POLLY LARKIN

Woman and Fashion

Breakwater, Connecticut.

by Mrs. Samuel F. Larkin.

This includes a collection of monographs on the various classes of flowers, their characteristics, and how to cultivate them. The arrangement is by the natural order of the class, so that any one may easily find the flower they are looking for. The flowers are arranged in a class by the name of the genus, and each species is in alphabetical order. The flowers are then arranged in a class by the name of the species, and each variety is in alphabetical order. The flowers are then arranged in a class by the name of the variety, and each species is in alphabetical order.
