EDITORIAL

Remember that if you undertake to explain a principle upon which you are not informed, you but expose your ignorance to those who do comprehend it. That which is true will stand, and no amount of subterfuge will be able to overthrow its force.

There are two classes of speculators whose losses bring different results to their respective operators. When the banker speculates upon money left in his care, and loses, he goes into bankruptcy and starts up in business again; but when the cashier speculates on the cash in his charge, and loses, he goes to prison. It is not a difference so much as to whose cash it is, but rather, as to who speculates.

In the death of Marcus A. Hanna, this country has lost the greatest political boss that has ever figured in its politics. While there have been many statesmen whom we believe were far superior to Hanna, in determining what ought to have been done for the welfare of the nation, yet there was no other who could dictate to the big financiers of Wall Street and make them toe the mark when the interests of the party were at stake. Mr. Hanna was one of the greatest at least, if not the very greatest campaign general the world has produced, and there was no other man in the United States who could have accomplished, in 1896, what he accomplished in order to win that campaign.

Steamer Fulton Ashore

The steamer Fulton went ashore last Thursday at Port Orford. She was out of oil and ran in there to await the steamer from Eureka, which arrived on Thursday, but the storm being on could render no aid.

The storm drove the vessel ashore where she lies upon the beach. The crew escaped except the second mate, who was struck by a piece of timber while in the water and lost his life.

The agent who visited her Monday returned yesterday on his way to Marshfield, and said that he was surprised to find the vessel so slightly injured, as she had but a small hole in her, and he thinks that she can be repaired and floated again.

There were sixteen of the crew passed through here. The captain is watching the ship. The vessel was loaded with lumber, and the deckload is lost.

The Oregon Daily Journal's Hearst War Service.

It is manifest that the war which is now on between Russia and Japan will be the most picturesque and thrilling in recent history. It is another case of Goliath and David, and it is within the bounds of possibilities that the results will be quite as surprising in the outcome.

Everybody will want the war news, not in inconsequential dribbles, but in masses, particularly when the exciting events are detailed.

The Journal has made preparations to cover the events of the war fully and adequately. In addition to its regular news service, which will be greatly expanded and supplemented by special service at various points of interest, it has arranged for the complete Hearst news service. As is well known a great staff of noted correspondents are already on the scene. Wherever there is news it will be secured totally without regard to cost. A proportionate part of the cost The Journal will bear, and in consideration of this will receive every line of war news that comes over the cables for the Hearst papers.

This will give us facilities for laying the news before our readers unexcelled by any western newspaper.

The Journal proposes to give its readers the news without regard to expense, and in the exciting days that are now upon us, will set a new mark for newspaper enterprise in this section of the country.

If you want to know what is going on, the place to find it is in the columns of The Journal, and those who want to keep up with the rapid progress of events would do well to send in their subscriptions at once so as not to lose a single issue.

What are They?

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. A new remedy for stomach troubles, biliousness, and constipation, and a good laxative. Price 25c. For sale by C. & G. Lowe, Druggist.

Perfect Confidence.

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Basford, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy, says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject to severe attacks of croup, and it always gives him prompt relief." For sale by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

Committee Stopped Spiritual Shows.

Corvallis, Or., Feb. 10.—A committee of three, determined to probe the secrets of alleged spiritual marvel-workers, prevented any strange manifestations last night at a seance held in this city by W. H. Kanouse, "psychical medium," and F. W. Rowe, "photo medium."

One committeeman sat between the alleged controllers of unseen power and the others sat on either side of the spiritualists. In the past the work of these men has been seemingly miraculous, but last night the spirits could do no more than to go home as "conditions were unfavorable."

Money has been taken from spiritualist followers here for seances, but now faith in the alleged mediums has been shaken, and threats of "Holy Roller Medicine" are heard.

The Custer Battle Field.

A Famous Historic Painting that will be Shown in the Montana State Building at the World's Fair.

Montana will not content herself at the World's Fair by making displays of her agricultural and mineral products, but in the Montana building will exhibit some paintings that will demonstrate that the great western state is not only rich in historical lore and beautiful scenery, but that she possesses artists who can vividly portray them on canvass.

Edgar S. Paxson, of Butte, Montana, will exhibit his famous painting of "The Custer Battle Field," which has attracted so much attention at Washington, D. C. This is one of the most widely known paintings by this artist, and it is said to be the best representation of the celebrated battle field on which the gallant General Custer and his force of brave soldiers were killed. The picture contains more than 200 figures, troopers, scouts and Indians, all in one struggling, fighting mass. The dead and wounded lay all about. There are horses galloping over the dead. Others are wounded and are struggling over the fallen men, most of whom are dead.

This was one of the fiercest battles of the Northwest. Sitting Bull was chief of the Sioux Indians by whom General Custer and his company of soldiers had been trapped. The General is shown in the center of the picture, bareheaded, and fighting for his life. A number of his officers are in the foreground, each in a hand-to-hand conflict with the Indians. The picture is so full of realism that it is said many old frontier soldiers have been seen to weep as they stood gazing at it. The details are graphically portrayed, and the equipment of the soldiers and the Indians is perfect. The painting is valued at $10,000.

Mark Hanna Dead.

Word reached here last Tuesday evening announcing the death of Senator M. A. Hanna, who died at 4:10 Monday evening, at Washington, D. C.

Mr. Hanna had been suffering from typhoid fever, and his death was not unexpected.

The Coquille river was very high Tuesday, being up to the wharf at Lyons' Mill, at Coquille City. There was a large amount of drift running out, and during the day there were two or three hundred saw logs passed out over the bar.

End of Bitter Fight.

"Two physicians had a long and stubborn fight with an abscess on my right lung," writes J. F. Hughes, of DuPont, Ga., "and gave me up. Everybody thought my time had come. As a last resort I tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. The benefit I received was striking, and I was on my feet in a few days. Now I've entirely regained my health." It conquers all Coughs, Colds, and Throat and Lung Troubles. Guaranteed by Lowe's Drug Store. Price 50c, and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

The next W. C. T. U. meeting takes place Tuesday, at 2:30, P. M., at the M. E. Church.

THE TWO GLASSES.

There sat two glasses filled to the brim. On a rich man's table—him to him; One was ruddy and red as blood, And one was clear as the crystal flood. Said the glass of wine to the pale brother, "Let us tell the tales of the past to each other; I can tell of a banquet and revel and mirth, And the proudest and grandest souls on earth. Fell at my touch as tho' struck by blight. Then I was King, for I ruled in might. Then the heads of Kings I have torn the crown, From the height of fame have hurled men down."

I have blasted many an honored name; I have taken virtue and given shame; I have tempted the youth to sip and taste, That made his future a barren waste. Far greater than any king am I, Or any army beneath the sky. I have made the hand of the driver fall, And have sent from the iron rail I have made good ships go down at sea. And the shrieks of the lost were sweet to me— For they said: "Behold! how great you be, And your might and power are over all. Fame, strength, wealth, genius, before you fall. Ho! Ho! pale brother, laugh the 'Wine.' Can you boast of deeds as great as mine?" Said the water glass: "I cannot boast Of a king dethroned or a monarch's host; But I can tell of a heart once sad, By my crystal drops made light and glad; Of thirst I've quenched and brows I've loved, Of hands I've cooled and souls I've saved, I have slept in the sunshine and dropped from the sky; And everywhere gladdened the landscape and eye. I have eased the hot forehead of fever and pain, I have made the parched meadow grow for the grain. I can tell of the powerful wheel of the mill, That ground the flour and turned at my will. I can tell of the manhood subdued by you, That I have lifted up and crowned anew. I cheer, I help, I strengthen and aid; I gladden the heart of man and maid; I set the chained wine-captive free, And all are better for knowing me."

These are the tales they told each other. The glass of wine and his pale brother, As they sat together filled to the brim, On a rich man's table—him to him.

Suicide Prevented.

The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide had been discovered will interest many. A run down system or despondency invariably precedes suicide, and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. At the first thought of self destruction take Electric Bitters. It being a great tonic and nerve will strengthen the nerves and build up the system. It's also a great Stomach, Liver and Kidney regulator. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

Marshfield to have a Pulp Mill.

A movement is now on foot amongst the business men of this city, to establish a pulp mill. A company is being formed and it will be governed by local capital.

We hope this will be the corner stone for numerous industries. We would kindly ask the knocker to bid his hammer for awhile and help the good cause along. All it needs is the backing and the good will of our citizens to start this ball rolling, for once got in and dig.—Coast Mail. well is Maury & Reid's Majestic. Something that fits and gives comfort; something that wears and looks good. You will find them at Brewer's.

Another Case of Rheumatism Cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm.

The efficacy of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the relief of rheumatism is being demonstrated daily. Parker Triplett, of Grigsby, Va., says that Chamberlain's Pain Balm gave him permanent relief from rheumatism in the back when everything else failed, and he would not be without it. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Dragging Pains

2325 Keeley St., CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 2, 1902. I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groin. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all that failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui, that blessed remedy for sick women. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.

Wine-Cardui

Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and blinding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.

THE Fairbank Washer

is Manufactured by
J. W. FAIRBANK,
BANDON, OREGON.

To operate the Fairbank Washer is so simple that any person can learn to use it in thirty minutes, and any boy or girl, ten or twelve years of age, can operate it. With this Washer the clothes are rubbed with an even, steady pressure, which does not tear or injure them. The water is forced through and through the clothes, making them absolutely clean, white as snow, and beautiful.
A Fairbank Washer will save clothes enough in one year to pay its cost, and clothes that would be worn out by the short, sharp process of hand rubbing, or by an ordinary Washer, are comparatively well preserved.
Parties purchasing a Fairbank Washer can have their money refunded upon return of the Washer, if it proves unsatisfactory after a thorough trial has been given it.
