Some yankee described a trust as a "small body surrounded by water." From another source comes the query, "suppose the water should rise?" No cause for alarm whatever; the trust would simply put it out at interest.

The whirligig of events political sometimes are a travesty on the eternal fitness of things. In St. Louis, Ed. Butler, a millionaire, was sent to prison for a term of three years for participating in wholesale bribery while his son who is supposed to have been equally guilty with the father, has been elected to congress.

The German government has declared war upon this country of a retaliatory nature in the passage of a tariff provision to offset American measures injurious to that country. This is after the style of boys who begin by throwing chips at each other but who end up in a pitched battle wherein rocks play a prominent part. The tariff chips will do very well for a beginning but if somebody gets hurt, look out! it will be guns, cannons, gunboats and bombs in the end.

When we consider the punishment of criminals for minor offenses, taking into consideration the differences existing between persons of wealth and persons in the lower walks of life, there are some surprising facts brought to view. Suppose a man of wealth and a common laborer are each brought before the court and fined $50 and costs for like offenses. The laboring man pays his fine and sets to work by the exercise of his muscles to regain the amount lost; the man of wealth pays his fine and sets his money to work and makes production remunerate him. What is punishment to one is no punishment whatever to the other, and in the end the burden falls on production. Another fact in regard to crime is that the cost of trial and imprisonment as a rule falls on those who are not law breakers, thus placing the burden caused by the unjust upon the shoulders of the just.

The American Banking Association have met in assembly at New Orleans to devise ways and means to make the banking system more elastic and pliant. Heretofore it has been elastic and pliant in their hands, but they still want more rubber put into it. Along in the latter part of President Harrison's administration, the elasticity was taken up, the contracting essence thrown in, and by the time Grover Cleveland came upon the scene the bond elasticity or expansion began. When that began to look dangerous, expansion was done by the popular loan act, since which time various additions have been added, one of which was expansion to the full amount of bonds on deposit, and another was abolition from keeping on deposit the amount before held necessary for redemption. This is not enough however and the members of the association want another "rubber neck" on the institution. They have already got the system so well in hand that it inflates for loaning purposes, and contracts for taxes and the ruin of obnoxious institutions, but this is not enough, they want more. Yes, they want more money to lend; they want the system more elastic; they want it to act like a disappearing gun; when they can gain interest, it must come forth and shoot. When there is loss to be expenses attached it must disappear. Now that they are getting the full amount of their bonds to traffic upon, it is just possible that they may ask a bonus, or perhaps they will want two dollars in currency for each dollar in bonds held by the government as security. Just wait and see; it is not the welfare of the country for which they are solicitous but it is for their own interest, and production will have the bill to pay.

Telegram; Oxnard, the crack lobbyist of the best end of the Sugar Trust, is already at Washington, and has begun his campaign against a law for reciprocity with Cuba. He is likely to have harder work than he did last Spring, but the Sugar Trust has a very large sack, and Oxnard is an expert on Congressional caliber and character. Roseburg Review: Work is still delayed on the Great Central townsite addition to this city by the lack of building materials. A small supply has now begun to arrive and it is expected the "deadlock" will soon be broken.

A Rooseveltian Epigram.

President Roosevelt is quoted as saying that the meaning of the elections is that "the people have given the Republican party a chance to 'make good,' and in partial explanation of this remark he added that "the prices of commodities had risen more rapidly than the prices of labor, and it would be the business of the Government to reduce the first without lowering the second." This is an intimation that the government, in the hands of the Republican party, must sincerely set about the task of curbing the rapacity of monopolistic and law-breaking trusts; and there is also in it a possible intimation that the tariff schedules on trust made articles should be abolished or much reduced. On this latter phase of the trust tariff problem—for to a certain extent trusts and tariff constitute a single, though a double-headed, problem—the President has never expressed himself plainly, but it would be surprising if he did not finally cast his influence with the tariff reduction wing of the party. No Republican proposes to abandon the policy of protection, but the President probably perceives by this time that protection, as to some schedules, has been greatly overdone, and in some instances and to some extent the mainstay of people-plundering trusts.—Portland Telegram.

The Jolly Good Fellow.

One hears a great deal about jolly good fellows, generous with their money, who would share their last dollar with a friend—if they had a last dollar. But they never have one. They are more given to borrowing than lending. A jolly good fellow is an expensive acquaintance. As a rule, he thinks so little of money that he forgets to pay back the trifling sums that you lend him.

There is a great deal of sickening sentimentality about jolly good fellows. Too often the man who is called a jolly good fellow in the clubs is known as a "dead beat" among the bill collecting gentry, and is an ingrate to his parents and a brute to his wife. If you keep your eyes on the usual jolly good fellow you will observe that the money which he spends so freely, when he has it, is spent mostly for the gratification of his own appetites. In a barroom or a brothel he is as generous as a prince is said to be. His associates and parasites applaud him and call him a jolly good fellow, a true friend, who dives full care away in the traditional manner of gay young blades.

But follow him home and you will see the darker side of the jolly good fellow's character. If you do not find a mother worried and distressed you will find a wife broken-hearted and neglected. You will find children down at heels and out at elbows. You will see the man himself, as he really is, selfish, tyrannical, cruel. He has money or credit with which to treat a crowd of strangers, but he has no money for his family, who have a preferred claim on him. He pays for his whiskey, but not for his meat or his groceries, and he cares not whether he drives his butcher and his grocer into insolvency, so long as the bar keepers keep their places open. The man who is a little "close," or "neat," or "tight-fisted," and who spends his money on his family and home, and is careful of his dollars, and neither lends nor borrows, and pays all his creditors, and saves something for his old age, and leaves his wife and children independent, may be unutterably bourgeois in these respects and may be despised by all jolly good fellows, but he is not without his redeeming qualities.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give you Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O., Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

The next W. C. T. U. meeting takes place Tuesday, at 2:30, P. M., at Mrs. J. S. Tilton's.

A Glorious Battle Hour.

M. A. MAILLAND. He stood with a foot on the threshold, With a cloud on his boyish face, While his city comrade urged him To enter the gorgeous place.

"There's nothing to fear old fellow! It isn't a lion's den; Here waits you a royal welcome From lips of the bravest men."

'Twas the old, old voice of the tempter, That sought in the old, old way, To lure with a lying promise, The innocent feet astray.

"One would think it was Blue Beard's closet, To see how you stare and shrink! I tell you there's nothing to harm you, It's only a game and a drink."

He heard the words with a shudder, "It's only a game and a drink!" And his lips made bold to answer, "But what would my mother think?"

The name that his heart held dearest Had started a secret spring And forth from the wily tempter He fled like a hunted thing.

Away till the glare of the city And its gilded halls of sin Were shut from his sense and vision The shadows of night within.

Away! till his feet had bounded 'O'er fields where his childhood trod; Away! in the name of yirtne And the strength of his mother's God.

What though he was branded "coward" In the blazoned halls of vice, And banned by his baffled tempter, On that page where the angel keepeth The record of deeds well done That night was the story written Of a glorious battle won.

And he stood by his home in the starlight— All guiltless of sword and shield— A braver and nobler victor Than the hero of bloodiest field!

The Punch Bowl.

Punch, says the dictionary, "is a drink composed of water, sweetened with sugar, with a mixture of lemon juice and spirit." People in worldly society have large bowls, that they call punch-bowls. The punch is made in these, and they are then set in a corner of the refreshment room, whenever a party or reception is held, and some beautiful society girl, perhaps not yet more than fourteen years of age, is selected to dish it out into the beautiful glasses while others, as young and thoughtless, pass it around.

If there were only the lemon juice and sugar, it would not matter so much, but the spirit! What a terrible thing for a dear girl to be compelled to put the glass to the lips of her young boy companions, and may be to the lips of her own brothers! The appetite for strong drink is soon formed by taking lemonade, seasoned with spirits, and once formed, the chains cannot be broken.

The drinker must drink and keep on drinking though all that he earns be swallowed up, his health and mind ruined, his brain crazed, and his loved ones slain by his own hand. The young dwellers who dance around the punch-bowls, will fill drunkard's graves by and by, and the young girls who fill the glasses will be cursed, as God has said. They will become the wives and mothers of drunkards, of robbers, of murderers, and tear down instead of building up their country.

It is well for you, young pigmies, that you are out of the whirl of the gay, wicked world, being kept by the power of God, into an inheritance, incorruptible, undefiled and fading, reserved in heaven for you.

Keep your garments unsported. There is no punch-bowl in the house of God; no punch-bowl in the refreshment room of your pastor; no danger of your going down to poverty, disgrace, and death, from anything that will be given you to drink in the social gatherings of the young people of the church. All that you find there will be pure, and sweet, and life giving.

Contrast the end of the worldling and what you know your own end will be, if you keep on walking in the footsteps of Christ, and you will feel no desire to go where the punch-bowl feast is held.

AUNTIE WINE.

A Magazine Thirty Years Old—The Christmas (December) Number of THE DELINEATOR is also the Thirtieth Anniversary Number. To do justice to this number, which for beauty and utility touches the highest mark, it would be necessary to print the entire list of contents. It is sufficient to state that in it the best modern writers and artists are generously represented. The book contains over 230 pages, with 24 full page illustrations, of which 29 are in two or more colors. The magnitude of this December number, for which 728 tons of paper and six tons of ink have been used, may be understood from the fact that 91 presses running 14 hours a day, have been required to print it; the binding alone of the edition of 915,000 copies representing over 20,000,000 sections which had to be gathered individually by human hands.

Mrs. Fred Unrath. President Coquille Club, Bandon. "After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.
