Trimon who will use them to build coal bunkers, at Lamney creek. Mr. Munday will float them up the river on the tide the first favorable opportunity which offers. One of the pleasant features of the Citizens' ball, on the night of July 4th, was the excellent music service rendered by the McCulloch Kime Orchestra. The members of this orchestra have worked arduously to succeed and deserve success. Capt. E. S. Edwards and George F. Fuller, of Portland, inspectors of hulls and boilers, were in town last night, the duties of their offices having called them to this part of the state. They are accompanied by H. G. A Narrow Escape. The Port Orford Tribune of last week says: "Last Saturday, while M. Doyle and wife, of Wedderburn, were enroute to Port Orford to attend the funeral of Mr. Hughes, and while traveling along the road between the present residence of John Fromm and his old home they came to a point where a tree had been burned down and just fallen across the road, and another tree was burning near by. Mr. Doyle got out of his wagon to see if there was any way to get around the tree, but finding none he called to his wife to come and see what she thought of the situation. Mrs. Doyle alighted from the wagon and had gone forward when the tree which was burning commenced to fall. The horses, on hearing the tree cracking, started forward just in time to save themselves, the tree falling across the front part of the vehicle. While it was a serious mishap to the wagon, it was a very fortunate escape for Mr. and Mrs. Doyle. Mrs. Doyle came through on the stage and Mr. Doyle brought the horses up. H. S. Steuler and wife, of Portland, were in town on Wednesday. A thing of beauty is an aluminum teakettle. Enquire of Legerwood & Corson. W. D. Squires and wife, of San Francisco, registered at the Tupper House, yesterday. Harry Nasburg, H. C. Wright and Billy Smith, of Marshfield, were in Bandon yesterday. J. C. Yale, the veteran commerce drummer, is doing business with Bandon merchants to-day. The baseball game at Coquille City, July 4th, was an easy victory for the Coquille team. The score was 26 to 6. Peter Nelson has stepped to the front again with another convenience in his back-sitch shop. He has put in another water wheel which blows his forge fire and saves the labor of working the bellows. Elbert Dyer had a force of men at work tearing up and transporting the boiler, engines and other machinery and fixtures of the McCann sawmill to town during the past week. The mill will be set up again a few miles back from Bullard's ferry. The steamer Mandalay had the misfortune to break her propellers this trip, and in consequence had to go on the beach for repairs. All the blades were broken off one propeller, and one blade from the other. She will hardly get to sea before to-morrow evening. Port Orford Tribune: E. B. Burns' gasoline boat Copper Queen arrived safely in the city, and will have her gasoline engine replaced by steam. Mr. Burns took down on the Queen, 15 tons of quartz, from his upper Rogue River mine, which assayed $50 to the ton, gold, a result highly satisfactory to the owner, and it is said development work will be pushed as rapidly as possible. Charles D. Felton was a home-bound passenger on the steamer Mandalay and arrived Monday evening, having been absent 4 1/2 years, which time he spent in Uncle Sam's service, most of the time being spent aboard the battle ship Oregon, which did service in the West Indies, also in the Philippines and on the Chinese coast. Charles says that his experience has been worth a good deal but that he has enough and if there is another war he had rather be where he could read the bulletins than to take an active part. The league baseball contest last Sunday, Marshfield, in which the Coquille and Marshfield teams contested, was won by the Marshfield team by a score of 14 to 12. This practically ends the league contest and gives Marshfield the victory, as there are but two more games to be played, in which the Marshfield and Coquille teams each contest with the Myrtle Point team, and it is almost a foregone conclusion that the Marshfield and Coquille teams will each win one of these games. In the game last Sunday it is estimated that over one thousand dollars changed hands.

Drain Normal School. The benefits of a good school cannot be estimated in any community and we are pleased to note the growth of interest in the State Normal at Drain, due to its efficiency. The past year has been a profitable one to the school. The new catalogue is ready for distribution and ought to be read by every young person contemplating going to school. It may be had at the expense of a postal card, addressed to the President at Drain, Oregon. To meet the demands upon the school for teachers a "teachers review class" will be organized at the opening of the fall term. The school has been strengthened in all of its departments. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best. Fourth of July at Bandon. The national milestone has again rolled by on the swift pinions of time and the 125th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence has sped by toward the ancient days, leaving memory to cling round its associations, in most instances, like a pleasant dream. Bandon bade fair for a pleasant time and it was forth coming. The sun rose brightly in a cloudless sky, and the Northwest breezes rippled only in sufficient strength necessary to check what would otherwise have been a hot day, so that this section was blessed with a model day on which to celebrate. The procession formed on First Street shortly after the concert by the Fire Department Band, and at the command of the Marshal of the Day, proceeded to the picnic grounds in West Bandon, where arrangements had been made to have the exercises and amusements. The committees had done their work well and the decorations in town, coupled with the display of the procession, made a fine appearance. On arriving at the grounds the concourse of people assembled round the speaker's stand, and after a selection rendered by the band, Miss Jennie Denholm read the Declaration of Independence, which was followed by a selection by the band, after which Hon. S. H. Hazard, orator of the day, was introduced. Mr. Hazard gave an excellent address, which was well received, and which concluded the literary exercises. Dinner time being at hand some repaired to the hotel, others to their homes for dinner, while most of the crowd took their dinners upon the grounds, having gone there provided for the occasion. Bread, steamed clams and crabs were provided plentifully for those who desired them, and was dealt out to all who applied. After dinner the usual races were run and won as follows, the first prize in each case being $2 and the second prize $1. In the race for boys under 12 years of age, Walter Tucker won first, and Ray McNair second prize. The second race for girls under 14 years, Winnie McNair and Helen Logan were the winners, the former getting first prize. The third was a race for young men in which Warren Littlefield took first prize and Charles Swift got the second. The fourth race was for young ladies and first prize was taken by Bell Elmgren, while Olive Langlois got the second. Next came the sack race in which Earnie Lee and Billie Hohn carried off the prizes respectively, although there were much larger boys in the race. The amusing feature of this race was to watch Earnie Lee lead the rest while he kept a continual watch to see if the other racers were coming. The old men's race was won by E. J. Davidson who took first prize and J. C. Morris who won second money. Pick-a-pack race, in which one boy carried another through from the start to the first goal, and was in turn carried back by the other, was won by Carl Garout and Dale Barrows who got first prize, and James and Samuel Hancock, who won the second prize. Charles Swift and Warren Littlefield won first prize in the three legged race, and Alex Kennedy and John Long got the second. In the Obstruction race the most interesting feature was when the boys struck the ropes and piled up generally. In this race James McCue was awarded first prize and saw money went to Belle Hohn. The last and most interesting race was the station race which was won by Charles McLaughlin and Alex Kennedy respectively. In this race the contestants found a garment at the first station which each had to don before starting for the second, and at the second each found a package that contained something that had to be eaten before proceeding and in the third a cigar to be lighted before finishing. It was not an uncommon thing for a contestant to be seen trying to strike the wrong end of a match, or to see one trying to hold a lighted cigar to a cigar while he looked to see what progress the others were making and thus missed his aim and let his match go out. The Kinney brothers got first prize for the best decorated wheel, and Samuel Hancock was awarded the second prize. The lesson drill, by Keeper Johnson, and crew, was interesting, and consisted in the regular back apparatus drill at the boat house, supplemented by a run to the middle of the river after one of the crew who had gone out and capsize a small boat just as the man from the mast was being drawn in. As the latter part of the program was not expected by the public generally, it created considerable interest. Added to this the crew turned the life boat over, giving the public a chance to see it right itself. This ended the amusements for the day, but the ball in the evening was well attended and was pronounced a success, both as to pleasure and business. The house was well filled and the dance continued until daylight. Altogether the celebration was a success. All prizes were paid promptly and all obligations met, and there has been no grumbling since. Uncle Sam was very conspicuous, and gave many of the young people a ride, from the grounds to town and back. In his Sleigh of state, and although he left his navy in an unworthy condition yet it is not amiss to say that he made his mark.

Notice of Sale. The undersigned will sell, at private sale, his household effects, consisting of Tables, Chairs, Stoves, Capboards, Stands, Dishes, Cooking utensils, and other things too numerous to mention; also, his horse and lot, and 10 lots in the Cartwright Addition to Bandon. J. A. LAUGHEAD. AROUND THE COUNTY. From the Coast Mail. An old cannon used for firing a Fourth of July salute at North Bend exploded about 5 o'clock on the morning of the Fourth and scared several parties out of a year's growth. It is said that the gun had been bored out and that it was loaded with rifle powder, which was a little too much for its weakened constitution. A house at Allegany belonging to Capt. C. E. Edwards and occupied by his brother Harm Edwards was burned to the ground Thursday night with nearly all of its contents. It is supposed that the evening fireworks were responsible for the fire, which was discovered about midnight by the occupants of the house, when it was too far advanced to allow of saving more than a trunk and a few clothes. A rough estimate places the loss at about $400 on the house and $300 on the contents, Miss Georgia Gould being one of the losers. Geo. Wulf had an experience last Sunday which he would not care to repeat. He went out over the bar in a small boat on a fishing trip, and in attempting to hoist sail near the fairway buoy, a sea came aboard and filled his boat, leaving him helplessly adrift. Fortunately the incoming tide carried him in over the bar again and into the bay. Near Rocky point he was picked up by Geo. Getty, after being in the water nearly four hours. He was in the last stages of chill and exhaustion, and had he not lashed himself to the boat at the first would undoubtedly have found a watery grave. He was taken to the residence of Ben Barker, near by, where he was cured for, and was able to come home the same day. Myrtle Point Enterprise: The peace and tranquility which usually pervades our sacred sanatorium was somewhat disturbed this morning, when the junior editor was called to account for some remark he had made and found the honor of being the fighting editor suddenly thrust upon him. The work of getting out this edition of the paper was delayed while our partner had a ten minute bout with the aggrieved party, which was declared a draw by the marshal. MARINE NOTES. ARRIVED.
