Mrs. S. L. Stanciliff and children leave today for San Francisco, on their way to visit Mrs. Stanciliff's brother, who lives in Southern California. Mr. Stanciliff expects to follow in the course of a few months. C. R. Igle, editor of the North Bend Citizen, came over last Monday in the interest of his paper, and gave this office a call. Mr. Igle is very sanguine as to the future size of his town, and thinks it will be the largest in the county in a short time. The Margarita Fischer Company played here three nights last week to crowded houses, giving excellent satisfaction. They played Sunday night, also, but the attendance fell off materially on that occasion. They expect to appear here again in a few days as they will make about a five week's tour of the county. One of Bandon's young men is lapped or puzzled, or both perhaps. He has received a proposal. It came by mail, but the proposing young maiden, old maid or widow, he does not know which, was in so great a rush that she failed to subscribe her name, and now he is at a loss to know what will become of his chance for an early settlement. However, the year is young yet, and there are others. The Margarita Fischer Co. Among the attractions announced to appear in our city in the near future, is the well-known and eminent actress, Miss Margarita Fischer, in a grand scenic revival of high-class repertoire of late and standard successes. The acquiescent, loving public should feel flattered that Manager Kimes has booked such a well known star as Miss Fischer, and we trust our citizens will turn out en masse and demonstrate that they appreciate the efforts of the Manager in securing such leading attractions. Miss Fischer has started with her own Metropolitan Company in all the leading cities of the Pacific Coast, and at all points was met with a most liberal patronage, and received the highest encomiums from both public and press. For the present tour of the organization, the Management have engaged the best talent available, and all were secured with a view as to the special fitness of his, or her, as to the part to be performed. The plays are interspersed with specialties from beginning to end, in which all the latest songs and dances are introduced by the different members of the company. They carry their own uniformed band and orchestra, giving a street parade and concert daily. Seats now on sale at Lowe's Drug Store. Congratulations. Mr. John H. Cullum, Editor of the Garland, Texas News, has written a letter of congratulations to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as follows: "Sixteen years ago when our first child was a baby, he was subject to croupy spells and we would be very uneasy about him. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in 1887, and finding it such a reliable remedy for colds and croup, we have never been without it in the house since that time. We have five children and have given it to all of them with good results. One good feature of this remedy is that it is not disagreeable to take, and our babies really like it. Another is, that it is not dangerous, and there is no risk from giving an overdose. I congratulate you upon the success of your remedy." For sale by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

The steamer Chico is outside and will come in today. She will sail again on Saturday. The mail from the interior failed to arrive yesterday. The stage is reported to have gone over the grade between Roseburg and Myrtle Point. One of the three passengers was hurt. In another edition will be found the advertisement of J. C. Shields & Son, blacksmiths and wagonmakers, who solicit a share of the public patronage, and ask a trial, believing that they can satisfy both as to quality of work and prices. The New Boat. New Year's Day bequeathed its offering to the Coquille, in the shape of a new steamship, strongly built and elegantly fitted up, with the affable Captain Jensen on the bridge as master. The new steamer was built at San Francisco, and is owned by E. T. Cruz, having been constructed especially for the Coquille trade, and she is certainly the best vessel for the river that has been here yet. Her water line is 142 feet, while her length over all is 150 feet, and her breadth of beam is 35 feet, 8 inches, and her average depth of hold is 9 feet, 9 inches. Her gross tonnage is 363 tons, and her net tonnage 284. She has capacity for 27 first class passengers, and six in the steerage. The boilers, engines, and passenger accommodations are well left, leaving the forward part of the deck for lumber and other heavy freight. Her lumber capacity will be about 350 to 400 M feet. She made the trip from San Francisco to the Coquille in 42 hours, and under favorable circumstances, should travel the distance in 36 hours. It is expected that she will average about 40 hours to the trip. She has been detained by rough bar for two days, but is expected to sail this evening. Her passenger list is as follows: J. Netzer; Carl Danielson, Mrs. Flora Hogan, Urban Fisher, wife and four children, Mrs. S. L. Stanciliff and four children, and R. V. Pierce. Golden Wedding Bells. The fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of J. B. Marshall to Nancy Jane Bogart was celebrated at this place Jan. 1, 1904. An informal program under the direction of Mr. Geo. P. Topping, who was chosen master of ceremonies, was rendered to the entire satisfaction of all present. Guests to the number of about sixty were present. The entertainment began with a song by the choir. This was followed by a salutatory address delivered by Mr. Milton Edmunds. Songs by Messrs. Topping and Denholm and a select reading by Miss Jennie Denholm, put the company into the best of moods to partake of the bounteous repast now awaiting them. All fared sumptuously. At each plate was a button hole bouquet tied with golden ribbon. An hour of heart-felt sociability passed away. Speeches were then delivered by G. P. Topping and Col. R. H. Ross, during which the company evinced many hearty expressions of good feeling. Songs by Messrs. Patterson and D. E. Stitt, added still another enjoyable feature to the occasion. After several perambulations around the hall in step with the wedding march, the guests bade good-bye to their entertainers, and departed for their several homes. The hall was artistically decorated under the supervision of Keeper R. Johnson, the chief feature of which consisted in a background of cedar boughs, upon which was the following inscription in gilded letters, fastened by rods of golden hue, the upper line being arched. Golden Wedding 1854 1904 Mr. & Mrs. J. B. Marshall Happy New Year Salutatory Address Given at the Golden Wedding of Mr. & Mrs. J. B. Marshall. Mine host and hostess and friends: We are assembled this afternoon for the purpose of commemorating one of the happiest events that can occur in the experience of husband and wife, that of celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their wedded life—the golden wedding. It will be of interest to those who are met at this time and place, to know somewhat of the past life of those whom we to-day honor. J. B. Marshall is a native of the State of Ohio. He was born in Mercer Co., Jan. 14, 1833. Through the offering he to-day extends to numerous friends and a cherished family, he again renews and strengthens the original compact with the chosen partner and partaker of the pleasures of life. He again renews the vow to sympathize and soothe should any of the turmoils of life beset them on their way. However highly we may compliment this groom of fifty years, we are prone without hesitation or reserve, to refer to the bride as the "better half." During her maidenhood she bore the name of Nancy Jane Bogart. She also is a native of Ohio, born in Johnson Co., Jan. 12, 1831. As we would like to see her here again for a time, we will therefore mention that she is now in the State of Illinois. Here they became acquainted, and here the attachment that followed resulted in wedlock. Their marriage occurred at Beardstown, Cass Co., Jan. 1, 1854, Justice Vaness officiating. After a sojourn of several years in Illinois, the wave of progress again seized them; they are wafted across the western plains, they scale the Rockies, and fortune directs their steps towards the attractive State of Oregon. They arrive at Grant's Pass, Jan. 6, 1886. After a brief sojourn at this place, a short remove in 1887 brings them to Coos Co., which, since that time, has continued to be their home. We surmise, although we stand upon for correction, that there might have been another westward move had they not been daunted by the perils of the mighty deep, or a distance to cast their lot with Chinese or Filipino. It is quite befitting on this occasion that we lay aside our cares and our years, and recall those scenes and events that will again bring into our presence the joys and smiles of youth. As guests of this worthy and honored couple, we can pay them no greater homage than to live again with them the New Year of fifty years ago. Shall we not then as a fitting tribute to departed days, begin the festivities of this occasion by extending to them the Happy New Year Greeting of their wedding morn? Shall we not live again with them, shall we not down the passing years, recalling only the bright and sunny side of the journey of life, indulging ourselves now and then in befitting compliment or harmless jest? Fifty years of wedded life—a positive evidence, my friends, that these persons possessed the charms and fascinations of youth that lead early in life to the matrimonial altar. Fifty years of wedded life—and to-day not a cloud appears to cast a gloom over the sky of their life's declining eve. At the close of these fifty years we see surrounding them a concourse of many friends, while they and their family present the unusual spectacle of representing four generations. Therefore, to their honor and to our own pleasure, we are able to refer to them as host and hostess, father and mother, grandfather and grandmother, great-grandfather and great-grandmother. Shall we not now extend to them the happiest of all their Happy New Years? A Prisoner in Her Own House. Mrs. W. H. Layha, of 1001 Agnes Ave., Kansas City, Mo., has for several years been troubled with severe hoarseness, and at times a hard cough, which she says: "Would keep me indoors for days. I was prescribed for by physicians with no noticeable results. A friend gave me part of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, with instructions to closely follow the directions, and I wish to state that after the first day I could notice a decided change for the better, and at this time after using it for two weeks, have no hesitation in saying I realize that I am entirely cured." This remedy is for sale by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.
