EDITORIAL.

The Venezuelan government is one of those machines called portable. It has no fixed place of business and is mostly on the go.

Guam, one of Uncle Sam's new possessions can boast of one lively day at least. The island experienced 180 earthquakes in 24 hours.

And now it is the broom men that propose forming a trust. This will be a sweeping institution and will influence every home in the land.

Governor Taft has given the Filipinos to understand that they may have independence when they are fitted for it—some generations hence.

An exchange says that David Bennett Hill is doubtless playing for the nomination for president if he sees any chance to win. There is nothing startling about that; hundreds of others have or are doing the same thing. No doubt but that Hanna would like to have a turn.

Just now Secretary Shaw is buying up United States bonds at a good round premium. A like service was performed some fourteen years ago after which President Cleveland's administration was forced to issue more bonds. Is Wall Street preparing for another run on the government?

There is considerable pressure being brought in favor of calling an extra session of the Oregon legislature. Governor Goer ought to know what to do in the matter. If the interests of the states can be served by an extra session, the general public will stand by him, but if it is only for factional purposes, the public will discover it shortly and he would lose the confidence and respect of his constituents.

It is a common saying that there is a man in the moon, but it remained for the Salemites, according to the Capital Journal, to discover a woman there. This discovery was made on the night of the recent eclipse, but as the Journal stated that there were no large telescopes in use there that night, it will be hard to make the average person believe the discoverer did not do a telescoping business in bottles and glasses on that occasion.

Grover Cleveland has been heard from again. He warns Democracy to stay with "tariff reform." It is time that new and vital issues should be discussed. Changes in tariff are not likely to remove the ills and inequities of an unjust system. Tariff has practically done its work, and the billion-aires trust will still be able to control the situation. So far they have won out with few exceptions, the principal one of which was the conditions which obtained during the late coal strike and then it was doubtless the attitude of President Roosevelt and Governor Odell, backed by a growing sentiment that the coalfields should belong to the people and be worked in their interest. The coal barons only backed down when the lion showed his teeth.

It is said the farmers of Kansas and Nebraska will burn corn for fuel this winter. I wonder if anyone is foolish enough to think they will do this because nobody wants the corn? Not by a jug full. There are millions of hungry mouths in this country that want that corn. They are willing to exchange their labor for it, but the crazy system supported by the votes of American working men prevents the exchange being made. There are a thousand and one things the Nebraska farmer would like to exchange his corn for, but the workers who make these things cannot do so because he is not in control of the necessary tools.—Coming Nation.

The Socialistic Trend.

The New Orleans Daily News accuses the street car company, whose employees are now on a strike, of openly violating the franchise agreement it has with that city. In order to bring about open war with its labor the News recites that it has forced long hours upon its men, reduced wages, made and multiplied discontent by wanton disregard of common rights and in many ways sought trouble. If this is the weapon of the public corporation, if this is the method of the servant of the public, then the public should awaken. If peace and good order are to be sacrificed by the

What The English Say.

New York, Oct. 15.—English moralists are staggered by the tremendous simplicity of the negotiations for bringing the coal strike to a close, cables the London correspondent of the Tribune. Neither sovereign nor prime minister here could have intervened in an industrial crisis as the President has done; nor is there any English financier capable of playing Mr. Morgan's part. No labor leader has arisen in England with Mr. Mitchell's influence over the workers. The strike, if settled by arbitration, will be a fresh proof, according to English observers, that Americans have the power of keeping their heads while walking on the verge of a precipice.

Has a Ten Penny Nail Through His Head.

While opening a box, J. C. Mount, of Three Mile Bay, N. Y., ran a ten penny nail through the fleshy part of his hand. "I thought at once of all the pain and soreness this would cause me," he says, "and immediately applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and occasionally afterward. To my surprise it removed all pain and soreness and the injured parts were soon healed." For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

The Mighty Morgan.

From the Evening Telegram. J. Pierpont Morgan was reported last week by John Brisson Walker, editor of the Forum Magazine, to be ready and willing to arbitrate and settle the coal strike, if everything on both sides were left to himself. He was to make absolute terms, and guarantee peace, and work and coal.

Since then, yesterday, Mr. Morgan has acted; he decondemned to go and see the President of the United States, and arranged for a commission of arbitration. It may seem to some Americans a little humiliating that one man has the power to bring about such a result, or to prevent it. A week ago, discussing this proposition, the Chicago Inter Ocean, a staunch Republican paper, said:

"J. Pierpont Morgan, principal defendant in the case of The People vs. The Hard Coal Monopoly, proposes to sit as judge, to render a verdict, and to pass sentence. That is substantially the Walker Morgan proposal. Having, as he thinks, held up 80,000,000 people with the weapons of their own laws of private property, Mr. Morgan proposes that he shall unreservedly confide their present and future welfare, as regards a necessity of life, to his sole decision. Upon Mr. Morgan's theory, it is almost superfluous to say, we should have no need of elections and Congress and laws and Presidents. All we should need to do would be to trust Morgan. As the rest of us 80,000,000 contemplate our Government and ourselves as viewed by Mr. Morgan, it is difficult to do more for the time being, than highly resolve to be calm, and, without malice or resentment, to abide by the cause of the President and people of the United States."

But this, it has turned out, is some what of an exaggeration. Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, and a fair and just umpire, is to have the appointment of the arbitrators. Mr. Morgan has discovered or will discover, that he does not quite own the people of the United States yet, nor their Government, nor their President, nor even the Governor of New York, nor the courts. He is a mighty man, indeed, but he is not quite the Whole Thing yet.

Take his last Drink.

DALLAS, TEX., Aug. 3.—The right to sell liquor in Hunt County, adjoining Dallas on the North, expired at midnight of Saturday, and prohibition went into effect at that hour for the next two years.

Pearl Austin, Toby Jackson and Pete Dewey determined to "drink whiskey till the last minute under the law." Each had a large bottle. The three men were standing in a farm wagon just as the clock struck 12, Austin raised his bottle to his mouth, saying, as he did so: "Here goes the biggest drink ever taken in Hunt County." He took a long pull at the bottle, with his head bent far backward.

Suddenly he began to reel, then to lurch, and in a moment fell to the floor of the wagon. Physicians were called, but it was too late; he had taken his last drink and drawn his last breath.—National Advocate.

The Saloon Must Pay For Its Work.

The United States Court of appeals has affirmed the judgment of the Federal Court in Nebraska that a saloon-keeper may be held financially responsible for the death of a patron who dies as a result of an accident caused by his inebriety. The suit was filed by the widow and daughter of a man who got drunk in a saloon and as a consequence was thrown from a buggy and killed. The saloon-keeper was sued for damages and the courts decided that he must pay for the death of his patron. It is a long stride toward temperance, and we shall expect a multitude of such cases to be filed. Certainly the decision is just; and it is but one more stone in the foundation of our belief that the American people are learning too much to long tolerate a wholly bad business.—Cumberland Presbyterian.

A Policeman's Testimony.

Captain Nott-Bower, who has been appointed city commissioner of police, and served twenty years as chief constable of Liverpool, has given his help and influence to temperance and other movements for the elevation of the poorer classes. He made a very remarkable statement on one occasion, says the London Daily News, with reference to the appalling amount of Saturday night drinking in Liverpool. It was to the effect that if the money spent in the public houses on that single evening of the week were only spent on the necessities of life, the ordinary stocks of the grocers and bakers and provision dealers in the city would not be able to supply the demands that would be made upon them. This indicates something of the amount of starvation that is occasioned by the vice of intemperance, according to the experience of a man who, from the position he has held, is well able to form an accurate opinion on the matter.

WINE OF CARDUI.

"Mrs. L. S. ADAMS. Of Galveston, Texas. 'Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me. It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities.'"

"By 'tired women' Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have disordered nerves, failing of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have. You can cure yourself at home with this great women's remedy, Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui has cured thousands of cases which doctors have failed to benefit. Why not begin to get well today? All druggists have $1.00 bottles. For any stomach, liver or bowel disorder, Theodore's Black-Draught should be used."
