This game promises to be a hard-fought contest as each team needs it. If the Bandon team loses this game it must win in all the balance in order to win the pennant, while if Marshfield loses this game she can have but little hope to win out. The Marshfield Band is coming with the team, and a large delegation will be down from upriver points. The game will be called at one o'clock in order to give the visitors an early start home. The dance was the last feature and was a crowning success. The attendance was large, there being 85 tickets sold. The income from the ball together with what had been raised for the celebration was ample to cover all expenses and leave a good balance. There was no public display of fireworks but the amount purchased and set off by private parties illumined the evenings of the 3rd and 4th to a considerable extent.

July 4th At Bandon. July 4, 1902, has passed and is swiftly speeding away on Time's tireless pinions while its successor is gliding forward at the same pace, to present itself in due season. Bandon had made considerable preparation to celebrate our Nation's Natal day, and while we can look back with pleasure to the occasion, yet it was marred by rains which preceded and those which fell on July 4th. The Celebration drew a large number of persons here from the surrounding country, some from Coquille and others from Myrtle Point and other river points, and a few from Dairyville, but it is estimated that at least one-third of those who intended coming were deterred by the threatening aspect of the weather. There were a few light showers in the morning and forenoon which prevented the literary exercises being carried out according to program, on the grounds prepared for that purpose, hence, the parade had to be abandoned and the literary exercises held in Munch's Hall. However the Band gave a street concert and the girls, who represented the several states and territories, made a very pretty procession as they marched along the streets on their way to the hall. At the hall the service of the Band were first called into requisition after which Col. R. H. Rosa made some very appropriate remarks, and then introduced Mrs. Wooten, who read the Declaration of Independence. A selection by the band, and the rendering of the National Anthem, "My Country 'tis of Thee" by the girls representing the states were two pleasant features of the program. Next came the oration by Elder C. E. Crumley and to say that he did justice to the occasion does not begin to express the appreciation by which the audience received the address. There are two distinct features of the day's exercises which stand out prominently, and mark the success of the literary entertainment and which go a long way in making the celebration a success. These two features were the reading of the Declaration of Independence and the Oration. Mrs. Wooten is an excellent elocutionist and being also patriotic was enabled to enter into the spirit of the instrument, and the result was a fine rendering which called forth the admiration of all and delighted the assembly. Elder Crumley, in his discourse, left the usual line of well beaten paths of 4th of July orators, but touched in a masterly way upon the spirit of liberty that led to the separation from English rule, the growth, development, greatness, and the future prominence, eulogizing very highly the spirit of rectitude that has always stood out prominently in the lives of the hosts of the American people. That his discourse was well received was attested by the indications of applause the assembly manifested and which was heartily given at the close of the oration, also by the favorable comments by the general public, and by our public men. The afternoon sports were also spoiled to some extent by a shower which made its appearance while the people were making their way to the ball ground. The free for all race was won by Terry McKune. In the boy's race Willie Hohn won first and John Devereaux took second money. In the sack race John Devereaux took first and Willie Hazelton second prizes. The first prize in the three-legged race was won by Payson Dietz and Willie Hazelton. We failed to get the names of the winners of the second prize. The race for ladies and girls failed to take place as there was no response when these races were called. The next in the way of sports was a game of baseball for a purse of twenty-five dollars. The rain had made the ground very slippery, but, nevertheless, each side put their best foot foremost and a close contest was had, the Fire Department nine winning in a score of 7 to 5. In the evening Keeper R. Johnson and the Life-saving crew gave an exhibition in the life boat overturning it several times and letting it right again. The dance was the last feature and was a crowning success. The attendance was large, there being 85 tickets sold. The income from the ball together with what had been raised for the celebration was ample to cover all expenses and leave a good balance. There was no public display of fireworks but the amount purchased and set off by private parties illumined the evenings of the 3rd and 4th to a considerable extent.

The A. O. U. W. gave a public installation last evening after which their guests and visitors were invited to a feast prepared for the occasion. Before installation there were 19 new members initiated into the mysteries of the order. After supper the guests retired and the lodge members proceeded with their initiatory work which was concluded about three o'clock in the morning. This order has about 60 members here now. Star Route Box Delivery. Notice is hereby given to the public that the contracts in effect July 1st, 1902, for the performance of mail service on the star routes in the States and Territories hereinafter named provide that, in addition to carrying the mails to the various post offices, the carrier will be required to deliver mail into all boxes and hang small bags or satchels containing mail on cranes or posts that may be erected along the line of the route, under the following regulations of the Department: Any person living on or near the route and not within the corporate limits of any town or within 80 rods of any post office, who desires his mail deposited at a given point on the line of the route by the carrier may provide and erect a suitable box or crane on the roadside, located in such manner as to be reached as conveniently as practicable by the carrier without dismounting from the vehicle or horse, and such person shall file with the postmaster at the post office to which his mail is addressed (which shall be one of the two post offices on the route on either side of and next to the box or crane) a request in writing for the delivery of his mail to the carrier for deposit at the designated point, at the risk of the addressee. The small bag or satchel above described, as well as the box or crane, must be provided by the person for whose use it is intended without expense to the Department. It shall be the duty of the postmaster at every such post office, upon a written order from any person living on or near the route, to deliver to the mail carrier for that route any mail matter—placing in the respective satchels, where such are used, the mail for the persons to whom such satchels belong—with instructions as to the proper mail box or crane at which said mail matter shall be deposited; but registered mail shall not be so delivered unless expressly requested by the addressee in his written order. No mail matter so delivered to the carrier shall be carried past another post office on the route before being deposited into a mail box or hung on a crane or post. The carrier on the route will be required to receive from any postmaster on the route any mail matter or private mail satchel that may be entrusted to him outside of the usual mail bag, and shall carry such mail matter or private mail satchel to and deposit it into the proper mail box or hang it on the proper mail crane placed on the line of the route for this purpose; such service by the carrier to be without charge to the addressee. The mail carriers must be of good character and of sufficient intelligence to properly handle and deposit the mail along the route. The Department does not prescribe any particular design of box or satchel to be used for this service, but the person providing either should see that it is of such character as to afford ample protection to his mail. If there is a lock attached to the box, a key is not to be held by the carrier, as he is expected to deposit the mail without the necessity of unlocking the box. The box or crane should be so located on the roadside that the carrier can deposit the mail without leaving his vehicle or horse, and yet not where it will obstruct public travel. The carrier is not required to collect mail from the boxes, but there is no objection to his doing so if it does not interfere with his making the schedule time. The law provides that every carrier of the mail shall receive any mail matter presented to him if properly prepaid by stamps, and deliver the same for mailing at the next post office at which he arrives, but that no fees shall be allowed him therefor. The box delivery above described is required by the contracts effective July 1, 1902, on all the star routes (with but few exceptions) in Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Indian Territory, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, California, Alaska, and Hawaii. W. S. SHALENBARGER, The Best Liment For Strains. Mr. F. H. Wells, the merchant at Deer Park, Long Island, N. Y., says: "I always recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm as the best liment for strains. I used it last winter for a severe lameness in the side, resulting from a strain, and was greatly pleased with the quick relief and cure it effected. For sale by C. Y. Lowe."
