Blue Ribbon State Fair.

The premium list of Oregon's "Blue Ribbon" state fair is now out and being distributed throughout the state. The premiums offered aggregate $12,000 in cash, and are for everything grown on the farm, including live stock, poultry, dairy products agricultural and horticultural products, domestic and liberal arts, etc. Everyone is invited to bring something to the fair this year, and help advertise the state's resources. If you have not received one of the premium lists yet, write M. D. Wisdom, secretary, Portland, Ore., for one.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

Is everywhere recognized as the one remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant to take. It is especially valuable for summer diarrhoea in children and is undoubtedly the means of saving the lives of a great many children each year. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Fought Lunatic in Lighthouse Tower.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Mrs. Nancy Rose, the oldest lighthouse keeper in the United States, is the heroine of a combat in the historic lighthouse at Stony Point, on the Hudson, in which she was pitted against a lunatic. Armed only with a poker the woman, who is 75 years old and has attended the lighthouse half a century, bravely stood her ground and drove back her assailant. The man who made the attack is an Italian. He climbed into the tower, and exclaiming that the light must be torn down, started to demolish it. Mrs. Rose seized a poker and belabored him. He stood the rain of blows a moment and then fled, locking the door as he went. The old lady sounded the fog bell and secured aid. The Italian was locked up.

The Year's Disasters.

Is there danger of the people becoming hardened, seasoned, so to say, to calamities, disasters, and so not feeling the sympathy and exercising the charity that they should, that they would if these calamities came less frequently? There has been a hint that such may be the case, but there is no evidence of it in the manner in which the Heppner people are treated. It is a situation that calls for sympathy, aid, work; and all these are being supplied in good measure.

It is perhaps not inopportune to remember that other places in our country have suffered severely this year. Thousands are homeless and in need of help in the flood-swept valleys of Kansas and Missouri. While there is a great deal "to be thankful for," yet it seems as if disasters were more frequent than ever. Last season was a terrible one in regard to the destruction of human life, with the Pelee disaster establishing a new world record for cataclysmic horror. This year's calamities cannot, of course, in the aggregate compare with that single visitation, but so numerous are the great accidents, and so costly, that it would seem as though the elements were in league to shock humanity into a realization, keener than ever before, of the uncertainty of life and the power of nature.—Telegram.

His Last Hope Realized.

(From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.)

In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1789, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

State of Oregon.

Office of the Secretary of State.

SALEM, June 15, 1903.

To the Fire Insurance Agents in the State of Oregon:

Information has reached this Department to the effect that the "Union Fire Insurance Company of Chicago" has been and is now soliciting insurance, by means of circular letters and otherwise, from agents authorized to represent companies regularly admitted and licensed to do business in this State.

This company is not authorized or licensed to transact business in Oregon, neither is it licensed by the Insurance Department of the State of Illinois or of any other state, so far as can be ascertained, and is what is known as a "wild cat" insurance company.

In soliciting insurance in this State, it is violating the laws which have been enacted for the protection of the interests of the insuring public to secure to the people insurance in sound and reliable companies, to provide available and convenient methods for enforcing the payment of claims and the fulfillment of contracts and to require from the companies their just measure of the revenue required for State purposes.

The insurance laws of this State positively prohibit any fire insurance company organized outside of the state from doing business herein until it makes the requisite deposit and complies with certain statutory requirements, and also provide that it shall be unlawful for any insurance company or association to write, place, or cause to be written or placed any policy or contract for indemnity for insurance on property situated or located in the State of Oregon, except through or by the duly authorized agents residing and doing business within the State.

The requirements of the laws of this State are not so onerous or so expensive as to deter any solvent, honest company from complying. When a company undertakes to do business in this State surreptitiously, in violation of law and without submitting to its obligations, it is a justifiable conclusion that it is either too dishonest to willingly submit to its requirements, or is in an insolvent financial condition. In the event of loss or the refusal of such a company to pay the holder of a policy, he would be compelled to go to the State where it is located to bring suit and collect judgment. If also, for any reason, he should desire to cancel his policy in an unauthorized company, he would have no means of compelling the return of unearned premiums. In short, he is unprotected by any laws of this State. In the case of a licensed company, a policy holder has the security of the deposit made by them and can secure service, in case of suit, upon the resident general agent of the company.

The only possible excuse that can be offered for placing insurance in this class of companies is a possible lower rate. This, however, considering the chances of recovery in case of loss, is certainly "penny wise and pound foolish."

The published reports of this Department are always available for information concerning companies licensed to do business in Oregon and, in the interest of the insuring public and the legitimate authorized insurance companies who are licensed to do business in the State and contribute to its revenues, I respectfully ask the co-operation of all the agents in enforcing the laws, by placing insurance only in regularly licensed companies. Respectfully,

F. I. DUNBAR,
Secretary of State and ex officio insurance Commissioner of the State of Oregon.

Coquille Herald: Dr. Mingus of Beaver Hill, was over to Fishtrap last week to S. M. Rowan, and finds that he is suffering from smallpox. It seems that John Landers, who is suffering from the disease at Bandon, whom we mentioned last week, has been visiting in that neighborhood, and that Mr. Rowan contracted the malady from him. Mr. Rowan's case seems to be in a mild form.

My Country, Up to Date

For The Public.

My Country, 'tis of thee,
Land of Monopoly,
Of thee I sing—
Land where the young and old
Worship the god of gold,
And do as they are told
By the political ring.

My country, 'tis of thee,
Land of monopoly,
Here's to your health—
Land where the tariff's wall
Protects us one and all,
From the enslaving thrall
Of Europe's wealth.

My country, 'tis of thee,
Land where the noble free
Their race have run.
They are supplanted by
Bosses and barons high,
Who live and preach a lie,
And take the bun.

My country, 'tis of thee,
Land of democracy,
That flourished here,
Gone are our equal rights;
Replaced by civil fights.
Ye gods! What fearful sights
Surround us here!

My country, 'tis of thee—
Forever more with thee,
I take my stand.
How can these freedom be
Where men must bend the knee?
There's no equality
Without the land.

My country, 'tis of thee—
Rise from thy lethargy,
And man the heights.
Rise in thy glorious power,
This very day and hour,
And to thy sons restore
Their natural rights!

The Heppner Hills Hero.

From the Portland Telegram.

The awful disaster that wrecked Heppner was not without wonderful incidents, such as we have read of in novels, but supposed never really happened.

A man whose house was swept away somehow got ahead of it in the flood, and all he had was a rope. Seeing his wife in the swirling waters he flung her the rope and drew her to him in the tree. If this had been published in a novel we would have said it was a bad invention, because so unreal. Yet it is said to have happened on Willow Creek last Sunday evening.

Tom Matlock, his family being swept away, saw one of them, a little girl, at a distance in the flood. Bystanders told him it was certain death to him to venture into that torrent; no matter, he did not care; he plunged in and came out alive and saved the child.

There were other wonderful incidents. It was a time of terror. The man who could both think and act in a moment might do some little good, might possibly save himself or some one else; but for the most part the crushing blow fell so suddenly, so overwhelmingly, nothing was to be done.

There was one man, however, Leslie Matlock, who had an opportunity to act, and seized it. He in an instant comprehended the awful situation. He rushed to a stable mounted a horse and rode—rode—and shouted—cried the alarm—down the canyon. The rushing wall of water was behind him—not far. At points, if it had overtaken him he could not have escaped, could not have climed the sheer rocks on either side. He knew that; no matter; he did not care. What was his life? Hundreds were doomed, dying; he would save what he could.

There was a man who, with less beneficial effect, rode down through the Johnstown Valley on that awful day when the reservoir burst. Longfellow in mellifluent lines, tells of the ride of Paul Revere; but, lo! we have here a hero of the Heppner Hills, who rode till his horse dropped dead, and his voice was scarcely audible, racing down before the terrible flood! He was a man who thought and acted—and both had to be done at once, at once!

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. Thedford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Thedford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Morgan, Ark., May 25, 1901.
I cannot recommend Thedford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.
