BARNEY'S REDEMPTION

By A. W. WHITENDALE

TITHING on the new after the new was done, the friends of the Bible would have the thing as a matter of course. But the Bible was not done, and the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done.

But on the edge of the new, there was a great deal of excitement. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done.

As the sun set, the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. But the Bible was not done, and the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done.

When the sun went down, the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. But the Bible was not done, and the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done.

When the sun set, the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. But the Bible was not done, and the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done.

When the sun went down, the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. But the Bible was not done, and the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done.

When the sun went down, the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. But the Bible was not done, and the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done.

When the sun went down, the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. But the Bible was not done, and the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done.

When the sun went down, the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. But the Bible was not done, and the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done.

When the sun went down, the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. But the Bible was not done, and the friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done. The friends of the Bible would have to wait until the thing was done.