Ed. Rackleff, the present county clerk, has conducted the affairs of that office in such an able and economical manner that the voters of Coos county will hardly desire to make a change in such an efficient servant.

William Ewart Gladstone, England's grand old man, died last Thursday week. Many tributes will be given to the great and honored man, and of him it can be truly said that he was one of the greatest men of the age. Had Gladstone lived until next December he would have reached the ripe old age of 90 years.

Voters of Coos county should remember that a vote cast for Geo. M. Brown for district attorney is one cast for a man who has already been tried in the position. That the affairs of the office were conducted under his administration in a manner above criticism or reproach is a well-known fact. This being the case the best policy is always to keep the right man in the right place.

Hon. S. T. Jeffereys of Portland, who is stumping this section of the state in the interest of the fusion ticket, spoke at this place last Saturday evening. His speech was the usual display of calamity and was also devoted pretty much to an arraignment of the Republican party and its candidates. Mr. Jeffereys is a concise speaker, but was rather methodical, conveying the impression to his hearers that he was being paid for what he was doing.

One week from next Monday is election day. A great deal of interest is manifested in all parts of the United States over the result of the balloting on that day. There can be no disguising the fact that the real cause of the interest is whether Oregon will take her stand among the free silver states and rank as such in the future or whether she will still remain classed with the gold standard states. It is conceded that the action of the Republican administration in the matter of settling with Spain our present difficulties will have a great deal to do with turning the tide in favor of that party in this state.

It is a great leap from the old fashioned doses of blue-mass and nauseous physics to the pleasant little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They cure constipation, sick headaches and biliousness. C. Y. Lowe.

For Judge.

Hon. A. C. Woodcock, republican candidate for circuit judge of the second judicial district, is a man whom republicans are proud to defend, whom democrats fear to oppose and whom populists cannot conscientiously oppose. The pride of the republicans, because any party is proud of its most able and manly members; the fear of democracy because he has always been one of Oregon's most fearless fighters against the principles which he, by birth and study, conscientiously believed to be wrong in theory and dangerous in practice; and the proper man for the populists to indorse, because he stood out as a member of the state board of equalization against unjust and discriminating assessments, and as a true representative of numerous clients has brought down the emity of a corporation, which, it seems, is now fighting him.

If Mr. Woodcock should be opposed by the Southern Pacific company on account of his conscientiously representing his clients against the company, it would make 500 votes for him where it would lose five.

Mr. Woodcock has a judicial mind, calm and dispassionate, firm as Gibraltar, and as just and trustworthy a man as can be found. And he is consistent.—Engene Register.

LATE WAR NEWS.

Washington, May 25.—President McKinley made another call today for 75,000 men.

Madrid, May 23.—According to current report here the Spanish reserve fleet will maneuver in Cadiz waters until its destination is decided upon.

Paris, May 23.—According to a dispatch received today from Rome, Italy, has protested against the blockade of Cuba, claiming it is ineffective.

Washington, May 23.—At the state department an emphatic denial was made that Italy or any other nation had made a protest against the Cuban blockade.

Madrid, May 23.—From a discussion in the Spanish senate today it appears that Spain seriously contemplates having recourse to privateering in the near future.

Washington, May 23.—Mustering figures received at the war department show that up to this time 106,000 volunteers have taken the oath of allegiance to support the United States government.

Washington, May 23.—Naval experts believe Admiral Cervera's squadron is rapidly exhausting its coal supply, and that as many ports are now closed against it it will not be able to long elude our fleets unless it gets coal at sea from colliers.

The Hague, May 23.—The governor of Curacao, Dutch West Indies, sent a dispatch to the foreign office here saying that only two Spanish ships were admitted into the harbor in spite of the request of the Spanish admiral and were only allowed coal enough to take them to the nearest harbor.

Washington, May 23.—Two representatives in congress, Robbins (Penn) and Bronsard (La.), were given authority to go to the front in the Cuban invasion. Robbins served 10 years in the militia and when four regiments of his old brigade were ordered to move forward for the invasion of Cuba he determined to go with them.

San Francisco, May 24.—Four companies of the Fourteenth United States infantry, "regular", a full regiment of Oregon volunteers, and a picked battalion of the Fifth California heavy artillery left the Presidio this morning and boarded the transports City of Sydney and Australia, preparatory to starting for Manila.

New York, May 24.—A dispatch from Manila says the German consul there tried to land provisions from a German ship, but Dewey refused permission. The consul then declared, according to the dispatch, that he would force a landing under the protection of two German cruisers, but Dewey threatened to fire upon the cruisers, and the attempt to land supplies was abandoned.

The Sugar Beet Industry.

The following is a copy of a letter sent a few days since to a gentleman in one of the eastern states, largely interested in the manufacture of beet-root sugar:

Dear Sir—You may want to open a sugar beet manufactory for sugar in other places as well as Nebraska, particularly where a much better article, and far more abundant crops can be produced. The town of Bandon, although a young town, is going ahead rapidly. It is at the mouth of the Coquille river, and only about one-fourth of a mile from the Pacific Ocean, and between it and the ocean a breakwater is being constructed by the government, and which would be completed this year only for the breaking out of the war. The Coquille river is navigable for about thirty miles inland for steamers and sailing vessels, and on its banks are rising towns, including Coquille City, our county seat. Our climate, according to the United States weather bureau, is the most equitable in the whole of the United States. There are only eleven degrees in whole numbers between the mean temperature of the three summer months and the three winter months, and our annual rainfall averages about 61 inches annually. I give you the following extract from the Marshfield Sun of December 14, 1896: "It has been demonstrated that beets grown on Coos river, as well as those grown on the Coquille were sent to the factory in California and the reports show that they produced ten per cent more sugar than the beet-root results obtained in any other part of the United States, but the quality is not the only advantage which we have in the matter, for the quantity which can be produced per acre is not less than three times that which is produced in the most favored localities in Nebraska and other states where they are making a success of the sugar beet industry." In the places in our county which are best suited for sugar beet production such as Bandon and the Coquille river banks, the farmers owing to the immense production could afford to sell their beets at one third less price than the Nebraska farmer gets and still get twice the profit realized by the Nebraska man.

Bandon Recorder, December 25, 1896: "We want a beet-root sugar manufactory at Bandon. Some time since beet seeds were obtained from Washington and the California beet root sugar factory and planted at Coos bay, as well as on our own coast and river and lands adjoining, and when matured they were sent to the California beet sugar factory and the report from the officials and managers state that they produced more sugar by ten per cent than any other similar amount of beets in the whole of the United States, and that the quantity produced here per acre was two hundred per cent more than any where else." It was also stated that owing to our mild and equitable climate our beets could be kept a great length of time without decaying, whilst elsewhere the season for beet root sugar making is very limited. If we had a factory here, all the beets grown up the river could be brought down by water and from the bay by rail and manufactured into sugar, and as our town is at the mouth of the navigable river, and adjoins the ocean, the products could be shipped without any unnecessary delay up and down the coast and inland wherever required.

We may add that the more equitable the climate, and the nearer the ocean the greater is the crop and the more abundant is the amount of saccharine matter, that is, pure sugar which it will produce.

He says that there has not been a day since that time that he has not had this remedy in his household. He speaks of it in the highest praise and takes much pleasure in recommending it whenever an opportunity is offered. For sale by C. Y. Lowe, druggist.
