EDITORIAL.

That the Mikado and his subjects are becoming civilized is evidenced in the fact that the Japanese government is informing itself upon the American exclusion law with the view of excluding the "heathen" Chinese from Japan.

Tracy held up a man whom he compelled to set him across the Columbia into Eastern Washington. He has probably read an account of the California man who says "Tracy isn't in it with him," and is on his way around to satisfy the California duffer's vanity.

General Smith, who is distinguished as "the kill and burn" general of the Philippines arrived in San Francisco from Manila. He is reported to have been very much hurt upon receiving President Roosevelt's repremand, but his wound is light compared to those of some of the victims of his barbarous order.

Kansas guys seem numerous. One gave a woman whom he was engaged to marry, $320 to hold while he went to procure the marriage license, the other day, but neglected to get some one to hold his prospective wife, and he has not seen anything of her since. Another Kansas man sent fifty dollars to an Indiana woman who advertised to supply wives to men matrimonially inclined, and the woman failed to deliver the goods.

Russians have no independence of speech, and each man has to keep a strict censorship over the wag of his tongue, especially in public assemblages. This condition can be bourne by these people as they can still enjoy some powerful thinking, but if his royal highness, the Czar of all the Russias, once becomes posessed of the magic power of mind reading, the Russian subject will be compelled to hold down the safetyvalve to his feelings and life will have lost all its joys to them in the fear of the result of an internal explosion. The ways of a tyrant are hard to endure.

There is a quiet dropping out of congressmen who opposed revision of the tariff in the late congress, by districts in some of the states east of the Rocky mountains. Several have failed in renomination by their Republican constituents, and more are to be let go. The curse that has been fostered under the name of protection has become so pronounced that no party dare much longer advocate a continuance of the measures that have brought about the reign of trusts, yet there are those who hang onto protection, of the monopoly breeding kind, with a tenacity that stops at nothing short of enslavement of the masses of the human race.

An exchange says:—"The Spring series of disasters and calamities is being succeeded by a summer series, the unprecedented, unaccountable rains and floods being the worst. It promises to be a record breaking year in this respect."

Telegram: The Republicans back East are worrying considerably about the tariff and trust planks in the Iowa Republican platform. They will worry worse when, on a square issue, the people get a chance to express their opinion of the trust breeding and sustaining Dingley tariff law.

Telegram: The Republicans of Iowa declares for "any modification of the tariff schedules that may be required to prevent their affording shelter to monopoly." As some of them suggested, this is a plea of guilty, but it is good policy in the long run to be honest and acknowledge faults, at least such as cannot be hid or disguised.

Socialists preach peace and are accused of inciting strife; they denounce war and are condemned by the professed followers of the Prince of Peace; they preach the communism of the Christ and disciples and are denounced as infidels; they preach a millennial condition and are denounced as fools; they prove their position by statistes of the commercial world and are denounced as cranks. If they would preach war, strife greed oppression of the poor, what a respectable lot they would be in the eyes of the world.—Ex.

A Cure For Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwalter, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor's was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recomended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Coquille Bulletin: McLeod's pile driver is busily engaged in driving piles in the river frontage of J. A. Davenport's ranch down the river. Mr. Davenport intends to put in a boom for the purpose of keeping the drift wood off his ranch during the high water. The pile driver will be moved to Cedar Point as soon as the necessary piling can be secured, and operation will begin on the new railroad wharf to be erected at that place. It is reported that a ware house will be added in connection with the wharf.

Telegram: The anthracite coal strikers are under great provocation. The coal barons, as one of them recently acknowledged, invited and desired the strike, made conditions intolerable for the miners for the very purpose of precipitating a strike, in order to decrease the supply of coal and enable the trust to raise the price next Fall and Winter. In order to add to their already enormous gains they deliberately planned idleness for the miners, and if wholesale death by starvation resulted they did not care a picayune. These facts are to be remembered in censuring the strikers for resorting to violence. Yet it is not justifiable, and will not pay. If the real oppressors were the victims it would still be wrong, but there would be very few tears shed.

Coos Bay Waking Up.

From the Evening Telegram.

Coos Bay and the adjacent region is, another coast locality in Oregon that is emerging from the mists that have so long kept it in obscurity. A "belt line" of rail road connecting Empire City, Marshfield and the jetty at the mouth of the harbor is to be constructed at once, and this will of course be followed soon by a road crossing the Coast Range into the Umpqua or Rogue River Valley, making connection with the Southern or Central Oregon to some Eastern connection.

Coos Bay has already a tolerably good harbor, that can and will be farther improved. It will never admit the large ocean carriers, perhaps, but will safely receive coasters of large tonnage, and with railroad connection with the interior the development of that region will be, as compared with the past, very rapid.

The Coos Bay country is rich in timber, of which it has an almost unlimited quantity, of fine quality; also in coal, of which mines are partly developed; and its rich bottom lands are exceedingly rich, producing the finest imaginable crops of grass, grains, vegetables and fruits, and making it, like Tillamook, to the extent of its improved lands, an exceptionally fine dairy region. The ship building industry, already not insignificant, will develop into large proportions.

Many of the people over there have been hibernating for a quarter of a century or more, but they will have to wake up. Coos Bay is too valuable a place to be longer overlooked.

A Mother's Touch.

BY MRS. M. L. TOWLE

"For angels are less tenderwise than God and mothers."—Browning.

I know not how the passing years
Have made me old to-day,
Or when they changed my sunny hair
To somber shades of gray;
How strange it seems
That sunset gleams
Fall now across my way!

Though many years have flown since I,
By toys and dreams beguiled,
Sat in the firelight of my home,
A loved and loving child.
With flame more bright
And heart more light
Because my mother smiled.

As then it thrills me now to feel,
Adown the waste of years,
The magic of my mother's touch
Which wiped my childhood's tears.
Oh, gentle hand,
With fairy wand,
It scatters all my fears.

My griefs and cares are soothed to-night
While in her arms caressed,
While resting, as of old, my head
Upon her faithful breast.
The wandering dove,
For mother-love,
Flies to the dear home-nest.

Her fingers toying with my curls,
Timed to some tender lay,
Beguile the years of half the pains
Which burden them to day.
Oh, tender touch!
Never was such
On sunny hair or gray.

Blest memory, while unfolding now
The pages of the past,
Give me of all thy valued store
The very best thou hast.
Oh, mother love,
O'ershadowing dove,
Thy watchful vigils keep,
While as a child again
I lay me down to sleep.

There's Poison in That Glass

Two young men from the Far West were on board a train the night before Christmas going East to spend the holidays with friends.

They evidently started out with the determination of enjoying themselves, no matter who might be annoyed by their jesting and profanity. At midnight, when some of the passengers were trying to sleep the noise of glasses was heard—one of the party was taking from his satchel a bottle from which he poured into a glass the fiery liquid. As he sat looking at it "giving its color in the cup" a lady sitting near said in solemn tones. "Young man, there's poison in that glass." Immediately all eyes were turned to ward him as he sat there pale and motionless, holding the glass before him. His companion said with much feeling, "That is true, and I have been drinking poison all my life." The thought seemed to trouble him and he put the glass aside.

Science proves that alcohol is a poison. It nevef changes in the system, but remains alchol. It is shunned and cast out as an enemy.

It is not food for mind or body; on the contrary it destroys the mind, shatters the nerves, vitiates the blood and, worse than all, ruins soul and body.

Young man, are you willing to run the risk for the momentary gratification of taking a glass? It may be the fatal glass! Stop and consider. A single glass of liquor has brought many a young man to the penitentiary or gallows.

Then flee to the Saviour; ask to be delivered from the evil appetite; seek forgiveness, and He will hear and answere in peace.

Clippings from the Young Crusader.

We should destroy the intimidating power of the saloon over both our law makers and citizens.

The health of the liquor business may depend on your depending on the liquor for your health.

The great Dr. Lyman Abbot favors the moderate use of alcholic liquor, the army canteen, the license system, and lately has came out in favor of the submission to a popular vote in the cities, of the question whether saloons shall be allowed to sell liquor on Sunday. There is, evidently, no conflict between Dr. Abbott's theology and the world No wonder a liquor organ regards him as a "Christian, and upright man, and a scholar."

The railrods of the United States employ almost a million men in various capacities. Not from any sentimental or even moral motive, but strictly upon the base of efficiency—accurate and safe performance of duty—the employers of this great army of men insist upon sobriety among their employes. Not less, probably, than half of the whole number are working under rules that positively forbid them to frequent the places where intoxicating drinks are sold, and almost a half are absolutely required to be total abstainers.

The favorite with thoughtful, cultured people—The Oregonian.

ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF

DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would, then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,

F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.

Examination and advice free. YOU CAN CURE YOURSELF AT HOME at a nominal cost.
