EDITORIAL.

There comes to us tales of wanton cruelty practiced upon Filipinos, by Americans in the Philippine Islands, which should bring the roseate hue of shame to the face of every true American, and the only plea offered in justification of these outrageous acts is that the Filipinos have been more barbarous, or that they have been guilty of the greater number of cruel acts. The white winged dove of peace is not enticed by lawless acts.

And it was Boss Quay that wanted the Mitchell Kahn Chinese Exclusion bill amended by a clause permitting Christian Chinese free entrance into the United States. If it was not for the things commonly reported on Boss Quay, which stamp him as not of Christian character, one might believe that the wily senator was planning for the wholesale conversion of the Coolies. There is little doubt but that with such provision Chinese conversions would multiply with astonishing rapidity.

Young men, why will you waste your time? Are you content to throw yourself on Time's current and drift away? Life spent in this manner is not worth living. Something learned each day will soon make your mind a storehouse and if you have chosen well, a storehouse of treasures. Life's pathway is strewn with wrecks, simply because too many men and woman conclude to drift with the current instead of using the talents given them and which, if used, bring their reward of sunshine, delight and treasure. No one ever accomplished anything by idleness. If you would rise in the scale of existence wake up.

An Exchange says that the stand President Roosevelt has taken on trusts has practically eliminated the trust problem from politics. The trust proposition however will not be eliminated. At present the objective point, aimed at in life, by the major portion of the human family, is wealth. Laws have been enacted which have aided in the accmulation of great monied interests, and these interests have combined for the purpose of profit and for the past forty years the government has been swayed by these interests until their power has become almost invincible. It remains to be seen whether Roosevelt or Wall Street confederations will control congress. At present capital holds the citadel.

Checks Roguery.

In Switzerland, candidates are nothing,measures everything. Rogues may be legislators in vain; the people's check is upon them. Hence Swiss newspapers analyse, explain and forshadow the effects of proposed laws, enlightening the people, with no venom of personalities. In the United States we forget party proposals in party leaders; we guess at candidates' characters which we can never really never know; we prostrate ourselves before party idols and party saviors, only to find them all common clay at last. And party we place before measures. "It will hurt the party" shuts out many a true reform idea. "It will kill any party attempting it" is from one direction a threat and from another a cry of alarm.

In Switzerland the way is open for the general discussion of any reform a small body of people may propose through the Initiative, and the line to which the majority has advanced toward refined justice is accurately marked off by the Referendum. In the United States, we do not know where the people actually stand on any question, and until the managers of one of the two great, unwieldly parties, close opporations, admit a new principle to their platform, it cannot command the public attention given a proposal for law. Here is proposal in law making; one that stands guard over all other monopolies.—Ex.

BETTER THAN PILLS.

The question has been asked, "In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets superior to pills?" Our answer is: They are easier and more pleasant to take, more mild and gentle in effect and more reliable as they can always be depended upon. Then they cleanse and invigorate the stomach and leave the stomach and bowels in a natural condition, while pills are more harsh in effect and their use is often followed by constipation. Belgium's Impending Crisis.

From the Oregonian.

The workingmen's riots in Belgium are caused by political conditions. The franchise in Belgium is virtually confined to the upper and middle classes, working people in the towns and the mining districts having no votes. The rights of suffrage is restricted to citizens who have reached the age of 21 years and who pay at least 40 francs ($8) annually in direct taxes. There is a provison giving an additional vote to any person who is a university graduate. These outrageous inequalities in the law have given the Clerical party an overpowering advantage, which has enabled it for years to defeat the efforts of the Liberals, Radicals and Socialists to obtain a manhood suffrage. The workingmen are under the influence of the Socialists, and desire that the Socialists who sympathize with their views be granted the suffrage. The exhibitions of feeling in the army as well as among the paople indicate that before long Belgium will have to choose between concession of universal suffrage or collision with a popular insurrection of a more formidable character.

Belgium, whose area is but 11,373 square miles, has a population of over 6,000,000 of people, and is the most densely populated country out side of Asia. Nearly one-sixth of its inhabitants labor in mines or factories. The people of its southern portion speak the French language, and are largely of French blood and political sympathies. Belgium was under French rule during the whole of Napoleon's career, and since the creation of the third republic in France the working people of Belgium have been exceedingly restless under their so-called government, which is really little better than an oligarchy in the superficial dress of a constitutional monarchy. The King is a mere figure head: the standing army is but 45,000 strong, and if it should prove, as reported, to be more or less honeycombed with socialism, it would probably fraternize with the people in event of a formidable insurrection. Thousands of the soldiers of the line joined the insurrection of the French Commune in 1871. The disaffection of the French Army to the royal government was notable in the great French Revolution of 1789, and it would be remarkable if the standing army of Belgium did not become dangerously disaffected in event of a popular revolt.

The Belgian government will have to yield, unless it expects the Emperor of Germany to interfere in its behalf, as the Emperor of Russia did in 1849 in behalf of Austria, lest a Belgian republic should be formed which would ultimately become part of France. Belgium is a Roman Catholic country, and the Clerical party are bitterly opposed to the Socialists and Liberals, who favor the separation of church and state—at least to the extent that has obtained enactment under the present government of France.

Oregonian: A bill was passed in the Senate a few days ago to pay $5000 to the widow of Judge I. C. Parker, for extraordinary service rendered by her husband as Judge in the western district of Arkansas. The bill was reported adversely by Senator Hoar, but be stated that as the case was absolutely "unique" he would vote for it. The country has become accustomed to "precedent" as an excuse for drawing money from the Treasury, but this is the first time that a claim has been passed upon as "unique" and therefore deserving. Thus another precedent has been established.

Telegram: Russia has entered in to a treaty, to be ratified in three months, by which she agrees to withdraw her troops from Manchuri in three divisions, one third in six months after the treaty is ratified, another third in a year, and the last of them in eighteen months. Thus Russia will retain a weakening hold on Manchuri for twenty-one months to come, during which time much may happen.

"That's All."

Liquor dealers often betray themselves unconsciously in their advertisements, and I have occasionly had the pleasure of pointing out an instance of these damaging admissions. For pure guilelessness, however, nothing in this line quite exceeds an advertisement which, since Rev. Charles M. Sheldon directed my attention to it, I have seen in many papers that should know better. It is a very simple advertisement:

SMITH'S WHISKEY.

THAT'S ALL.

(Of course, the name is not Smith.) "Smith's Whiskey. That's all!" Could the sarcasm of the most powerful temperance orator paint a more damning picture? "That's all." Indeed it is. Nothing else left. No money. No credit. No decent clothes. No comfortable house. No business No friends No skill. No reputation. No health, No strength. No courage. No happiness at home. Nothing to eat there. No joy for the children. No religion. No peace of conscience. No safety or hope in this world or the next.

But "Smith's Whiskey." He has that. "That's all." Smith's whiskey. And a swollen head. And a turgid brain. And palsied hands. And wavering vision. Feet for the gutter Nerves for the serpents of delirium. A thirst that is madness. A brutal passion that has taken hold of his entire being. Smith's Whiskey. That's all.

Who that reads this interpretation does not know that it is true? And who will not in the fear of God, for the love of his brother, use all the power he has to drive this cynical, deadly evil from off the face of the earth?—Christian Endeavor World.

Good For Rheumatism.

Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this Remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle, was completely cured.—SALLIE HARRIS, Salem, N J. For sale by C. Y Lowe.

CONSTIPATION

"I have gone 14 days at a time without a movement of the bowels, not being able to move them except by using hot water injections. Chronic constipation for seven years placed me in this terrible condition; during that time I did everything I heard of but never found any relief; such was my case until I began using CASCARETS. I now have from one to three passages a day, and if I was rich I would give $100.00 for each movement; it is such a relief."

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.

Gentlemen: — Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours, F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.

Examination and advice free. YOU CAN CURE YOURSELF AT HOME at a nominal cost.
