EDITORIAL

The automobile is the plaything of the wealthy class—Well, let them have it—Dissipation was giving a good many of them an early passport into the world beyond, but the auto has accelerated the speed at which they pass out. The next "crying need" will be an anti-auto crusade to stop the destruction of millionaires.

The department store is to have another boom. A New Jersey corporation with a capital stock of $5,000,000 has been incorporated to buy up stores and combine them into department institutions. The middle men must finally get out of the way. There is no place for them in our present system. The employer with enormous wealth, on one side and the employed on the other, is what competition is tending to, with disaster beyond that stage.

F. W. Lough and wife, the Sweet Singers, from Waynetown, Indiana, were here from Friday until over Sunday engaged in temperance work. Mr. Lough and his wife have excellent ability as singers, while Mr. Lough is a fearless and fluent speaker who is striking some merited and hard blows at present conditions, prominent among which, are his denunciations of the present and general standard of Christians as measured by their energy of purpose and demeanor.

Wall street is on nettles again, and a sleeping volcano of financial disaster is a constant menace, and the inquiry pertinent to this condition might be made. Is not Morgan, the great combiner equal to the emergency? The answer is No. Morgan is a God. He has great knowledge of combinations, but his finite mind cannot pierce the future and behold the energy nor scope of the force which he brings into existence through his schemes, hence, the uneasy conditions which are haunting the great business center of the world.

Do not be led without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery) says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I need one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint to any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Shooting Accident.

From Friday's Coast Mail.
About 10 a. m. today Ray Cox, of Ross slough had the misfortune to receive a charge from a 44 Winchester rifle in his right hand the ball tearing his hand so that it was necessary to amputate the member at the wrist.

Dr. Straw was summoned and performed the operation. The young man is 16 years of age.

The rifle was setting up against a log when his dog accidentally knocked it over and in his attempt to catch the gun received the charge. Mr. Cox stood the operation well, though having lost considerable blood from the necessary long wait for a physician.

Coguille's New Water Works.

Bulletin: On Tuesday evening our city council awarded to W. H. H. Coguille, of Seattle, the contract for putting in our new water works system. The contract price for the building of the reservoir, laying the pipe etc is $3000. Mr. Mitchell has had a great deal of experience in this line and he informs us that when everything is completed Coguille will have a water system that all will be proud of. The contractor left on Wednesday for Seattle and will return in 10 days when operations will begin. Mr. Mitchell figures on having the entire system completed in from 60 to 90 days providing the labor can be secured.

Nearly Forfeits His Life

A runaway almost ending fatally, started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. For four years it defied all doctors and all remedies. But Buckle's Arnica Salve had no trouble to cure him. Equally good for Burns, Bruises, Skin Eruptions and Piles. 25c, at C. Y. Lowe's Drug Store.

ESCAPED AN AWFUL FATE.

Mr. H. Higgins of Melbourne, Fla., writes, "My doctor told me I had Consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the road to recovery. It surely saved my life." This great cure is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist. Price 50c & $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Drowned in Hunters Creek.

Roy the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Turner, of Gold Beach, aged two years and three months, was drowned in Hunters creek on Wednesday July 29th, 1903. The little one had slipped away from the house, which is situated about 200 yards from the creek, and his absence was not discovered until a passer-by informed Mr. Turner, who was loading hay, near by, that the child was wading in the creek, riding a stick horse. Mr. Turner immediately sent his son, Asa, for the child, but Asa soon returned, saying he could not find him. Mr. Turner then made a hurried search along the creek, and thinking the little one might have returned home, hurried to the house. Finding that such was not the case, a search of the creek was instituted, both father and mother wading up and down, until at last the little one was found lying on his back in about one foot of water, one little hand protruding out of the water. Every effort possible was made to bring the child back to life, but although it was thought he had not been under water more than fifteen minutes, all efforts proved unavailing. Roy was a bright little child and the pride of his parents, who are overcome with grief at their sad loss. The funeral occurred at the Gold Beach cemetery Thursday afternoon, and was largely attended by relatives and sympathizing friends. Mr. and Mrs. W. Sutton, of this place, grand-parents of the deceased, left for Gold Beach immediately on being informed by telephone, returning home Sunday evening.

Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by C. Y. Lowe.

Rooster Located Body.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 4.—Superlatively Japanese have a peculiar method of locating a corpse of a drowned person by invoking the aid of a rooster. The rooster, when liberated, is supposed to light in the water above the exact spot where the corpse is.

There was a Japanese drowned near Nanaimo. Every attempt was made to find the body, but in vain. Early the next morning, just as dawn was breaking, three Japanese alighted from a buggy carrying a slatted box, which contained a rooster. They went to the edge of the river, took out a rooster and threw him high in the air. He lit on the water near the far shore below the falls. The Japanese hurried across and found the corpse in three feet of water just where the rooster had lit.

Kansas City Star: A young man who holds a humble position in a printing office is very fond of the daughter of a minister, but his devotion to her is comparatively new. The other Sunday he went to church to hear the father of his inamorata preach, and unfortunately sat down where everybody could see him. The text was: "My daughter is grievously tormented with a devil."

Saloons Have Bars.

"A bar to heaven, a door to hell: Whoever named it, named it well; A bar to manliness and wealth, A door to want and broken health. A bar to honor, pride and fame, A door to sin, and grief, and shame, A bar to hope, a bar to prayer, A door to darkness and despair. A bar to honored, useful life, A door to hawking, senseless strife; A bar to all that's true and brave, A door to every drunkard's grave. A bar to joys that home imparts, A door to tears and aching hearts; A bar to heaven, a door to hell—Whoever named it, named it well."

The Things He Lost.

The following speech, which is quoted in Weapons for Temperance Warfare, was made by a reformed drunkard at a temperance meeting: "I have been thinking since I came into the meeting tonight about the losses I have met with since I signed the pledge. I tell you there is not a man in the society that has lost more by stopping drink than I have. Wait a bit until I tell you what I mean. There was a nice job of work to be done in the shop today, and the boss called for me. 'Give it to Law,' says he; 'he's the best man in the shop.' 'Well, I told my wife at supper time, and she says, 'Why, Lawrie, he used to call you the worst! You've lost your bad name, haven't you?' 'That's a fact, wife,' says I, 'and it ain't all I've lost in the last six months, either. I had poverty and wretchedness, and I've lost them. I had an old ragged coat and a shock-in' bad hat, and some water proof boots that let the water out at the toes as fast as it went in at the heels. I've lost them. I had a red face and a trembling hand, and a pair of shaky legs that gave me an awful tumble now and then. I had a habit of cursing and swearing, and I've got rid of that. I had an aching head and a heavy heart, and worse than all the rest, a guilty conscience. I thank God I've lost them all! 'Then I told my wife what she had lost. 'You had an old ragged gown, Mary,' says I, 'and you had trouble and sorrow, and a poor wretched home and plenty of heartaches, for you had a miserable drunkard for a husband, Mary! I thank the Lord for all that you and I have lost since I signed the Good Samaritan Pledge!'"—Ex.

Waiting for the Earthquake.

Judging from the contentment which some Christians seem to manifest, the following little incident illustrates their attitude toward church work. They, too, are "waiting for an earthquake," instead of digging potatoes for themselves and the hungry ones about them. A traveler in Georgia met a general-looking old fellow sitting astride a fence, and thoughtfully smoking. He gave greeting: "Good-morning!" "Mawning, stranger!" "How's times?" asked the traveler. "Put 'em to table, stranger. Had some trees to cut down. Cyclone came 'long an' leveled 'em for me." "Well, that was good!" commented the stranger. "Yes—guess 'twas. Lightning 'tother night set fire to the brush, an' saved me the trouble of burnin' it." "Remarkable! Work all done then, eh?" "Not yet, stranger. Waiting now for an earthquake to come 'long an' shake the taters out of the ground."
