Sealing wax in every shade of the rainbow at B. F. Co's. E. A. Hughes, of Port Orford, was a visitor to Bandon, Sunday.

C. M. Skeels has sold his business at Coquille to Z. C. Straug. Owen Callaghan was a passenger north on the Alliance last week.

C. A. Gage has disposed of the Clyde at Coquille to Geo. O. Leach. Special—24 Large Stamps Photos 25 cents, at Wrenshall's gallery Bandon.

Boss—At Parkersburg, April 8, 1902, to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Drew, a daughter. De Laval Cream Separators for light running and clean skimming have no equal.

Try Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets, the best physic. For sale by C. Y. Lowe. Henry Goetz started for Roseburg Friday morning expecting to be gone about ten days.

Edward Cheever, the Dairyville hardware dealer, was doing business in town Saturday. There is a large assortment of colors and designs in wall paper at the Furniture Store.

M. Brewer, gave his farm above Myrtle Point, a visit last Saturday returning home Tuesday evening. J. H. Roberts, of Myrtle Point, was in town Saturday having business which induced him to this place.

Mrs. A. G. Hoyt and daughter Grace returned home Friday evening from a ten day's visit to Mrs. Pearl Curtis at Libby. When you want a separator buy a De Laval; you take no risk; they are the best. You get full value for your money.

The steamer Rita came down from Myrtle Point Saturday afternoon bringing about thirty persons to attend the Forsters' ball. J. P. Tupper, mine host of the Hotel Coquille was in town Saturday greeting old acquaintances, having had business which called him this way.

R. G. Walker of Coquille was a visitor to Bandon Monday. Rev. Horsefall and wife returned here Monday from a visit to Coos bay.

Albert Dyer is getting ready to manufacture another lot of wooden waterpipes. White Plymouth Rock Eggs—13 for one dollar. Call on or address Jos. Hare, Hare, Ore.

Rev. Horsefall will hold services in St. John's Church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. We carry a large variety of matting cheap, medium, and the best Japanese.—B. F. Co.

Fred Sanderson and family moved from Coquille to this place last Monday and are now numbered with the Bandonians. S. D. Barrows went to Parkersburg last Sunday and will file saws during the construction of the new schooner now under way there.

The De Laval Cream Separator is used in all counties and are recognized as the superior of all machines made for separating cream from milk. Mrs. T. Perkins of Parkersburg, visited her daughter, Mrs. A. D. Morse this week. She returned home yesterday accompanied by her daughter and grand child.

The Episcopal Guild will give an entertainment in Munck's Hall, Saturday evening, May 3, to which the public is cordially invited. Programs will appear later. Mrs. J. M. Upton returned home yesterday from a week or ten days visit to her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Reed of Marshfield. Her sister Maud is here on a visit.

P. F. Gehlke, of Prosper, was doing business in town Tuesday. Mr. Gehlke has been selected to fill the place for sheriff on the Socialist ticket and is amply qualified for the position. Mrs. D. Giles wishes to inform the people of Bandon and vicinity, that she will visit Bandon about May 15 or 20 with a complete line of Summer Millinery, which she will offer at bed-rock prices.

William Fields and wife left here for Coquille City Tuesday morning, where they contemplate making their future residence. We understand that Mr. Fields intends engaging in the blacksmith business at that place. S. B. Morris has his new house well under way, and seems to be rather anxious of having it completed. Sammy had a chance to rent the property as soon as completed, but Madam Rumor says that Sam is thinking of adding to himself his better half and it won't be his smaller half either.

The usual Easter storm seems to have missed its mark, this year, at least it struck this section a week late and, beside drenching the Coquille country with a heavy down-pour, it gave evidence of a close relationship to winter. The river showed a raise of ten feet Sunday evening at Myrtle Point. The Forsters' ball, Saturday evening, proved a very successful affair. The attendance was large and harmonious enjoyment reigned which coupled with good music contributed to the success and marks the members of Court Queen as good entertainers. Myrtle Point, Coquille and other river points were represented in the attendance.

Const Mail: C. H. Merchant received a telegram from San Francisco asking the amount due on the vessel partly completed in Reed's yard, and saying that Capt. Ackerman would pay up. This would indicate that matters would be arranged for the resumption of work in the Bay City yard and the completion of the vessel now on the ways. Thomas Langlois got word last week that his son, Clark Langlois was dangerously ill of Typhoid fever. He is in a hospital at Pittsburg, Pa., and at last accounts was slightly better. Chester Langlois of Sixes, another son, had the misfortune to sustain the fracture of a leg, a few days ago. He was taken to Port Orford and is doing as well as is possible with a broken limb.

Myrtle Point Enterprise: George Black accidentally shot himself in the leg Monday. He was sitting on the porch at his home playing with a 28 caliber revolver when the pistol was discharged the bullet striking him in the upper part of the left thigh and coming out about two inches above the knee. Fortunately the bullet struck no bones, and nothing more than a flesh wound was the result. Dr. Loop dressed the wound and informs us that the young man is getting along nicely.

A. Forsnes was doing business in town yesterday. A Second hand Singer sewing machine for sale at the Furniture Store. The W. C. T. U. will meet at the residence of Mrs. E. Dyer, Tuesday afternoon April 16, at 3 o'clock. The Ladies' Aid Society will give a social and supper in Munck's Hall, Saturday evening, April 19th, to which the public is invited. Program next week.

There was a fight on the wharf Monday morning, but as both parties are scrappers, and the fighting editor has gone off on a peace mission, we had better not mention it. Mrs. A. G. Aikon was unable to keep her appointment here, this week being disappointed in securing help. She will be in Bandon with a full stock of Millinery goods within a short time.

Salt is Salt to the Consumer, But Gold to the Trust. From the Oregonian. Salt is getting to be more and more expensive to eat, and more and more economical not to eat. In the past two years coarse salt has advanced in price nearly 500 per cent, and fine-grade nearly 200 per cent. The upward leaps and bounds have been unprecedented in the annals of trade, each rise has left behind the hope that it would be the last, but the hope has gone glimmering every time. The last advance was only a few days ago. Coarse salt rose about 90 cents per ton, and fine about $1.60.

All this shows what a beneficent agent the salt trust is—to its own members. It has got its flippers so successfully into all parts of the business that when it says "Salt, go up," up salt goes. And, inasmuch as there are so many unsavory things in this world, and that which is unsavory cannot be eaten without salt, the dear public must pay the price wily-nilly. The good trust, however, is merciful and gracious, long suffering and abundant in goodness and truth, and it says it needs the money. Therefore its speech is always with grace, seasons it with salt so successfully that nobody can gainsay it more than to pay the price and grumble. "Salt is good, but if the salt have lost his saltiness, wherewith will ye season it? Have salt in yourselves, and have peace one with another."

Independent brokers, and dealers who thought they were sly, find that the trust is clever. They tried the ruse of getting salt from England, independently of the trust. They succeeded for a brief time, but the trust sniffed the scent, and, in some mysterious manner, shut off that source of supply. Pacific Coast brokers find themselves unable to engage large quantities of salt in England. When they apply the response is: "We have sold up to our limit." Until about two months ago cargoes could be obtained in England on very profitable margins, owing to the great difference between Pacific Coast and English prices. A Seattle man planned to import a shipload of salt. He figured that he could buy a vessel in England for $52,000, load her bring the cargo here and sell it at enough profit to pay for the vessel and leave $17,000 besides. It was a beautiful scheme as he lined it on paper. But the American trust spoiled it.

Another Seattle man contracted to supply Pacific Coast parties with 600 tons of salt per month from England. He secured one shipment for that amount, and another for 300 tons, and then he could get no more. In February a local firm shipped a cargo of about 1500 tons from Newcastle for Portland. The vessel will be here in July or August. Immediately after she left, no more salt could be had independently of the salt trust. The last cargo of salt to arrive here was about 500 tons, on the Veneta, which made this port last month. It is presumed that the trust has, or will get control of, the cargo en route here. The importers can dispose of it at a handsome profit. Now, the problem is, where else in the world to get salt. Independent dealers and brokers are stretching their callipers around the globe and looking for every available source of supply. Small lots can be brought here by rail from the East, and this is, in fact, what is going on. New York, Ohio or Michigan salt, in standard fine grade, it is said, can be had down in Portland for about $22 per ton. Regular San Francisco refined salt is billed out of Portland in carload lots at about $27.50 in 100-pound sacks. The price to the trade in smaller lots is $29.20 per ton in 100s. Liverpool is $28.80 in carload lots, and otherwise $30.14. Coarse grade is $18.50 in carload lots and $20.15 for smaller quantities.

A. G. Balch of Coquille put in an appearance here last evening. Hillis Short, of the Blanco Hotel, at Marshfield, was in town last night. The steamer Mandalay left San Francisco Tuesday and will be here today or tomorrow. Bandon evidently will have a baseball team this season. The article promised as this week on the subject was not ready in time but will appear next week.

Coast Mail: Geo. Tucker, who has been trying Portland as a place of residence for six or eight months, returned on the alliance with his family and household goods, and has gone to work on E. L. Bessey's dairy farm. He says this is the best place he has seen, and he'll never do it any more.

I. O. O. F. Celebration. The Odd Fellows' 83 Anniversary of the order in America, will be celebrated at Bandon, April 26th. Members are invited and expected to attend from all points in the county. There will be entertainment during the day and also in the evening. The public is cordially invited.

Nominations for Justices. Last week we gave the County Democratic ticket as nominated at Marshfield, and below will be found the names of justices and constables put in nomination, also the names of delegates to the state convention: Empire—Justice, Wm Turpen; constable, S Bolster. Marshfield—Justice, W H S Hyde; constable John Snoderland. Coquille—Justice, J H Cecil; constable, D H Johnson. Gravel Ford—Justice Taylor Weekly; constable, S Minard. Myrtle Point—Justice, Lewis Strong; constable, J J Baker. Bandon—Justice, A D Morse, constable, E M Blackerby.

For delegates to the state convention: John F Hall, W C Sanderson, I E Rose, J W Flanagan, E E Straw, J L Kronenburg and C F McKnight were nominated, and elected by acclamation. Good For Rheumatism. Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this Remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle, was completely cured.—SALLIE HARRIS, Salem, N. J. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.
