not ripen well in this climate, as it requires much hotter weather, than we either possess or desire, to bring it to maturity; but it shows the wonderful productiveness of our fertile valleys, and brings corroborative evidence of the value of planting a few acres of corn yearly to be cut off and fed to the dairy cows when the feed begins to fail in the latter part of the dairy season. We know a number of dairymen who have made a practice of preparing such feed for their milch cows year after year, and as they are thrifty, well to do dairymen, it must be a source of profit or they would abandon the process. We heard a gentleman, who feeds his cows from a field of corn raised for that purpose, make the remark, recently, that he did not use coloring for his butter as he was feeding his cows green corn; so, besides increasing the amount of the product, it supplies other elements necessary, even to the natural process of coloring the butter.

A MIDNIGHT SERENADE.

A correspondent of ours writes to say, that toward the close of last week, and about midnight, he heard some rustling outside his bedroom window, and peeping out from behind the curtains, recognized two of our most intelligent and accomplished bachelor Bandonians. Scarcely had he done so when they began to sing. The burden of their song was, the lustrous eyes, the pouting lips, the glowing charms, the slender waist and the graceful figure of gentle Rosa, and her fair sister Clara. The fact is, our gay gallants mistook the room occupied by those ladies, who with other friends were on a visit with some old acquaintances, who lives but a short way from town, for the one occupied by as big and heavy a specimen of the genus homo as is to be found in the entire County, and, whose "graceful figure" may be estimated by the fact that his "slender waist" is more in circumference than his shoulders, even broad as they are. Meeting with no response from the burly individual within He says he had enough to do to prevent himself from exploding with laughter, at the terrible sell—they dematerialized. Rosa and Clara did hear the serenade, infact, the whole household did. "Well, if they wanted to propose," said they, "why did'nt they come and do so at midday instead of midnight, and let us take a good geometrical survey of them before we'd engage ourselves for life." And they were right.

DAIRYVILLE BALL.

The dance, at Dairyville, last Saturday night was about as pleasant an affair as any we have ever visited. Dancing commenced early and was vigorously maintained until midnight when all repaired to Grap Nelson's hotel and partook of a delicious supper, after which they returned to the hall to continue the dance. The crowd was not an excessive one, but large enough to fill the hall comfortably, and the proceeds more than covered the expence of music, etc. Excellent music was furnished by Charles Zumwalt and A. B. Sabin. One peculiar feature of the entertainment was the executing of the grand march near the hour of daylight Sunday morning. We expected the dance to close at the finish of the march, but not so, the dancers seemed to gather new life as the hours sped by and set after set filled the floor in rapid succession until the artificial lights were dimmed by the fast approaching rays of the rising sun, when the last set was formed and executed with more vim than any of its predecessors.

AT LAST!

The long expected illustrated History of Utah by the eminent historian, Hubert H. Bancroft, has at last appeared. It is absolutely a revelation. After visiting the field in person, taking testimony impartially from all sides, critically reviewing the enormous number of 1900 different authorities, and searching many of the secret archives of the Mormon Church, Mr. Bancroft now gives to the world this wonderful and remarkable work, the only true history of Mormonism published.

The work reads like a romance—the wonderful adventures of trappers and travellers, the bloody Indian wars, the thrilling accounts of massacres and miraculous escapes, the famous Danite Association or Destroying Angels, the story of Brigham Young—all this fresh from the pen of the brilliant and gifted author forms a narrative of exciting interest, as fascinating as a novel yet true to the letter. Above all in surpassing interest is the unfolding of the great Mormon Question and the mysteries of Polygamy which will be read with eager interest by all classes of people throughout the English speaking words. The work is published in one large handsome volume of over 800 pages, bound in red and gold, and grandly illustrated with steel-plate portraits of the great Mormon leaders, exquisite half tone engraving and dazzling colored plates. It is issued by the great Publishing House of the Pacific Coast, The History Company of San Francisco, and can only be procured through their authorized agents. We call attention to the advertisement in another column, under the heading of $25.00 reward.
