The old shop back of Dr. Kime's building is rather a dangerous factor. Moss has accumulated upon the roof, and should a spark of fire find lodgment there, it might prove disastrous. Holdups and Burglaries. Bandon has heretofore had immunity from the hold-up gang and has not been bothered with, horse robbing to any extent for some time, but it seems that the sneak thief and the highwayman have both struck the town at the same time, or perhaps both personages are represented in the same individual.

The first indication of highwaymen being a factor in Bandon, budded into life last Sunday night, a week ago, when Ernest Book was returning home from the upper end of town, about 10 o'clock at night. He was on the plank road and about opposite Dr. Kime's office, when a man stepped out of the darkness of the cyprus hedge that grows in front of Robert Walker's yard, and ordered him to throw up his hands. Well the stranger proceeded to go through his pockets and relieved him of what cash he had about him which amounted to about $8.

The next heard from was N. E. Barklow's place. Mr. E. lives in West Bandon and the sneak had been in the house during the family's absence, turned pockets inside out, rummaged through everything and got away with about three dollars that was left in the house.

On Friday of last week the house of George F. Williams received the attention of the thief who tried to unlock a door but broke his key off in the lock. He then broke in a large glass in the door, entered and made a search of the house, turning pockets, rummaging, and leaving general disorder behind. However he failed to find any money and as Mr. Williams had a gold watch chain hanging in sight which was not bothered it is evident that the thief was after money and would not take anything else, at least Mr. Williams and family missed nothing from the house.

On last Sunday the residence of Dr. Kime received the attention of the thief while the family were away from home. On this occasion he found some money belonging to Dr. Kime and family, also five dollars belonging to Mrs. J. B. Gross, in all $11.75 which disappeared with the thief.

Monday night he visited Joe Young's place. Mr. Young on arriving home seems to have met him at the fence between his house and barn or at his barn door and had some kind of acquaintance with him, but we are not advised as to just what, but understand that Mr. Young fired his gun in the air a couple of times as a warning that he better make himself scarce in that locality.

These depredations are becoming far too frequent and a proper effort should be made to apprehend the party or parties who are trying to live at the expense of other people without giving proper consideration in return.

Alarms but no Fire. Bandon had a couple of fire alarms last week which called out the fire boys in a hurry although the blaze in either case was extinguished before the firemen and most of the other people who started for the scene arrived. The first was on Wednesday evening, at the matchfactory, and the alarm was turned in just about the time Bandonians were ready to sit down to supper. However, supper was forgotten in the rush to extend help if it were need. Three trays of matches was the extent of the damage.

On Friday forenoon an alarm was sounded at the woolen mills and another race was on to be on hand in time, but the fire was conquered before the firemen and citizens could get there.

The smoke had caught on fire where the roofstack goes through, but no great damage was done.

The boys have been prompt to get out and a number who are working on the north side of the river were on the scene before the hose cart arrived.

Baseball. Last Sunday's game of baseball between Bandon and Marshfield teams at Bandon, was a very exciting contest throughout. The day was an ideal one, and a great many Marshfield fans followed their team over to Bandon, with the intention of breaking the great spell of luck, which has been following the home team. It was a great game, and the large crowd left the ground feeling well satisfied with the afternoon sport.

The two crack teams engaged in a spirited contest which kept everybody interested throughout. It was clearly proven that Bandon has a very fast bunch, and in fact as a whole the Marshfield boys played a good game, goes without saying, as all who were fortunate enough to be present will agree. The misplays were a little in favor of the visiting team, but the home team did not fail to get its share.

Loh, who pitched for the visiting team was quite steady, and pitched good ball, but was not accorded the support necessary to win out. Baum pitched fine ball, which was handled nicely from the receiving end by Terry McKune, who might in place of Oswell, who was so unfortunate as to be confined to his bed with sickness. Terry is all right anywhere he is asked to play. Baum was hit safely for but three hits, and they were so badly scattered they were rendered useless. Loh was hit for eight safeties, netting four runs, while the visitors failed to get a man across the plate. Baum was gotten in one or two tight places but pulled himself out like a veteran. He was given good edged support to the man, as all players knew they must play ball to win. The visitors scored much better ball than the home crowd indicated, and could easily have won out at any time, by knocking a few safe hits. McKee umpired a fair and impartial game throughout, and not even one of his decisions being questioned. It was not believed that the champion kicker, were he present, could have found fault. The game was quiet and orderly, and taken in all it seems like a shame to defeat such gentlemanly players. The features of the game were too numerous to mention, and as space is limited cannot do so this time.

Manager short was somewhat put out by the defeat of his team, and will try and win back his lost laurels at some game in the near future. Manager Bedillion thinks he can repeat the dose at any time, as he has great confidence in each and all his players. Next Sunday will be the battle for the home team, when they go up against the North Bend bunch, who gave them the hardest battle of the season. Below is the tabulated score. Bandon expects a hard game next Sunday, as three of their best players are down with the mumps, and cannot be able to play.

Table with columns: Team, AB, R, H, E, PO, A, E. Rows include Bandon, Marshfield, and individual players like McKune, Wrenberg, Strub, etc.
