EDITORIAL

Rev. Archibald, of the Advent faith, is holding a series of meetings in the G. A. R. Hall, this week. His theme for the week is the "fulfillment of prophecy."

The "green goods" men are on the alert again, one of Bandon's citizens having received a communication a few days ago, in which a proposal was made to sell him a lot of their goods.

Manager Held to Visit Portland. E. J. Holt, manager of the Oregon & California Coast Steamship Co., is expected to arrive in this city tomorrow from San Francisco.

For some time past there has been more or less talk about the company putting on a new steamer to ply between Portland and Coos Bay, and it is surmised that Mr. Holt's visit here at this time, may have something to do with that contemplated project.

At present Coos Bay has no direct steamer connection with this city, although the Alliance, Dispatch and Prentiss stop on their way down the coast to San Francisco, and also on their return voyages.

Recently new industries have been opened up at North Bend, one of the most thriving towns down there, and it is believed that the company is preparing to put on the talked-of line much sooner than the general public believes.

It is believed that Manager Holt is inquiring into this matter. The new steamer, traffic men say, would always secure an outward cargo of general merchandise from Portland, but the difficulty heretofore has been to get freight for the return trip.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used.

More Hints

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension, will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed.

There's nothing so effective to cure disorders of the Liver or Kidneys, as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic and effective nerve, and the greatest all-around medicine for run down systems.

It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

His Life Saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. "B. L. Byer, a well known cooper of this town, says he believes Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy saved his life last summer.

He had been sick for a month with what the doctors call bilious dysentery and could get nothing to do him any good until he tried this remedy. It gave him immediate relief," says B. T. Little, merchant, Hancock, Md. For sale by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

It Saved His Leg. P. A. Danforth of LaGrange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For Ulcers, Wounds, Piles, it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cts. For sale by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

Where The Money Goes. Our annual strong drink bill is $1,000,000,000. The tobacco that Uncle Sam's pipe burns up every year costs $625,000,000. We buy more tobacco than bread, yet even the bread costs us $900,000,000.

For things made of iron and steel - chiefly bicycles, nowadays - we pay $560,000,000. What we make of wood - not including nutmegs - costs us, for sawed lumber alone, $495,000,000. Our boots and shoes, with the ornments thrown in, cost us every year $335,000,000.

Our annual bill for sugar and molasses is $225,000,000, and still not everyone is sweet. Our rocking chairs, to be lazy in, and other furniture, costs us yearly $175,000,000. And for foreign missions, for the spread of the kingdom of God over the earth we pay yearly only $5,000,000. - Golden Rule.

Two Kegs of Rum. Late one autumn a whaler on her return voyage drew up in front of a populous village on an island in the northern part of the Behring Sea. A lively trade ensued with the natives, who were anxious to make their bargains quickly and in pursuit of the walrus, which were then passing and which every year provided the winter's food supply.

But in addition to the legitimate articles of trade a couple of kegs of strong rum were put ashore, and the schooner sailed away for San Francisco with all the wealth of the village. By the time the natives had finished the rum and got over its effects, the walrus had all passed, there was no supply of food put up for the winter, and ice was beginning to drift in the sea. The result was inevitable. The next whaler that called at the island was able to take home an interesting collection of bones and skulls of the Eskimo type to an ethnological institution, but there was no man, woman, or child left to live on the rum-stricken island, to tell the story of starvation and death. - From "Through the Subarctic Forest," By Washington Field.

"A Man Named John Wesley." In one of her lectures, Frances Willard told the story of a young nobleman who found himself in a little village away off in Cornwall, where he never had been before. It was a hot day, and he was thirsty, and his thirst increased as he rode up and down the village streets seeking in vain for a place where something stronger than water could be had.

At last he stopped, and made impatient inquiry of an old peasant who was on his way home after a day of toil. "How is it that I can't get a glass of liquor anywhere in this wretched village of yours?" he demanded harshly.

The old man, recognizing his questioner as a man of rank, pulled off his cap and bowed humbly; but nevertheless, there was a proud flash in his faded eyes as he answered quietly: "My Lord, something over a hundred years ago a man named John Wesley came to these parts," and with that the old peasant walked on.

It would be interesting to know just what the nobleman thought as he pursued his thirsty way. But what a splendid testimony was this to the preaching of John Wesley! For more than a century the word that he had spoken for his Master had kept the hard case of Aruncheon out of that village; and who can estimate the influence for good thus exerted upon the lives of those sturdy peasants? What nobler memorial could be desired by any Christian minister?

"I have been troubled with my stomach for the past four years," says D. L. Beach, of Clover Nook Farm, Greenfield, Mass. "A few days ago I was induced to buy a box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. I have taken part of them and feel a great deal better." If you have any trouble with your stomach try a box of these Tablets. You are certain to be pleased with the result. Price 25 cents. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

FOR SALE - 100 acres of land; 120 acres creek bottom, covered with alder and salmon brush; 7 acres plow land and 12 acres in pasture; house and outbuildings; 10 miles South of Bandon, on Four-mile Creek; price $1,500. For particulars address P. B. Truman, 304 Shaner St., Portland, Or.
