EDITORIAL.

The article by Alfred J. Waterhouse is quite long, but is decidedly to the point, and we feel certain that our readers will feel well repaid for the time spent in reading it.

Within the past two months the main street of town has been made to look decidedly better. For some time it has been apparent that new walks should take the place of the old, rotten boards, and now that so much has been done, it would be in the line of improvement and cleanliness, if our citizens, and visitors, also, would refrain from expectorating on the walks. Reference is not made merely to the users of tobacco, but more particularly to those afflicted with colds and catarrh. It is not only very unhealthy for every one, but to the majority of people extremely nauseating.

A saloon, under whatsoever conditions, as a thing of helplessness to the world! A saloon, with a vicegerent of Christ as its sponsor! Great God of all the moralities! Now let us be deck and begild Vice and worship her as Virtue, and let us not forget to apotheosize Iniquity.

Cello Postage Road

Whereas, The Legislature of the State of Oregon, for the purpose of furnishing immediate relief to the producers and shippers of the Inland Empire, in the month of January, 1903, appropriated $165,000 for the purpose of building, operating and maintaining a temporary portage railway around the Cello Rapids, and further made it mandatory that the board appointed thereunder should promptly carry out the provisions of the act immediately upon the funds being available, so as, if possible, to afford the relief due the producer and shipper for the growing crop of 1903; and

Whereas, An additional act was passed by the Legislature in special session of January, 1904, appropriating $100,000 for the purpose of purchasing a right of way for the United States Government in the construction of locks and canals for a permanent improvement at the Cello Rapids; and

Whereas, Said acts in no wise conflict, and the power under both acts was placed in the hands of a state commission, consisting of the Governor, the Secretary of State and the State Treasurer, in order that there should be no conflict, and to expedite the relief required; and

Whereas, Said state board has constructed the later act as the later mandate of the people and the more important one in enforcement; now therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the people, through their Representatives in the Legislature, enact the portage road law, deeming it, with its promised speedy relief, the more important measure of the two, and fully realized that the General Government stood committed finally to grant the people of the Inland Empire future permanent relief; and be it further

Resolved, That if compatible with public interest, said board be requested to announce, through the press, the present condition and status of the right of way for the portage railway, and what steps, if any, have been taken to construct said railway under said act; and be it further

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that a failure to construct the said portage railway will indefinitely postpone the necessary relief and expansion and development of the great Inland Empire; and be it further

Resolved, That we request the state board to take such action as will give the people of the Inland Empire the portage road, with its speedy and sure relief; and that copies hereof be sent to the members of the Legislature of the State of Oregon, and to all commercial bodies interested in the development of this state, with the request that they take similar action.

Violent Attack of Diarrhoea Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and Peppermint Cure.

"A short time ago I was taken with a violent attack of diarrhoea, and believe I would have died if I had not gotten relief," says John J. Patton, a leading citizen of Patton, Alabama. "A friend recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I bought a twenty-five cent bottle and after taking three doses of it was entirely cured. I consider it the best remedy in the world for bowel complaints. For sale by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist."

This disease has lost its terrors since Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy came into general use. The uniform success which attends the use of this remedy in all cases of bowel complaints in children has made it a favorite wherever its value has become known. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

This Queer World.

By ALFRED J. WATERHOUSE.

If the devil and all of his little chuckling jinks do not see to it that a vote of thanks is passed and is tenored to Bishop Henry C. Potter for his services in dedicating that New York saloon, then I, for one, shall feel that Satan is without appreciation of a friendly act, and that there is no gratitude in the land of brimstone shoals and ceaseless pyrotechnic display. Opening a SALOON to the drone of a Right Reverend's blessing and to the majestic rhythm and sweep of the grand old doxology!—Why, if Beelzebub did not breathe a sulphurous amen to the blessing, and if his horned and tailed attendants did not chortle a wheezy accompaniment to the doxology, then has hell ceased to recognize when it receives a princely benefit.

A saloon, under whatsoever conditions, as a thing of helplessness to the world! A saloon, with a vicegerent of Christ as its sponsor! Great God of all the moralities! Now let us be deck and begild Vice and worship her as Virtue, and let us not forget to apotheosize Iniquity.

I have not had the privilege of looking within the covers of Bishop Henry C. Potter's Bible and seeing what manner of spiritual (note that I do not say spiritual) message it is with which that smug follower of God and Mammon edifies both himself and his flock. But it is not necessary, for it is easy enough to imagine how its text must read. Here, for instance, must be some quotations from it:

"Blessed is the good article in bottles or jugs, for the resulting jug shall not be unpleasant in the review."

"Blessed are they that mourn for the pure stuff, for they shall be comforted by Budge & Fudge's New Jerusalem Tavern."

"Blessed are they that drink consecrated goods, for they shall inherit the earth—till they recover from the effect."

"Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst—particularly the latter—for the pure quill, for they shall be filled as long as they have the price."

"Blessed is the merciful burglar, for he shall dispense the real thing."

"Blessed are the boozers, for they shall be called the children of the Bishop."

"Blessed are they who are persecuted by a great thirst, for they shall be filled at Budge & Fudge's New Jerusalem Tavern."

"Blessed are ye when men shall say you in, and persuade you, art shall say, 'What'll you have in yours?'"

"Blessed are they who are persecuted by a great thirst, for they shall be filled at Budge & Fudge's New Jerusalem Tavern."

"Blessed are they who are persecuted by a great thirst, for they shall be filled at Budge & Fudge's New Jerusalem Tavern."

"Blessed are they who are persecuted by a great thirst, for they shall be filled at Budge & Fudge's New Jerusalem Tavern."

"Blessed are they who are persecuted by a great thirst, for they shall be filled at Budge & Fudge's New Jerusalem Tavern."

and their cases are not few. Would it be a serene satisfaction to Bishop Henry C. Potter to feel that such men began their pitiful careers in dedicated saloons?

It is hard to write of this subject with the patience that might be best and wisest. Here is a man on whom has been placed the anointed robe of sanctity; a great church has chosen him for high honor; he represents Christ on this earth, or, if he does not, he is a false shepherd, and a blind leader of the blind. Yet he drags the robe in the filth of a dedicated shop, chants the doxology to the clinking of wine or beer glasses, and would make of his Master the leader in a most modern saloon business! Why, even the men whom Bishop Potter has indirectly joined in their work of quenching the thirst of an alcohol-cursed humanity, must look on such a man with contempt. They may, or may not, give him verbal welcome in his left-handed assistance, but in their hearts they will despise him. He might have been so high, and he is so—otherwise.

We, who have watched Bishop Potter's smooth and successful worldly career with interest, do not expect a great deal of him in the way of uplifting humanity, for his blossom-bordered path does not lie in the fields where walk or creep most of those who need such assistance, but surely we had a right to expect that he would lead no man to a fall, and just as surely he is doing so with this dedicated, doxologized saloon of his. It is useless to urge that he knew no better, for he had but to open his eyes and he would have known. Men who cannot resist the lure of alcohol in any form are a very real and ever-present factor in this world's assets, and if Bishop Potter does not know it—Well, the best that can be said for him, is that he is an unsafe and unworthy moral guide.

It is a pity, too. We need our best men in our highest places, and especially does the church need them, for the question, Why are the pews empty? presses. Does the dedication of any saloon, whatsoever, by a bishop, tend to properly fill them, think you? And, if you think those strictures upon the right reverend gentleman are unjustifiable, suppose that you answer this question:

Can you imagine Christ dedicating a saloon, with beer glasses to rattle an accompaniment to the doxology?—San Francisco Bulletin.

"I don't think we could keep house without Chamberlain's Black-Draught. I have used it for years with the best of results. I have not had a headache since I began to use it. It is a doctor in itself and saves me a great deal of money."

No Doctor

is necessary in the home where Chamberlain's Black-Draught is kept. Families living in the country, miles from any physician, have been kept in health for years with this medicine as their only doctor. Theodor's Black-Draught cures biliousness, dyspepsia, colds, chills and fever, bad blood, headaches, dizziness, constipation, colic and almost every other ailment because the stomach, bowels and kidneys so nearly control the health.
