The freight and passenger war, especially that for the passenger traffic, seems to be on with the Coquille Transportation Companies. Three boats leave Bandon, each morning, now, the Liberty, Dispatch and Rota, the Rota being used to carry the way mail, so as to enable the steamer Dispatch to make better time. The steamer Favorite leaves Coquille in the morning, and returns there in the evening, and we understand that the Antelope will be put on that run when the fishing season ends. This will make five steamers plying between Bandon and Coquille, daily, if none are taken off the route.
The Moon Still Shines.
Myron Shannon arrived home the latter part of last week, coming up the coast from Humboldt County, and brought word that he passed Charles L. Moon on the road this side of Cheto River.
Mr. Moon was afoot and going south. Myron thought at the time he met him that it was Charles Moon, and when he came home and found that Mr. Moon had disappeared, he felt sure that he was right in his conjecture.
It has been further learned here that Mr. Moon exchanged shoes on the night of his disappearance, with another man, getting a lighter pair, which rather indicates that he intended to do some walking.

Gave up Life on Coquille Bar.
Again it becomes our unpleasant duty to chronicle a disastrous incident that took place on the Coquille Bar, which took from our midst one of our residents, and a very useful man, Capt. John Jorgensen, master of the schooner Advance.
The incident occurred shortly after three o'clock, Monday afternoon, and was about as follows:
The Tag Triumph made fast to the steamer Chico to help her over the bar, and Capt. Jorgensen, whose vessel was ready to sail, went along to observe conditions and see what the chances were to tow out.
On arriving on the bar, Capt. Jorgensen, it appears, was sitting on the starboard rail of the tug just back of the davits, with his elbows on his knees, his face covered with his hands, and his back toward the bow of the vessel. When opposite the end of the South jetty, the tug shipped a small sea and the water rushed back between the deckhouse and the rail, and threw Mr. Jorgensen overboard.
He was a good swimmer, and soon appeared, but it seems that he was struck by the bow of the Chico. He was thrown a rope from the steamer which he caught and held on to for a short time, being drawn through a breaker for some distance. He then let go and swam shoreward into the river for some distance, making rather a feeble effort toward the last. His head finally dropped, and he floated face downward upon the water, and a few minutes later, perhaps five minutes after his head fell forward, the life saving crew, which had made its way to the scene with all possible speed, picked him up.
He was brought ashore, and every effort was made that could be, to resuscitate him, but to no avail, and the effort was finally abandoned.
One side of the face turned very black after death, and judging from this it is very probable that he was injured to a considerable extent when struck by the Chico. Some think that death was caused by collision with the steamer rather than drown ing.
Deceased was a native of Denmark, 46 years of age, and leaves a wife and five children, and a host of friends to mourn his untimely end.
The funeral obsequies were conducted under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity. Rev. W. Horsfall preached a funeral discourse at the hall, after which the concourse marched to the cemetery, where the Masonic rites were observed. J. J. Lamb, of Coquille, conducting the ceremony. Interment took place yesterday afternoon.
The attendance at the funeral was quite large, there being persons present from Coquille and the lower river, besides those from Bandon and vicinity. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community.

A Wonderful Escape.
Fred Gross, of this place, passed through a wonderful experience on Wednesday, of last week, and the wonder is that he escaped without injury.
He and a companion had gone down to Crook's Lake neighborhood, to hunt, and were on what is now known as the Gardner ranch. Fred was leading his horse along through the fern and came upon some planks, apparently lying upon the ground, over which he endeavored to lead his horse.
When well upon the planks the thought occurred to him that perhaps there was a well under them, and as the thought came to him, he halted, and just as he did so the planks gave way, and down he went into a well, the horse after him and his dog on top.
The well was dry or perhaps results might have been different. Fred went stiff legged to the bottom, and the horse after. When they struck the bottom, he found himself lying with his head between the horse's hind feet, while the front ones were one on each side of his body. From this position he was able to crawl out from under the horse, which had broken its neck in the fall, and his companion was able to pull him out with the aid of a rope.
Although the well was about twenty feet deep, Fred escaped without injury, one shoulder being a little sore afterward, the only suggestion that he had been struck or bumped up solid against anything during the incident.

Think of It.
In that the oil gears and produce friction, which wears the delicate bearings, destroys their high finish, and perfect fit; thus ruining an accurate time piece.
When you do this do not blame the jeweler because he cannot make it run as accurate as it did before.
An ordinary machine is oiled daily. Your watch from which you expect correct time should be cleaned and oiled once a year.

Better Than Pills.
The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is—They are easier and more pleasant to take, and their effect is so gentle and so agreeable, that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels, but improve the appetite and aid the digestion. For sale at 25 cents per bottle by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

Houses Flooded Through Chimneys.
Mention is made in the news notes of the downpour in New York, and damages attending, but the following from the Telegram will give a better idea of the amount of water that poured out of the clouds:
"The storeroom in the basement of Bellevue Hospital was flooded, and stores to the value of $5,000 ruined. The downpour in the early morning was so great that the rain went down the chimneys of many East Side tenement shops, putting out fires and flowing into rooms. In several blocks the tenants of the tenement houses placed canvas covers over the chimneys. Blockades on the surface lines were frequent during the morning on the upper West Side. At Forty-second street and Broadway the water flowed into the excavation for the new Times Building, making a lake 15 feet deep, and doing considerable damage. The subway excavation from Forty-second to One Hundred and Fourth streets, was flooded.
The tracks of the New York Central, along the Hudson River, were covered with water. Pine street, from Broadway to Beaver street, one of the busiest parts of the financial district, was almost undermined through the washing away of a newly constructed sewer. Parts of the sidewalks and streets cracked perceptibly, and because of a number of breaks in the steam pipes of the New York Steam Heating Company, the broken street surface gave out something like an active volcano.
A six-inch water main in Pearl street burst, tore up the pavement and flooded a 25 foot excavation for the Beaver building."
Rainfall Ten Inches.
"At 2:30 p.m., today, the record at the Weather Bureau gage showed an additional rainfall of 3.76 inches since 9 o'clock this morning, making the total rainfall in New York and vicinity, 9.90 inches since 9 o'clock yesterday morning."

Many Mothers of a Like Opinion.
Mrs. Pilmer, of Cordova, Iowa, says: "One of my children was subject to croup of a severe type, and the giving of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy promptly, always brought relief. Many mothers in this neighborhood think the same as I do about this remedy, and want no other kind for their children. For sale by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
No one who is acquainted with its good qualities can be surprised at the great popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only cures colds and grip effectually and permanently, but prevents these diseases from resulting in pneumonia. It is also a certain cure for croup. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given. It contains no opium or other harmful substance, and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. It is also pleasant to take. When all of these facts are taken into consideration, it is not surprising that people in foreign lands, as well as at home, esteem this remedy highly, and very few are willing to take any other after having once used it. For sale by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.
