EDITORIAL.

Already the early nominators of presidential candidates have Mark Hanna's name up as the Republican possibility of 1904. Hanna has served his co workers faithfully in the past and if he can raise campaign funds and fight for his own election with the ability he displayed in the last two campaigns, he may yet occupy the president's coveted chair.

Myrtle Point Enterprise: Dr. K. A. Leep and N. G. W. Perkins had a novel experience while attempting to cross Reed's ford in a buggy, Sunday. They were enroute to the South Fork country to shoot pigeons and were heavily loaded with guns, "ballast," etc., which together with their own weights, made the buggy pull heavily through the quicksand in the river. In fact the strain was too heavy and the singletree was broken, leaving the two in the middle of the river with no apparant means of escaping a good ducking. Finally Perkins hit on a scheme. He tied the horse's tail to the buggy and Dr. Leep took the lines and guided the horse safely to the other side of the river. Doc says he dosen't believe in immersion but will attend Sunday school hereafter instead of going hunting. Perkins says he is all right aslong as he can get a tail hold.

Something seems to be going wrong in the way of the new city that has been springing into existence, half way between Port Orford and Wedderburn, Curry county, as the following from the Port Orford Tribune, of last week, indicates: "Corbin City stock has gone down away below zero in this market during the last few days, owing to the fact that the people have been learning much regarding the real purposes for which the company was organized, and the further fact that the employes and other creditors have been waiting in vain for many days the arrival of the long overdue checks, which have entirely failed. Creditors have been very active during the last couple of days and Justice Zumwalt's Court is over crowded with work." LATER. "The little flurry among the creditors of the Corbin City mill, last week, owing to the failure of the expected checks to show up, has been settled to the satisfaction of all concerned, and everything is moving along serenely again. The company, it appears, were not at fault. The checks were to arrive by steamer, per W. F. & Co's express, and they did arrive on time, but the agent, by some means over looked them, and their non-arrival was promptly reported. The package was discovered on Monday, and everybody made happy."

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!

The Result of the Clip From F. M. Langlois' Thorough Bred Sheep.

F. M. Langlois clipped his flock of thoroughbred Cotswold sheep on the 25 of May and the result was as follows:

There were 482 pounds of wool from 32 sheep, making an average of 15⅛ pounds per fleece. From the buck was taken 21¼ lbs of wool, being eleven months fleece; from one yearling, 18 lbs sample sent you, 21 inches in length; from another yearling 20¼ lbs of wool, sample sent you, 1½ inches in length; both of these yearlings are raising lambs. Had 11 sheared before the rain the average would have been about two pounds more per fleece, the rain having washed the oil from the wool. The wool was weighed as taken from the sheep, in presence of Fred Hoffsess, George Chenowoth, J. A. Counts, Z. Boice and others.

Landis Not Captured.

The murderer Landis is still at large, and it begins to look like he will make good his escape.

All the reports of his having been seen at different places, going Southward have been run down, and have proven but reports.

Nothing definite seems to be known of his movements since he got away.

The murdered man was named Jesse B. Eadsly, and a man named Fatley, from Portland, and another named Thompson, from Minnesota, who were known to have been in Landis' company have disappeared and are supposed to have been murdered also.

Public Ownership.

The United States and Great Britain are the only two first-class nations that do not own and operate some of their railways. In comparison with private ownership, government control is proved to have been a great success in every case. There is reduction in freight rates and passenger fares and the entire abolition of the dangerous deferential system, abolition of strikes, an improvement in the postoffice and an improved condition of the over worked and underpaid railway worker, who, when disabled or worn out by long service, is pensioned by the government. In New Zealand, where the railways are not only owned by the state, but nearly all built by the state, the wages of the employes average 30 per cent higher than those paid on the railways of the United States. You can ride 30 miles there for 10 cents. The annual profits of the railroads, postal telegraph, telephone and express are sufficient to pay all the federal taxes. Notwithstanding the great extent of the country and its sparse population, first class service is rendered the people. It has been figured that under government ownership we could travel from Boston to San Francisco for $1, the government still earning a good profit.—New York Tribune.

A week ago to-day the special train carrying President McKinley and party arrived in Washington. Mrs. McKinley was reported to be worn and pale but in no immediate danger. The illness with which she suffered in San Francisco still continued but in a less degree. Report of her condition on Saturday stated that she was still improving and that President McKinley appeared to be encouraged in hope of her recovery.

Telegram: A decision of the California Supreme Court, recently rendered, holds that the denial to a political party which cast less than 3 per cent of the vote at the next preceding election, of the right to the privileges and protection accorded to other political parties by a primary election law, thereby prohibiting the members of such party from holding a nominating convention, is a deprivation of the right of franchise and a violation of certain other Constitutional rights of equality. It is on this ground that Mr. F. McKercher, a leading Prohibitionist, appears as a complainant in a suit recently filed here to test the so called primary election laws passed by the last Legislature.

A mob of 500 to 600 soldiers from the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Volunteer Infantry demolished a saloon just outside the Presido at San Francisco, last Friday night. The soldiers of the Forty-fifth had been discharged and paid off, after which, they had been drinking freely and one of their number had been found in front of the saloon, in an unconscious condition and the doctor pronounced it a case where drugs had been administered. A number of soldiers then went to the saloon and demanded reparation, but any knowledge of the affair was denied. They then went back and spread the report that two of their companions had been killed in the saloon, and then being reinforced to the number stated, the work of destruction began. The damage done amounted to about $2000. In the destruction of the place fire ignited and all the efforts to quell the mob by the Cavalry and Guard were futile until the fire hose was turned on.

A Testimonial.

Myrtle Point, Or., Oct. 16, 1900.

I wish to say to the public that the fingers of my hand which had been stiff from rheumatism for three years were cured in 15 minutes by an application of R. O. Kirkpatrick's celebrated Rheumatic Remedy, and that a few applications of the same relieved a stiff knee of long standing.

J. W. SEARS.

Comparing Notes.

"Why can't woman be natural?" growled Bumpley, according to the Detroit Free Press. "They make me think of a lot of bluejays with their clatter and their pluming and their efforts to improve on nature. They can think of more crazy plans and develop more unmitigated nonsense than so many inspired imps. Look at your hair Mrs. Bumpley, plaited and twisted and fluted and banged till it looks no more like what it does in its normal state than a junk pile looks like any of its original elements. And those sleeves and those three story heels and that stiff-necked collar. Honestly, if men compelled you to rig up in that barbarous fashion you'd inveigh against them as brutal savages."

"Oh I don't know," said Mrs. Bumpley, who is very matter of fact, contemplate your own hair. Looks as though it were laundered down on top and molded over puff combs on the side. The shoulders of your coat are built up as though you were trying to palm yourself off for a prizefighter and the way that your mustache is twisted up at the ends makes me think of a French dancing master on a reception night."

Then Bumpley grew very distant in his manner, arranged to go downtown at once, told his wife not to sit up for him and said that if she had one fault above another it lay in her irrepressible disposition to grow personal whenever she entered into debate.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

From the Coquille City Bulletin.

The train has been very busy the past week hauling ballast for the track below town and the new side track at the depot.

W. W. Gage, the logger at Beaver Hill, was in town Sunday. He informed us that he will soon be handling logs at a lively rate.

A spur is being laid from the railroad into Lyons' mill, at this place, which will enable them to run cars into the mill to be loaded. It is intended to ship a good deal of lumber, in the future, via the railroad. This is a good move on the part of this enterprising firm, as it will enable them to dispose of their output much easier, as depending on the small schooners for carrying their lumber is not very satisfactory, because they are hard to get.

Smith River Items in Del Norte Record: Isam Walker passed through this place last Saturday with a band of 700 head of cattle and will pick up about 300 head more along the route. They were nearly all two and three year old steers.
