THURSDAY, MAR. 30, 1905.
 EDITORIAL.
 The Russian Bear has been punctured severely in Manchuria, and is migrating toward St. Petersburg.
 A New York Judge has discovered that a woman's tongue is a concealed weapon, and rendered a decision in accordance to his discovery. A couple of litigants turned their batteries loose on the Judge.
 The United States, England and Germany have joined in lending money to Japan. German sympathy may be with the Czar, but faith in Russian arms is too weak to trust her money in Russian bonds.
 Russia now stands in the position of a vanquished prize fighter. If she wishes to get up a bout with a first-class nation, she will probably be told to go and get up a reputation before receiving recognition.
 It would seem that the hunt for a man to succeed President Roosevelt is already on. This is a fast age and the public is not satisfied with the present but must delve into the future political aspect, hence the hunt for the man. Fairbanks is given the preference on the Republican ticket, but he is not a solitary aspirant, and as the selecting time is yet three years hence, it might be well to wait awhile as "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," and perhaps he may not be wanted when the time comes.
 Time works wonders, but perhaps the greatest change in the shortest period has been that wrought in the Great Russian Bear, which, a year ago, was the terror of the civilized world, stalking around in his coat of mail, and enjoying his fierce reputation. But, alas! for his imagined greatness, the Spaniel of the Sea became aroused and began by nipping his bearship on the nose; the animal turned tail immediately and struck out northward, and the Spaniel has been playing on his heel until his reputation, as that of a great fighter, has, in one short year, gone so that he is no more considered the fierce animal to be avoided.
Centennial Notes.
 A model post office will be installed at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. It will prove interesting as an exhibit, and useful in handling the immense amount of mail matter received at and sent out from Exposition headquarters.
 Fruit raisers of Pierce County, Washington, will give away apples and strawberries at the Lewis and Clark Exposition in order to convince Easterners that Pierce County is an unsurpassed locality for raising these products.
 The staff work on the beautiful Bridge of Nations at the Lewis and Clark Exposition is now completed. The Bridge is almost half a mile long and is built of wood and staff, in imitation of solid masonry. The Bridge crosses Guild's Lake, the largest body of water ever enclosed within an exposition fence, and connects the mainland with the Government peninsula.
 Mrs. Eva Emery Dye, author of "The Conquest," who has been busy for several months tracing descendants of the Lewis and Clark party other than the leaders of that famous expedition, has located at Fowler, California, a son of the "Boy Shannon" frequently mentioned in the journals of the explorers. He is Judge J. D. Shannon, an aged and respected resident of Fowler for many years. Judge Shannon has accepted an invitation to be the guest of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, which is to be held in celebration of the centennial of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, on June 1st, the opening day.
More Ricks
 Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep and nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so effective to cure disorders of the Liver or Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, an effective nerve, and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

Tragedy Averted.
 "Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved," writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him, and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Everybody ought to know it's the only sure cure for Coughs, Colds and all Lung diseases. Guaranteed by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist, Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Russia's Troubles.
 "It never rains but it pours" is an old saw that is often found applicable to human conditions. It applies now to the situation in Russia. Only one brief year ago Russia was a power that every nation in Europe regarded with reverence so far as her military and naval strength was concerned. But this brief year has changed the attitude of the European powers; has changed the attitude of all nations of the earth. Perhaps no nation feared Russia more than the Chinese, for the fear that this venerable empire would be dismembered through Russian influence was becoming common in Peking. But the victories of Japan by sea and land have dissipated this fear, and China is undoubtedly beginning to breathe easier once more.
 And poor Russia's troubles may be named legion, they are so many. Not only are the warships which tried conclusions with the Japanese at the bottom of the sea, not only are her armies fleeing, beaten at every point, not only is the major portion of the territory that Russia coveted now in the hands of the enemy, but there is insurrection at home, terror among the officials of state, and adverse financial conditions difficult to overcome.
 It never rains but it pours. How applicable is the old saw to the Russian troubles of today. Russia thinks that she must retain her military prestige, but to retain this military prestige she knows that she must have money, which she has not at her command. And the bankers of Paris with whom she is now negotiating, tell her frankly that if she wants money from them she must get humble pie, give up the idea of recovering her lost, military prestige, and end the war. French bankers do not intend that the next loan shall be burnt up in battles. There is too much risk. These bankers are pretty confident that future battles will be the same as past battles, in which the Japanese have always won. Those mastersy treats of Russian troops do not produce confidence in circles which have no sentiment in these matters, but loan money indiscriminately if the security is good and the rate of interest satisfactory.
 Peace already hovers in sight so far as the armies of the two powers are concerned. But for Russia, the cessation of hostilities will bring no peace. The insurrectionary spirit has spread until it now embraces many in the army once so faithful to the Czar, even the Cossacks beginning to feel its infection. We are now looking upon what must be the beginning of the end. Russian despotism must fall. The very stars in their courses are fighting against it. When it falls, but not till then, the light of a better day will shine through all the Russias.—Telegram.

Champion Liniment for Rheumatism.
 Chas. Drake, a mail carrier at Chas. Drake, Conn., says: "Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the champion of all liniments. The past year I was troubled a great deal with rheumatism in my shoulder. After trying several cures the storekeeper here recommended this remedy and it completely cured me." There is no use of anyone suffering from that painful ailment when this liniment can be obtained for a small sum. One application gives prompt relief, and its continued use for a short time will produce a permanent cure. For sale by C. Y. Lowe, Druggist.

Work on the California Building at the Lewis and Clark Exposition is progressing rapidly, and the building will be completed by May 1st.
Change in The Game Laws.
 The following, in brief, are the changes made in the Oregon game law: Hunters' license of $1 a year for all hunters except farmers, and $10 for non-residents. Sale of all kinds of wild game absolutely prohibited. Limit on ducks cut down to 50 in a week, not more than 25 in a day. Fishing for black bass permitted at all seasons of the year. Use of live pigeons as targets in trapshooting, prohibited.
Working Overtime.
 Eight hour laws are ignored by those tireless, little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work, night and day, curing indigestion, biliousness, constipation, Sick Headache, and all Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe, sure. Only 25c at C. Y. Lowe's Drug Store.

Home Circle Column
 Crude Thoughts As They Fall From The Editorial Pen. Pleasant Evening Reviews. A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join The Home Circle at Evening Tide.
 Read the story of any successful man and mark its moral, told thousands of years ago by Solomon: Seest thou a man diligent in his business? He shall stand before kings." This proverb is well illustrated by the career of (the industrious Franklin, for he stood before five kings and dined with two.
 The nation that is shortsighted enough to ignore the homes of the people, builds on a foundation of sand; and the homes which divorce themselves from all interests of social and national import, are inviting an inevitable thrallhold for themselves and their posterity. To the ideal state, the home, pure, safeguarded, happy, is its glory and its crown.
 The sculptor who brings out the breathing statue from cold marble, the painter who warms the canvas into a deathless glow of beauty, the architect who builds cathedrals and hangs the world-like dome of St. Peter's in mid-air, is not to be compared, in sanctity and worthiness, to the humble artist, who, out of the poor material afforded by the shifting, changing, selfish world, creates the secure Eden of a home.
 Education commences at the mother's knee, and every word that is spoken within the hearing of the child tends toward formation of character. A child is better unborn than nurtured. The true purpose of education is to cherish and unfold the seed of immortality already sown within us; to develop to their fullest extent the capacities of every kind with which God who made us has endowed us.
 Henry Clay, the "mill boy of the slashes," was one of seven children of a widow too poor to send him to any but a country school, where he was drilled in the "three R's." But he used every spare moment to study without a teacher, and in after years he was king among self-made men. The boy who had learned to speak in a barn with only a cow and a horse for an audience, became one of the greatest American orators and statesmen.
 Half the world seems to have found unemotional occupation, as if the human race had been shaken up together and exchanged places in the operation. A servant girl is trying to teach, and a natural teacher is tending store. Good farmers are murdering the law, while Cheates and Websters are running down farms, each tortured by the consciousness of an unfulfilled destiny. Boys are pining away in factories who should be wrestling with Greek and Latin, and hundreds are chafing beneath unnatural loads in college who should be on the farm or before the mast. Artists are spreading "dubs" on canvas who should be whitewashing board fences. Bohemian counters stand clerks who hate the yard stick and neglect their work to dream of other occupations. A good shoemaker writes a few verses for the village paper, his friends call him a poet, and the last, with which he is familiar, is abandoned for the pen which he uses awkwardly. Other shoemakers are cobbling in Congress, while statesmen are pounding shoe lasts. Laymen are murdering sermons, while Bishops and Whitefields are failing as merchants, and people are wondering what can be the cause of empty pews. A boy who is always making something with pools is railroad-d through the university and started on the road to inferiority in one of the three honorable professions. Real surgeons are handling the meat saw and cleaver, while butchers are amputating human limbs. How fortunate that—
 There is a divinity that shapes our ends; Rough-hew them how we will.
COME HOME, FATHER.
 "Father, dear father, come home with me now.
 For mother is out to the club; You said you were coming, that I was your work.
 To get the dear children some grub. The cook has gone out; her club also meets.
 The janitor's gone on a spree; And your brother Dennis has swallowed a nail.
 And no one to help him but me.
 Father, dear father, come home with me now.
 There's scrubbing and sweeping to do; While mother is solving the problems of state.
 The children are crying for you. The socks must be darned, the patches tacked on.
 The beds must be turned back to six; And mother's shirtwaist must be ironed to-night.
 Or she will have nothing to wear.
 Father, dear father, come home with me now.
 It's lonely without any man. And mother will grieve when she comes from the club.
 If things are not fixed spick and span. Don't swear, dear papa, it isn't polite.
 The children in hearing might be. So let business slide, for dear mother, you know,
 Might bring home a few friends to tea."

 A story is being told of a Kentucky editor, who, needing money, requested that all his subscribers should come to the office and liquidate. There was a great stampede to the office. The door was broken down and other damage done before the editor could convince them by the dictionary that liquidate meant something else than what Kentuckians had in mind.

 I was all run down from nervousness and overwork and had foregone my position and take a rest. I found that I was not gaining my strength and health as fast as I could wish, and as your Wine of Cardui was recommended to me as a good medicine for the life of our sex, I bought a bottle and began using it. I was satisfied with the results from the use of the first bottle, and took three more and then found I was restored to good health and strength and able to take up my work with renewed vigor. I consider it the best tonic and excellent for women, nervous condition, and am pleased to endorse it.
