E. Lewin of the City Meat market, has arranged to do his own buying and dressing of meats hereafter. Consult him if you have anything to dispose of in his line.

S. J. Culzer returned home the latter part of last week, from a trip to Coos Bay, whither he had gone to look after some business interests that needed his attention.

For Sale or Rent—A Livery barn in Bandon. Room for 16 horses. Baggy shed and office attached, and running water for stock. Address or apply to J. H. Jones, Bandon, Oregon.

Mrs. J. A. Yeakam and daughter were in Bandon last Saturday on their way to Marshfield to take the steamer for San Francisco. They have been visiting Mrs. T. S. Malhorn, Mrs. Yeakam's mother, and were returning home to Fresno Cal.

John Kronenberg and wife, of Coquille, accompanied by their daughter Mrs. Ida Owens, were in town the latter part of last week awaiting the sailing of the steamer Mandalay. They took passage to San Francisco. Mrs. Owen who lives in the east has been on a visit to her parents and other relatives in Coos.

The Leondor Bros. are carrying a company of artists that cannot be duplicated on this coast. No person in Bandon should fail of this opportunity to see that immortal play, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" with little Bonny as Topsy, the greatest juvenile actress living, in buck and wing dancing, cake walking and singing. A constant roar of laughter greets her from her appearance to the climax of the play.

Entertainments were abundant last Saturday evening in Bandon and vicinity. Besides the dance at Ballard's there was a social gathering at John Lamont's in honor of his son James who was leaving on Monday to attend school at Philomath. There was also a surprise party at George P. Topping's house, and another given Mrs. Daly on the occasion of her birthday. A general good time is reported from the several parties.

A letter received here a few days ago from a member of E. J. Davidson's family who are located in Josephine county brought the intelligence that Miss Pearl and Frank would probably return here this fall. Frank, who recovered from a severe spell of sickness, a few weeks ago, is totally blind. There is hope of his recovering his sight, as he can now distinguish between day and night, a distinction which he could not make just after losing the use of his eyes.

V. N. Perry was among the visitors to town Tuesday.

Leondor Bros. are coming. You know them; enough said:

Father Donnelly will hold services in the Catholic church Sunday at 10:30.

The Basket Social will open at 7:30 on Saturday evening and a prompt attendance is desired so that the dancers can have possession of the Hall at an early hour.

The North spit which has been crowding the river channel on the rocks on the South side, at the mouth of the river is cutting away and will soon be all right again.

John Kronenberg, wife and daughter Ida, Henry Clemens, wife and daughter, Miss Florence Rosa and Mrs. Ed Rose, were passengers to San Francisco on the Mandalay.

SHOOTING LOSE.—Some party left a shotgun on the steamer Dispatch about Sept. 1. Owner can have same by calling at this office describing property and settling for this notice.

There was about half an inch of rain fell at this place last Thursday night. It laid the dust, cleared the atmosphere to a considerable extent and was very beneficial otherwise. A nice little shower fell yesterday morning.

The tug's bawser perished last Sunday just after the Triumph crossed in over the bar with the schooner Corinthian, but the mishap caused no damage and very little trouble. The bar was rather lumpy on that occasion.

V. R. Buckingham and family, who have been living here for the past two years, left last Monday for the Willamette Valley. They were accompanied by Miss Miss Averill and her brother Moss, who were returning to their home at Brownsville. Miss Miss has been visiting relatives here for some weeks. Moss has been at work here for a year.

The Bandon Lodge of Workmen are getting ready for a very social occasion next Saturday, when the members of that order, and of the Degree of Honor, will assemble here from all over the county. An excellent dinner is being prepared for the visitors and with a good program for the afternoon, and a dance to follow the Basket Social, a pleasant occasion is in anticipation.

The annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church for the Oregon district convened yesterday at Grants Pass. Rev. U. S. Holcomb, who has charge of the M. E. church at this place and Coquille has gone to be in attendance. We understand that Rev. Holcomb expressed willingness, in case he is returned to this charge, to publicly debate the doctrine which the Latter Day Saints promulgate, with Elder C. E. Cranley, who has charge of the Oregon district. He has been asked to quit misrepresenting the Saints or meet them in public discussion.

The Marshfield Lynching Incident

Marshfield was the scene of mob law last Thursday in which the life of a human being was sacrificed to satiate the rage of an angry crowd.

The cause which led up to the killing is given below as found in the Coast Mail of September 18:

"Alonzo Tucker, a negro, was arrested shortly before noon yesterday, on a charge of having committed the crime of rape upon the person of Mrs. Ben. Dennis, of Libby.

"The information was telephoned to Marshal Carter, with the request that he intercept Tucker, who was said to be on his way to Marshfield, and place him under arrest. The marshal had seen Tucker coming into town a few minutes before and had no trouble locating his man and landing him in jail.

"Various stories of the outrage were current on the street, but the facts as stated by Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Farris, who visited Libby in the afternoon and talked with the woman, is that Mrs. Dennis had been in Marshfield and started home about 10 a. m. When she reached a point on the wagon road not far beyond the I. O. O. F. cemetery, the negro emerged from the brush. He seized her and placed his hands over her mouth to stifle her cries. Carrying her into the bushes he choked her into submission and accomplished his purpose.

"He then left her and started toward Marshfield. She made her way as quickly as possible to her home at Libby where she reported what had occurred."

In the evening a crowd of miners from Libby about a hundred strong appeared on the scene at Marshfield, so the story goes, but they failed to find the man they were after in the jail but whose disappearance was thus accounted for according to the Mail:

"A few moments before the mob reached the jail warning was brought that they were coming. This was sooner than the officers expected any trouble, and they were not prepared. They at once took Tucker from the jail and ran him across to the boat slip back of the I. O. O. F. building where they expected to find a boat in which to take him out on the bay or 'to Empire.' Carter was ahead with the negro while Sunderland brought up the rear. Reaching the slip they saw that no boat was there, then Tucker gave Carter a push and sprang to the middle under the wharf it being low tide.

"By this time the mob was on hand, and to them Marshal Carter confided his trouble. Search under the wharf showed tracks in the mud. These were traced to a point back of the O'Connell hardware store, where the trail was lost."

A watch was kept up all night and next day he was discovered by some of the boys who peppered him with an air gun until he was driven out. The Sun gives the following account of the killing:

As he emerged from under cover a 30 30 cracked and the bullet caught him in the leg. A moment later two shots were fired and Tucker, with the blood streaming from his wounds ran into Dean & Co's store, with the mob following at his heels. At first it was intended to string him up on the spot, but second thought was to take him to the scene of his crime. Tucker was placed into a cart and the start was made, but it was noticed on the route that life was about extinct, and a rope was placed around his neck and the other end fastened to a beam on the South Marshfield bridge leading to the cemetery and Libby. Tucker's remains dangled from the end of a rope here for several hours until they were cut down by the order of the coroner and an inquest held over the remains, the jury reaching a verdict that Tucker died from a gunshot wound in the thigh inflicted while attempting to escape arrest for felony; that said wound was inflicted by parties unknown to this jury and that no crime was committed thereby.

The jurors were W. B. Curtis, foreman; B. Walter, A. B. Prentiss, Chas. Stauff, Walter Kruse, J. W. Flanagan.

It is a lamentable disgrace that has overtaken Coos County and through her the state of Oregon whose name has been tarnished by the untoward conduct of some of her citizens.

If the Negro was guilty of the crime, as charged, he merited punishment adequate to his guilt; he was in the hands of the law and the law should have been respected. Tucker had been arrested and held, but the public has not been apprised of a preliminary examination, nor of a single legal inquiry as to whether the man was guilty or innocent, and from the reports that come out from Marsh-

Academy Opens.

EDITOR RECORDER.—

Permit me to call the attention of your readers to the fact that I have taken charge of the Academy property at Coquille City, and will open school therein on the first Monday in October.

The school will be thoroughly organized in all its departments, and besides all school work up to the 12th grade, we are prepared to conduct classes in music, elocution and commercial branches.

The teachers bring to their work thorough qualifications and wide experience, and the institution is backed by sufficient capital to make it a success.

For further particulars call on or address, A. H. MULKEY, Supt. Sept. 17, 1902. Coquille City, Ore.

Woolmen Attention!

Public Auction of Thoroughbred Sheep.

Having decided to retire from the sheep business, I will offer my flock of the thoroughbreds for sale at Public Auction at Langlois, Oregon on October 4th, 1902. I have the purest bred flock in Southwest Oregon, headed by a fine imported English Ram. The lambs from the bucks I sold last season show up as, as every purchaser will say. Among the purchasers last season to whom I refer are, Leon Walker Geo. Chenoweth, Fred Hoffess, Hans Clausen and others. This is a fine opportunity for Oregon wool growers to improve their flocks. All are invited to call and examine my sheep.

Remember date of sale—October 4th, 1902.

FRANK M. LANGLOIS,
Langlois, Oregon, Sept. 2, 1902.

To correct an error, I wish to state that the Ram imported from England, will not be sold this fall, but the ewes to be sold will be served by him.
