I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Anato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Sold by C. Y. Lowe.

A COIN—A few days ago in passing along the street where workmen had been removing dirt in making street repairs we observed a small silver coin that had been turned up with the earth that had been moved, and on picking it up and examining it discovered it to be a thin silver coin with a wreath on each side. One side bears the inscription "A Shilling 1750" and on the other side is a castle engraven around which is the word "Hamburger." The coin showed signs of having been lost a long time ago, and as some of the dirt that had been moved had been carried here in ballast the coin may have been carried here from San Francisco.

True Words From a Great Man "At what point shall we expect the approach of danger? Shall we expect some trans-Atlantic military giant to step the ocean and crush us at a blow? Never! All the armies of Europe, Asia and Africa combined, with all the treasures of the earth (our own excepted) in their military chest, with a Bonaparte for a commander, could not, by force, take a drink from the Ohio, or make a track on the Blue Ridge, in a trial of a thousand years! At what point then is this approach of danger to be expected? I answer, if it ever reaches us, it must spring up amongst us. It cannot come from abroad. If destruction be our lot we must ourselves be its author and finisher. As a nation of freemen, we must live through all time or die by suicide."—Abraham Lincoln.

REMARKABLE CURE OF CROUP. A Little Boy's Life Saved.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere of Goodwin, S. D., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "blew up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the plug out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth to-day.—JOEL EUMONT, Inwood, Iowa. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

A Tremendous Business.

Telegram: Probably even the penetrating and grasping mind of Edison himself did not comprehend, when he invented the telephone, what a gigantic and vastly useful and important a business would grow out of it during his life. A single generation ago no such an appliance as a telephone was in existence, had only been dreamed of as a possibility by Edison and perhaps a few others; yet to-day there are over a million and a half miles of telephone wires in operation in this country alone, and nearly half a billion dollars are invested in the business. One company alone is said to have 2,278,720 instruments in use, and to employ about 33,000 persons. This company operates 1500 exchanges, and the other companies have nearly twice that number. Readers not yet old can remember when the telephone was first considered a wonderful toy, and next a luxury; but later and rapidly it became a necessity in every business place and in many homes, and if we think of it at all we wonder how we, or the generation before us, ever got along at all without it. "The wizard of Menlo Park" has invented many things, but none, perhaps, of such general and now indispensable utility, or one on which his fame will so securely rest. He deserves to be the richest man in the country, but is said to be comparatively poor—not an unusual circumstance with inventors.

Death Solving a Race Problem.

Philadelphia North American.

In six months the British have "advanced civilization" in South Africa by killing 24,000 Boer men, women and children—mostly children, and a few thousand blacks in prison pens. The British Army has not killed so many armed Boers in battle in two years. The death camp is Great Britain's solution of the problem in Africa, and it evidently meets the approval of The Hague convention for the promotion of peace among the nations of the earth.
