EDITORIAL.

Several Coos County candidates are on the anxious seat, but they will step off, June 6th.

In considering the question of Local Option which comes up at the State election, that fairness should prevail that is characteristic of a liberal, free hearted people. All men should have the right to decide what they wish, the majority being the end of the contest.

The desire to accomplish partisan purposes and to maintain party longevity, often leads the person or persons so inclined into efforts that take on all kinds of phases, but the one that suggests a large Republican vote as a compliment to Roosevelt, outranks the rankest. Voters should vote for men who are honest and who stand for and will use their energy and ability for the highest interests of the nation and leave complimentary voting out.

Coquille Herald: R. M. Morgan, a late arrival from California, has rented from W. B. Rohrer, a portion of his place near Parkersburg.

Coast Mail—Dwight L. Loufbourrow, editor of the Evening Post soon to be established at North Bend, is in town today. Mr. Loufbourrow says that in all probability the Post will make its initial appearance on Thursday of this week.

Oregon Journal: The argument that in order to support Roosevelt next November, it is necessary to vote for the Republican candidates for sheriff, district attorney, assessor, county commissioner, constable, and all the rest, in all the counties of Oregon, in June, regardless of whether they are the better men or not, is one that carries with it the assumption that it is addressed to imbeciles.

Coast Mail: R. E. L. Bedillion the Bandon hotel man, who is interested in the new woolen mill, soon to go in at that place, left for his home today. During his visit of the last two days on Coos Bay Mr. Bedillion, informed a MAIL reporter that there was now no question about Bandon having another woolen mill in the very near future, as the first payment has already been made on the machinery.

Coast Mail: John Ditter, a bachelor, about 60 years of age, who lived all alone in a little cabin on a Ross slough ranch, 4 miles from Marshfield, died at his home last night at 8:30. He was discovered lying on his bed in an unconscious condition and breathing very heavily, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Theodore Hoellipg, the neighbor who made the discovery, sent at once for Dr. MacCormac, but the unfortunate man breathed his last shortly before the doctor arrived.

A Baker City boy, under 10 years old, lately secured by adroit false pretenses over $350 in cash from the Salvation Army of that place. The prosecuting attorney, in his great wisdom, said nothing could be done with the youth, because he was too young to send to the reform school, much less the penitentiary. So the authorities let the boy go, on his promise to be good; but it seems that horses must be lying or standing around loose, as well as piles of money, in that country, for the terrible youth was scarcely out of sight of the district attorney's office till he stole, within 48 hours, three horses—perhaps more. Lots of men up there have so many horses that they might not miss one or two for awhile. The boy's father is a sheep-herder, but it does not seem to have occurred to the wise and astute district attorney to send the boy to his dad, and let him practice awhile on stealing sheep.—Sunday Welcome.

Not A Sick Day Since.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After a few doses I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney troubles and General Debility." This is what B. F. Bass of Fremont, N. C. writes. Only 50c, at C. Y. Lowe's Druggest.

A Runaway Bicycle.

Terminated with an ugly cut on the leg of J. D. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. It developed a stubborn ulcer unyielding to doctors and remedies for four years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured. It's just as good for Burns, Scalds, Skin Eruptions and Piles. 25c, at C. Y. Lowe's Drug Store.

Battleships and Human Lives

(By Ambrose Bierce.)

The passage of the naval appropriation bill was preceded in the senate by some very sensible talk anent the probable abandonment of the modern battleship, now upon its first real trial for its life. In expressing their doubt of this costly, complicated and cumbrous creation's efficiency in actual service, Senator Hale, Senator Gorman and others voiced no new sentiment: distrust of the battleship has long been felt both in and out of naval circles. A battleship may cost as much as $8,900,000—a lot of eggs to put into a single basket. It may carry 800 human lives—a far more serious matter. For $8,000,000 we could build 40 light swift, seagoing gunboats, armed with one heavy and several light guns each. Can any one doubt what would be the result of a combat between the battleship and 40 gunboats? Some of the gunboats might go to the bottom: the battleship certainly would. The invention of gunpowder put an end, virtually, to body armor, which, always costly and cumbrous, was no longer protective. Torpedoes, mines, "submarines" and high power projectiles will inevitably do away with the battleship, probably with the armored cruiser, and navies will again "fight in their shirt-sleeves." A ship costing 10 times as much as another is not 10 times as fast nor 10 times as secure. It is a few times as destructive, very little less vulnerable, and no faster. In one's private affairs one would not think of securing so small an increase of efficiency by so large an increase of expenditure.

Disastrous Wreck.

Carelessness is responsible for many a railway wreck and the same causes are making human wrecks of sufferers from Throat and Lung troubles. But since the advent of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, even the worst cases can be cured, and hopeless resignation is no longer necessary. Mrs. Lois Cragg of Dorchester, Mass., is one of many whose life was saved by Dr. King's New Discovery. This great remedy is guaranteed for all Throat and Lung disease by C. Y. Lowe Druggist. Price 50c, and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Killed His Son.

Owensboro, Ky., May 21st.—Rev. Norman Armour, who murdered his son by striking him with a fence rail, was arrested this morning.

The jail is now heavily guarded, as the farmers at Sacramento threaten a lynching. Armour is cool and says he is willing to take the law's penalty. The killing resulted from the minister's ungovernable and apparently insane temper. The boy refused to quit work in the field when ordered to do so by Armour, and a quarrel followed. The farmer, who is a man heretofore respected, but known to have a violent temper, undertook to punish the boy, when the younger man defended himself with much vigor. The minister, outdone, seized a piece of fence rail and rained blows upon the boy's head until the latter lay dead at his feet.

It is the belief of those who are friendly to the preacher that he is subject to spells of temporary insanity, as this is said to be no isolated case where his temper has taken an almost maniacal tendency.

Feeling in the neighborhood of the crime is particularly high, as the preacher, by his open attacks on certain residents of the locality, has created many enemies, and the district is inhabited by a people many of whom are prone to lynchings on almost any provocation.

Officers declare they will protect the prisoner to the last, no matter how large or desperate the mob may be that attempts violence, and have increased the force guarding the prisoner.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured.

with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. Cured His Mother of Rheumatism.

"My mother has been a sufferer for many years with rheumatism," says W. H. Howard, of Husband, Pa. "At times she was unable to move at all, while at all times walking was painful. I presented her with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after a few applications she decided it was the most wonderful pain reliever she had ever tried; in fact, she is never without it now, and is at all times able to walk. An occasional application of Pain Balm keeps away the pain that she was formerly troubled with." For sale by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

Russian Incompetence.

From the Chicago Tribune.

One reason why the Japanese are forcing the Russians back so rapidly in Manchuria is that they have more men "in the right place," than the Russians have, or, for the present, can have. Another is that they are showing themselves the possessors of more and better brains than the Russian article.

No better proof of Russian military incompetency at the present moment could be desired than the circumstances connected with the evacuation of Niuchang. At the outset of the war the St. Petersburg general staff was stricken with fright lest the Japanese should suddenly decend on the city and overwhelm it. A few weeks ago, on the other hand, the Russians were boasting that the Japanese had delayed so long that they had lost their opportunity and that Niuchwang had been made impregnable. In the meantime troops and guns had been hurried in and the fortifications had been strengthened by much elaborate work. Now the Russians flee at full speed, finding themselves outflanked, and in an untenable position.

Looking back on these events, it is perfectly evident that the Russians have been hopelessly lacking in intelligent understanding of the strategical elements of the war. The presence of the Japanese on the Antung-Mukden road and on the Liaotung peninsula is not some miraculous surprise, but a contingency that was plainly possible from the very beginning. Knowing that their force was not sufficient to make sure of blocking these two lines of invasion, the Russians also have known, that, given these two invading armies, their own position at Niuchwang would become untenable. Apparently they didn't know it, and consequently they wasted all the cash and labor they spent in fortifying Niuchwang and its environs.

They have only themselves to blame for the ludicrous figure they now cut in their flight. They would have commanded much more respect had they abandoned Niuchwang and Port Arthur early in the war and retired to a central position at Liao Yang or Mukden, where they would have been ready to strike hard at the proper time, without the disadvantages that attend their newly formed lines, and without the confusion consequent upon the defeat on the Yalu, and the hurried retreat from two directions toward Mukden.

From MyrtlePoint Enterprise

Some miscreant on Catching Creek has been trying to steal Arlington's saw mill, piece at a time. Lately the safety valve, inspirator and other parts of the machinery were taken from the mill, but were found, however, hidden in a hollow stump. The guilty party is known, and Catching Creek has declared open war on him, and if the business isn't stopped, his hide will be dangling on some Catching Creeker's back fence.

Cal. Devaul, a young man about 17 years of age, was accidentally shot in the right leg, at Norway, Sunday, by Claude Randleman, another young man of about the same age. Randleman was fooling with a 32 calibre revolver and snapping it. The revolver had one load in it and was discharged. The wound is a severe one and it will be some time before Devaul will have the use of his leg.

Sunday Welcome: Tuesday morning the Oregonian declared that the California State Convention of the Democrats would "turn Hearst down." The following morning it was briefly stated that the convention had declared for Hearst, and the story was told in a dozen lines. Poor Hearst has no show to get the Democratic nomination, however, as he has "the influence of the Oregonian" against him.

Try for Health

222 South Peoria St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 7, 1902.

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Georgia Dunbar

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?
