Fisher and his mother and sister have moved back to Bandon from Parkersburg, where they have been living for the past two or three years. Sunday Welcome: In stentorian tones every republican orator of 1900 shouted that "the republican party could be depended on to deal with the trusts." And again the party kept its pledge, but its "deal" with the trusts seems to be entirely to the advantage of the latter. Roseburg Review: Major L. D. Kinney has just returned from Portland and reports matters connected with the Great Central railway progressing very favorably. Work is going ahead on the new buildings here, despite the frequent rains. Major Kinney now has the plans completed for a modern two-story residence, to cost about $3000, the erection of which, on the eminence toward the north side of the new townsite addition here, will be commenced as soon as the necessary materials can be secured. A large number of neat cottages are also to be erected there as rapidly as the work can be accomplished. Will Ship Frozen Clams. F. S. Dow returned from San Francisco Tuesday, by way of Drain. While in the city, Mr. Dow made arrangements to ship frozen clams to that market. A very little investigation showed him that he could find ready sale for all he could put up, and he will accordingly go into the business energetically. The bivalves will be frozen at the Coos Bay Ice and Cold Storage plant, and will be packed in ice for shipment. This is one of the new industries rendered possible by the establishment of the Ice plant, and it furnishes a new outlet for one of Coos Bay's minor products.—Coast Mail. Press Notices. Read what the Press says of the Great McKanlass and the Alabama Warblers: McKanlass with the Alabama Warblers is without doubt the finest colored organization on the road; a better show or finer singing has never been heard in Toronto.—Toronto World, Sept. 11, 1901. McKanlass is master of the violin. His company gave a splendid "old down south plantation exhibition."—The Leader, Regina, Feb. 5, 1902. The McKanlass Company show was a good one. The singing of Miss Pattie McKinlass, the versatile entertainer of Miss Perry and the violin playing of McKinlass were three exceptional features.—Everett Record, Aug. 18, 1902. The Best Remedy For Croup From the Atchison, Kan., Daily Globe. This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old-fashioned remedy for croup, known as live syrn and toln, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by C. Y. Lowe. WANTED—A TRUSTWORTHY GENTLEMAN or lady in each county to manage business for an old established house of solid financial standing. A straight bona fide weekly cash salary of $150.00 paid by check each Wednesday with all expenses direct from headquarters. Money advanced for expenses. Manager, 340 Caxton Bldg., Chicago.

Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises and sprains. For sale by C. Y. Lowe. The Steamer Rogue River a Total Wreck. The following is from the Port Orford Tribune of last week: The river steamer Rogue River is wrecked. In an attempt to reach the Copper mines with an outfit for a stamp mill, Captain Burns lost his vessel and entire cargo, including boiler and engine for the mines and several tons of freight for parties along the river. While making the last rifle, and within one-half mile of their destination, the line with which they were caging parted, and the steamer, unable to control herself in the raging stream, struck a rock, damaging her wheel and disabling her rudder. Seeing that she was leaking badly, and drifting helplessly down the stream, the crew launched a boat and pulled to shore, while Captain Burns and engineer Jensen remained at their posts until there was no longer any possibility of gaining control of their vessel, when they, too, deserted her. In a short time she had struck a rock and turned over, part of the woodwork tearing loose and floating down the river. Before leaving the vessel the crew made repeated efforts to sub their boat, but each time the line snapped like a whipcord. Every means was resorted to, to check her but the rushing torrent proved vastly superior to the powers of the faithful crew. The mishap is another misfortune for Mr. Burns, but comes as no great surprise to the old settlers of the country who have spent years in learning the treachery of that roguish stream. Glasgow Reviving. Coast Mail: Bertram Hancock, a Scotch coal expert was on the Bay recently and thoroughly examined the Glasgow coal land, in which Doctor Tower and some Portland parties are interested. He made the investigation in the interest of an English syndicate who have in view the purchase and development of the property. He was much pleased with the indications, and the Mail is informed that he has made a favorable report to his principals.

Toll is the law of life. The cosmic theme: Web of prevailing prayer and winning strife, Woof of the poet's dream. Each pebble bravely tugs at Pleiades. Each raindrop bears its burden to the sea.
