EDITORIAL.

The Saviour of men, in speaking of a certain class of worshippers in his day who stood on the street corners to pray, and did their stunts publicly to the men of men, said: "They have their reward." Bishop Potter seems to be getting a reward, also, as the National Liqueur Dealers' Association has passed resolutions of commendation for his action in dedicating the Subway Tavern.

The "Hello Girls" of Portland, have formed a Union and gone out on a strike. The telephone company has imported some employees from Seattle, and hired others who have been put to work to replace the strikers. The company has concluded not only to ignore the Union, but to break it down. It will remain to be seen what kind of texture American girls are composed of when they stand out for what they believe to be their rights.

The Colvig Brothers spoke here Tuesday night in the interest of the Republican campaign. There seems to be a good deal of apathy in political lines, and while Messrs Colvig are pleasant speakers, they drew but a small house and few outside their own political faith. At this stage of the campaign voters have their minds made up, and there is little likelihood of change. Republicans were very much pleased with the effort, and as a matter of course, those of other beliefs were not impressed.

New York saloon keepers have a way of mixing drinks that seems not to agree with their customers. During the past month they fixed about thirty to such an extent that they were ready for the undertaker. This occurred in one locality, and an examination elicited the information that the liquor of the saloons there was bad. If the Board of Health does not step in and change conditions in that locality, one of two things must soon happen there; either the saloon keepers will have to desist the use of wood alcohol, or they will have no customers to drink it.

Portland Journal: Governor Odell practically concedes that to carry New York he must buy a great number of votes. He will get the money? What has become of the civic righteousness that the head of the government disdained upon so solemnly two or three years ago?

Oregon Daily Journal: Coming in on the steamer Alliance this morning from Coos Bay, was the first shipment of hops ever grown in the Coos Bay country. There were 65 bales in the outfit, and those who examined them pronounced them to be of the very best grade. By another year it is estimated that hop raising will be among the leading industries in the Oregon Coast Counties.

The attention that is being drawn to the Coos Bay country and its wonderful resources should stimulate railroad builders to enter in and promote the development of this rich section of the state. In point of fact, Coos County belongs to Oregon only in name. It has, during all of the years since its settlement, been practically without communication with the outside world except by way of the ocean. San Francisco is the home port of its citizens—their market both for selling and buying. They know Portland only in name, and Salem merely as the place where the Legislature meets. In the latter they are interested biennially, in the former, not at all. "The city" to the south of them, is, as before said, their home-port. Much attention has lately been directed toward this section of the state by letters that have been published in The Oregonian. These have set forth plainly and truly the wonderful resources that await development there. The people of Coos County have done much for themselves and their section notwithstanding the fact that they have been seriously handicapped by lack of railroad facilities. They are self-helpers and are worthy of all commendation, and of such material assistance as is necessary to secure railway connection with the world beyond their county boundary line.—Oregonian.

Jags Well Prepared.

We learn that five years before the war began the Japanese commenced sending coolies by the hundreds into Manchuria, with instructions to live with the Chinese therein, fraternize with them, and be in position to furnish true information, when the war began, to the Japanese, and false advice to the Russians. The secrecy which the Japanese commanders have been able to maintain as to the movements of their army—a secrecy that Kuropatkin has over and over again acknowledged himself to be unable to illumine—shows how admirably the Japanese efforts in this direction have been applied, and how completely they were prepared for the campaign they knew to be a question only of months or years.—Cleveland Leader.

Oregonian: Again the Japanese army is victorious, and again the forces of Russia under General Kuropatkin have been shattered and driven back. The stereotyped plea of unreadiness cannot be urged in this instance as the cause of the defeat of the Slavs. General Kuropatkin, in taking the aggressive, declared himself ready to meet his adversary. The latter accepted the challenge, met the Russian army more than half way, and drove it again to cover. Oyama's generalship has again been proven to be superior to that of Kuropatkin, though in the forward movement of the Russian army a few days ago, it looked as if the Japanese commander had the worst of it. The horrors of war were probably never more appalling than they have been in this fierce struggle between Slav and Jap. Distance, however, separates them from the view of civilized people, and expectation stands on tiptoe, overlooking the tragedies of gory battlefields in the hope of discovering the beginning of the end—the beginning of wider national life for Japan and the end of Russian aggression in the Far East.

North Bend Post: R. W. Randolph is stopping in Marshfield today. Mr. Randolph is from the east, and lives in the state of Maryland, where he says he raises cranberries. He is on the coast here to see if the soil and climate is adapted to the raising of the berries. He did not know that cranberries are one of our star products, and was very much surprised when told that we had just harvested a fair crop here this season.

Commend Bishop Potter.
St. Louis, Oct. 16.—By virtue of a resolution adopted at the convention of the National Liqueur Dealers' Association, it has been decided to amalgamate that association with the Knights of the Royal Arch and the Knights of Fidelity, the name of the combined organizations to be the National Liqueur League.

Resolutions were adopted commending Bishop Potter for his action in dedicating a New York saloon. The resolutions advocate a reduction of the tax on whisky, and also a reduction of the tax on imported wines and liquors.

New Orleans was selected as the place of meeting next year, and E. L. Jordan, of Washington, D. C., was elected president.

"In Summertime, Down by the Sea."

Very few people have any idea of the vast amount of money there is to be made and lost in the Music Publishing Business. At times from $10,000 to $20,000 will be lost by a single publisher in trying to make a "winner." Then again a lucky publisher will make a fortune on his first effort. The biggest "Song Hit" and the best money maker in this country at the present time, is a song called—"IN SUMMERTIME, DOWN BY THE SEA," written by Harry B. Lester and Al J. Doyle. This song is now being sung nightly, with great success, in all the principal theatres from Maine to California. There were nearly 100,000 copies sold in less than thirty days from the date of issue, and present predictions are that over one million copies will be sold in the course of one year. It has been calculated by good judges, that the publishers will make a net profit of over $30,000 on this one song, above all expenses.

In Summertime, Down by the Sea, The only real place boys for me, Take a ride on a trolley, get there before dark, Take your sweetheart to Dreamland or to Lana Park, In Summertime, Down by the Sea, The place where we all like to be; Where the breeze softly blows, And where every one goes, In Summertime, Down by the Sea. PRICE, 50 CENTS PER COPY.

By sending 25 cents in postage stamps to the THEATRICAL MUSIC SUPPLY CO., No. 44 West 29th Street, New York, a copy will be sent post paid.

Home Circle Column

Crude Thoughts As They Fall From The Editorial Pen. Pleasant Evening Recollections. A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join The Home Circle at Evening Tide.

WHEN GRANDMA SHUTS HER EYES. Within the chimney corner snug Dear grandma gently rocks, And knits her daughter's baby boy A tiny pair of socks.

But sometimes grandma shuts her eyes And sings the softest lullabies. Across her face the happy smiles All play at hide and seek.

That lingers on her cheek, While thoughts too sweet for words arise When dear grandma shuts her eyes.

Yet, sometimes, pictures in her face Have just a shade of pain, As golden April sunshine when It mingles with the rain;

And then, perchance, she softly sighs, Does grandma when she shuts her eyes. She's growing younger every day, She's quite a child again;

And those she knew in girlhood's years, She speaks of now and then; And sweet old songs she softly tries, Does grandma when she shuts her eyes.

I used to wonder why her eyes She closed, but not in sleep, The while she smiles would all about Her wrinkled visage creep;

But I have guessed the truth at last; She shuts her eyes to view the past.

If we would get the most out of life, we must learn not only to look but to see. The sun is not partial to the rainbow and the rose; he scatters his beauty everywhere, the only defect is in our vision.

A man is no better than his wife will let him be. Oh, wives of America, sway your sceptres of wifely influence for God and good homes. Do not urge your husbands to annex Naboth's vineyard to your palace of success, whether right or wrong, lest the dogs that come out to destroy Naboth, come and also devour you. Righteousness will pay best in life, will pay best in death, will pay best through all eternity.

In our efforts to have the mother of every household appreciate her influence over her children, we are apt to forget the wife's influence over the husband. In many households the influence upon the husband is the only home influence, for there are no children. In a great multitude of the best and most important and most talented families of the earth there have been no descendants. There is not a child or a grandchild, or any remote descendant of Washington, Chas. Sumner, Shakespeare, Addison, Cooper, Pope, Isaac Newton, Dryden, Goldsmith, Lord Byron, Walter Scott, Moore or scores of others we could mention. Multitudes of the finest families of the earth are extinct, as though they had done enough for the world by their genius or wit, or patriotism, or invention, and God withdrew them.

THE OLD HOMESTEAD. So surely as the years roll onward that home in which you now dwell will become extinct. The parents will be gone, the property will be turned over into other possession, you yourself will be in other relationships, and that home, which, only a few years ago was full of congratulations, will be extinguished. When that period comes you will look back to see what you did do or neglected to do in the way of making home happy. If you did not smooth the path of your parents to the tomb, if you did not make their last days bright and happy, if you allowed your younger brother to go out into the world unadvised by Christian and sisterly influences, if you allowed the younger sisters of your Home Circle to grow up without feeling that there had been a most worthy example set them on your part, there will be nothing but bitterness and lamentation. That bitterness will be increased by all the surroundings of that home; by every chair, by every picture, by the old time mantel ornaments, by everything you can think of as connected with that home. Young woman have you anything to do in the way of making your father's home happy? Now is the time to attend to it, or leave it forever undone. Time is flying very quickly away. We suppose you notice that the wrinkles are gathering and accumulating, or those kindly faces that have so long looked upon you; there is frost in the locks; the foot is not so firm in its step as it used to be, and they will soon be gone. The heaviest cloud that ever falls on the parent's coffin lid is the memory of an ungrateful daughter. Oh, make their last days bright and beautiful. Do not act as if they were in the way. After long years have passed and you go out to the grave where they sleep, you will find growing all over the mound, something lovelier than cypress, something sweeter than the rose, more chaste than the lily, the bright and beautiful memories of filial goodness performed ere the dying hand dropped on you in benediction and you closed the lids over the weary eyes of the worn out pilgrims.

HEALTH

"I don't think we could keep home without Theford's Black-Draught. We have used it in the family for over two years with the best of results. I have not had a doctor in to be longer than length of time. It is a doctor in itself and always ready to make a person well and happy."—MRS. HAZEL JACKSONVILLE, Ill.

Because this great medicine relieves stomach pains, frees the constipated bowels and invigorates the torpid liver and weakened kidneys.

NO DOCTOR

Theford's Black-Draught cures biliousness, dyspepsia, colds, chills and fever, bad blood, headaches, diarrhoea, constipation, colic and almost every other ailment because the stomach, bowels liver and kidneys so nearly control the health.
