Death on the Bar

Death has another time visited this section and two more lives have passed away, James Costello of this place, and William Harris, of Port Orford, being the victims. Messrs Costello and Harris started to cross over the bar, this morning at 5 o'clock, in Costello's gasoline launch, after getting as far as the end of the south jetty, turned to come back, but after turning the engine seems to have stopped. The life-saving crew were watching and had gone half way down, and seeing that something was wrong started for the scene, but before they got there the boat was thrown upon the south jetty and the damage done. Costello's body was secured within five minutes, but life was dashed out upon the jagged rocks rather than by drowning. A small boat that was towed behind was smashed to pieces. The launch drifted out to sea being well filled with water. The body of Harris has not been recovered as yet. Mr. Harris was about 29 years old and Mr. Costello was 20. The funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Bandon Wins.

Those who were fortunate enough to be present at Sunday's ball game, were treated to some genuine baseball. The weather being somewhat misty in the morning, many failed to put in an appearance, although the management was well pleased with the attendance. The game was a hot one from start to finish, and Bandon won by a score of 4 to 2. The score being 4 to 2 up to the last half of the ninth inning, when our clever little second baseman started the fire works which proved the undoing of the visitors. The special features of the game were too numerous to mention, so we will not try to mention them. The Marshfield team played a good game, but contented themselves by singing that old familiar rag of "Oh! how easy." Monahan was there with that old noise as usual, and spent most of his time prancing up and down the bases, waving his clothes at the pitcher like a Mastador in a Mexican bull-fight. Collins and Kennedy were a disappointment to our local fans, as we expected to see faster men. Smith and Hughes both pitched fine ball. Willie, who started to umpire the game, would, no doubt, meet with better success at husking pumpkins. He is a sad failure as an umpire. This game will, in all probability, be awarded to North Bend by one-half of our present Board of Arbitration, as was the game the week previous. Rosa's long throw to the plate from deep right was one of the principal features of the game, and will long be remembered by the fans. Below will be found the correct standing of the teams of the League. Ours Wins Was There!

Dirty Business.

The Coast Mail informs its readers that Clynes has been expelled from the Coos Co. League. We desire, through the columns of the Recorder to place the matter in a correct light before the public. Mr. Clynes, after some communication with J. Curran, Manager of the North Bend team, wrote Curran that he would not come to his camp, as he was going to a league in the Northwest. Clynes did go to said league, and was with the Boise City team, and remained there and played ball with said team until he was released. Curran in the mean time filled up his team and began playing ball. When he found that McKee had secured Clynes for Bandon, he nearly fell dead on the spot. There was a howling, raving, and gnashing of teeth by the North Bend manager. At the last meeting of the several managers of the different teams in the league, it was suggested that no manager should have any claim on any player until said player had signed a written contract, or had received transportation money. This was put forth by some other than this same Mr. Curran, and was agreed to by all present. The Bandon management thereby waiving all claims against different players who had accepted a more liberal offer by Bay parties, after having agreed to play at this place, our management contenting themselves by securing better men and faster ball players. Had this not occurred, there would never have been any protesting. The dirty work on the part of the management of the North Bend team two years ago, is still fresh in the minds of the public, and this latest piece of work caused no surprise here; we only wonder what will come next. The manner in which North Bend and Marshfield have attempted to shelve Clynes this season, is in somewhat of a contrast from two years ago, when Marshfield got him and played him there. The expelling of Mr. Clynes was brought about in quite a peculiar manner; the Board of Arbitration, consisting of a man from North Bend and one from Marshfield, performing the job, while Mr. Stanley of Coquille, and Mr. Perkins of Bandon, were absent. Tower not having the necessary authority to call the Board together in the manner in which he did, calling one half of the Board from the river, to assemble at Marshfield, thereby traveling fifty miles over and back, at much expense, while those two members of the Bay side sit in their rock ing chairs at home. That Clynes is to be expelled from the League by two members of said Board of Arbitration, and without any authority whatever, creates much merriment and laughter among our people here. I desire to call the attention of the reader to the fact that our team and management of two years ago were dubbed as the protest fiends, being compelled to protest most of the games played, and it is very amusing to see how this protesting fever is caught by the Bay teams this season; especially so, when they find that they are out classed. North Bend played a man who was protested against and disqualified by the President of the League, for the entire season two years ago, and now I guess they can take a little dose of their own medicine, as it is to be only a case of dog eat dog. That the Bandon management did not search for H — to Indies for illegal players to win out with, goes without saying; and that they won the pennant only by fair means, has been proven beyond all question of a doubt. When a no quorum board can do business as they please, things must be done on a not strictly American principle, and suggests to some that when any team becomes too strong for those dead game sports, they must at once be expelled by such members of the board as desire their expulsion. Bandon has eight more men who will probably be expelled from the League if they win any more games from their Bay neighbors. That Bandon has a good case against three players in the League is without doubt, but the only protest that the management will offer, will be a good drubbing every time that they

John M. Conrad, Drowned.

On Sunday came word from Prosper that John M. Conrad had drowned some time during the preceding night, at the Aberdeen mill, where he was nightwatching. The circumstances surrounding his death must remain more or less a mystery, but as nearly as we can learn were as follows: Mr. Conrad had promised his wife, who was not feeling well, that he would call in home and see how she was during the night, and it is probable that he was making his way into his boat for that purpose, and fell from the steps he had constructed to get to his boat. His watch stopped at a quarter past 11 o'clock, and some loggers had spoken to him not a great while before that time. The night was dark and misty, and some think that he may have made a misstep in the darkness and stepped off the wharf. Deceased was unable to swim, and was found in the river some little distance from where his boat was docked. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his untimely end. Deceased was interred in the Bandon cemetery, on Monday afternoon, under the auspices of the Old Fellows Lodge of Bandon, and was followed by his grave by the W. O. W., of which order he was also a member. The funeral expenses will be borne by the I. O. O. F., while a beneficial insurance in the W. O. W. secures to his widow the sum of $2,000.

School Report.

The following report and statement will not, it is hoped, be unacceptable to the friends and patrons of the Bandon school. After a period of two years, during which endeavors have been made by me of service to classes under my charge, I can retire with the consciousness of having striven, to the best of my ability, to fulfill, as circumstances would permit, the duties and responsibilities incumbent upon one in my position. From the Eighth Grade under my instruction one year ago, a fair portion were awarded diplomas. Those belonging to the Ninth Grade who took the examination at the close of the present year, were promoted with a standing creditable to the entire class. The Tenth Grade, while ranking high in all branches pursued except Higher Arithmetic, should be permitted to continue, having now the unexceptional opportunity during the coming term of completing the grade work already undertaken, taking thorough reviews with one or two additional subjects, and graduating with honors. Having had supervision of the school, I am in a position to announce that no department has been without a competent assistant the efficiency of whose work will bear the scrutiny of the most exacting. Grades from one to eight, inclusive, show a big percentage of promotions. The public may be assured that the patronage given the entertainment was highly gratifying to the entire corps of teachers; and had the same interest, of at least a portion of the patrons, exhibited itself by their presence in the schoolroom occasionally, the school might have borne, although fettered in discipline, a more desirable appellation than has been attributed to it in less conspicuous assemblages. It is the desire of the teachers that the proceeds of the entertainment be applied to the library fund, and as such, serve some memento for services rendered. The general success with which it has been my fortune to meet during a life work in the classroom, is the only justification offered in behalf of present attempts. Satisfactory results in the life of the educator are gained by those only who can apply themselves with patience and forbearance, and whose grievances give place to better hopes and anticipations which may await them in the future. Respectfully submitted, M. L. R. EDWARDS.
