EDITORIAL

A New York man laughed himself to death at a joke that was got off in a theatre, and now the unenlightened is wondering if the jester really got off something new.

War rumors from the Orient are again coming thick and fast. Lately it was Persia and the Turk, but now that conditions have quieted down for a time in that quarter, the military activity of Japan has set the Russian bear to growling, and it is just possible that there will be a fearful scuffling of the peaceful intentions which these two nations claim toward each other.

It is but a few years since Russia called a peace conference of the nations of the world, and since that time there has been more actual war than was waged in a quarter of a century before, although it has been but a half a decade since the conference. Russia seems to have been foremost in bringing about the conference, but although advocating peace measures, she has never ceased war preparation, and now is said to be getting ready as fast as expedient for the fray that is evidently coming on, sooner or later in the far east.

Noah was the first man to advertise. He advertised the flood and it came all right. The fellows who laughed at the advertising got drowned and it served them right. Ever since Noah's time the advertiser has been prospering, while the other fellow is being swallowed up in the flood of disaster.

A Tooth for Tooth Measure.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Organized capital, through its anti-boycott and employers' associations must stop its raid on the savings of the trade unions, or the union men will withdraw $300,000,000 from the banks.

Such is the statement made by Thomas I. Kidd, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, after an investigation of the damage suits which the American Anti-Boycott Association and Employers' Association have filed against trade unions within the last three months.

Mr. Kidd intimated that it was within the power of union labor to throw this country into a financial panic by taking from circulation the $300,000,000, which he says that labor controls.

In this connection it may be stated that the money stock of the country approximates $2,275,000,000.

Starved in a Land of Plenty.

San Bernardino, Cal., Oct. 7.—Mrs. William Stephens died this morning from actual starvation. The family came here some months ago from the East. Stephens could not get sufficient work to keep his family provided for.

Recently neighbors reported to the Associated Charities that the family was in a starving condition. Mrs. James Boyd, president of the society, called at the house and was shocked at the sight which confronted her.

Mrs. Stephens had been confined two weeks before, and since then had received no care for herself or babe, even being without the common necessities of life. Mrs. Boyd purchased some provisions, and while in the act of frying some meat the three little children crowded about her, snatched the meat from the pan and gnawed it raw like wild beasts.

They then seized the loaves of bread, too famished to wait to have them cut, and bolted the bread in great mouthfuls. It was the first square meal that they had had for weeks.

Cause of Lockjaw.

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ which exists plentifully in street dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried beneath the skin as in the wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded, the germ is roused to activity and produces the most virulent poison known. These germs may be destroyed and all danger of lockjaw avoided by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely as soon as the injury is received. Pain Balm is an antiseptic, and causes cuts, bruises and like injuries to heal without maturation and in one third the time required by the usual treatment. It is for sale by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

A Thoughtful Man.

M. M. Austin, of Winchester, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills, and she got relief at once, and was finally cured. Only 25cts at Lowe's Drug Store.

When His Wife Struck.

The walking delegate never tired of talking about the strike. He held that it was justified, if ever a strike was, and he was prepared to demonstrate that it was perfectly proper to strike to secure a desired result. He told his wife so, says the Albany Argus, and she appeared to agree with him. She said it seemed the easiest way.

That night when he came home he found that the table was not set. "I want a new dress," she said when he asked what the trouble was. "I know. You've been bothering me for that dress for a month," he said, "but how about supper?"

"There isn't any," she replied; "this is a strike." "A strike!"

"Yes. I've been trying to secure a peaceable settlement of this trouble for some time; now, I've struck." "Do you dare—"

"Oh, don't talk to me that way! If I can't get you to arbitrate, why, I've got to strike."

"But, Mary, you don't understand." "Oh, yes, I do. I've made my demands, and they've been refused. I've asked for arbitration with a view to compromise, and that also has been refused. A strike is all there is left, and I've struck."

"But your demands are unreasonable." "I don't think they are."

"You're no judge." "You're the judge of your own demands when you strike, and I want something. It's no use talking. The strike's on."

She folded her arms in a determined way, and he subsided. It was, perhaps, half an hour later when he looked up and said:

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" "Nothing," she replied. "The strike is still on."

"Aren't you hungry?" "No. I saw that there was something in the treasury before the strike was ordered."

"Meaning the pantry?" he remarked. "Meaning the pantry," she repeated.

"I believe I'll get a bite," he said. "It's locked," she replied. "The reserve is to be used to keep the strike going. You can't touch the striker's resources."

"Be careful, Mary!" he said, warningly. "If I shut off the cash—" She nodded towards the locked pantry.

"I can stick it out a week," she returned. Five or ten minutes later he proposed that they compromise on the basis of ten dollars.

"Twenty," she said, firmly. "But I can't afford it," he protested. "That's your business," she answered. "I offered to arbitrate once."

It was ten o'clock that night when he finally gave in, and somehow he felt he had experienced a new phase of the strike business. It looked different from the other side of the fence.—Exchange.

Not a Love Kite. Winnemucca, Nev., Oct. 8.—Harry Egbert, the desperado who killed two men at White Horse, Harney County, Oregon, Sunday morning, and escaped across the line into Nevada, is still at large, but is known to be within a few miles of Winnemucca, on a jaded horse, and out of food supplies. His capture is looked for at any time.

One of the most determined men on his trail is a Deputy Sheriff from Harney County, who was present when Egbert started to leave the scene of the double murder. Egbert held the Deputy covered, and threatening to shoot him dead if he did not obey, compelled him to approach and kiss him good-bye.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

The next W. C. T. U. meeting takes place Tuesday, at 2:30 P. M., at the M. E. Church.

Temperance. FIFTEEN YEARS AGO. I wandered to the grogshop, Tom; I stood beside the bar and drank a bowl of lemonade, and smoked a bad cigar;

The same old kags and jugs were there, the ones we used to know. When we were on the round up, Tom, some fifteen years ago.

I asked about our old-time friends, those cherished sportsmen, and some were in the pen; and one, the one we liked the best, the hangman laid him low;

The world is much the same, dear Tom, as fifteen years ago. New crowds line up against the bar, and call for crimson drink;

New hands are trembling as they pour the stuff they shouldn't drink. But still the same old water-worn rings, "This round's on me, you know!"

The same old cry of doom we heard some fifteen years ago. I wandered to the churchyard, Tom, and there I saw the graves.

Of those who used to drown themselves in red fermented ales, and there were women sleeping there where grass and daisies grow.

Who wept and died of broken hearts, some fifteen years ago. And there were graves where children sleep, have slept for many a year.

Forgetful of the woes that marked their fitful sojourn here, and death a tall, white monument, in death there lie they low.

The man who used to sell the booze some fifteen years ago. —J. S. Holden, in St. Louis Globe Democrat.

When Will They Learn? The unfortunate victims of drink do not seem to realize that they are enriching the coffers of drink-sellers who care nothing for them or their helpless families.

They seem not to know that the traffic is fastened on the people by the state, not for their accommodation, but for the sake of the revenue, every dollar of which comes out of the pockets of the drinkers.

The poor victims stand amazed at the high license fees which the sellers hand over to the government with such ease, utterly unconscious, it seems, that every time they pay for a drink, they are robbing their wives and children to help the saloon-keepers pay their licenses and live in luxury.

When will these victims learn that the saloon is the greatest enemy to God and man in all the world!—New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Robbed the Graves. A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day.

Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts, guaranteed at Lowe's drug store.

Fastest Time on Record. Berlin, Oct. 6.—An electric car on the Marienfelde-Zossen experimental line reached a speed of 125.45 miles per hour to day, or a kilometer more than the highest previous record.

The machinery and roadbed were unimpaired. The current was between 13,000 and 14,000 volts, capable of driving the car at the rate of over 200 miles. The lives of all on board the experimental car were heavily insured.

A Great Sensation. There was a big sensation in Leavenworth, Ind., when W. B. Brown, of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma, but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief, and soon thereafter effected a complete cure. Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist. Trial Bottles free.

Miss Ida M. Snyder, Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End C. Club.

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctor's prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for."

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McEne's Wine of Cardui and Theodore's Black-Druggist, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.
