EDITORIAL

Every man, woman, boy or girl should be a seeker after that which is true, as only truth will be able to come out of the crucible, that shall try all things, in the same unchanging condition with which it passed in.

Generally speaking it is very desirable to have a brother by kin, but even that relationship is some times a misfortune as Ree Hadd, brother to the Sultan of Turkey, can testify. Ree Hadd is now in prison because his brother suspects that he wants to usurp his throne.

The Sultan of Turkey claims Divine Providence protected him from the hands of the assassin who shot a bomb in his direction a few days ago. The Sultan was more favored than his brother, who fell into his hands some months ago. The assassin then seems to have been specially favored.

Governor La Follette, of Wisconsin, in speaking of John D. Rockefeller, said: "Now, you take Rockefeller. He gives lots of money to missionaries. His hands reach out in all directions. He is strangling and throttling them one after another. There is nothing that gets away from him. Charity? Great God! If he lived a million years, he could not expiate the crimes he has committed in robbing his competitors.

How inconsistent individuals some times are, and how far they will let their prejudices lead them. There are persons who cannot listen to the discussion of a subject that is in opposition to ideas that they have conceived and which they believe to be true, and rather than listen to the opposition they will leave an audience. This principle is wrong. We should know both sides to any proposition, and should not fear to investigate. We only have solid footing when we are anchored on truth.

Mr. Ree Hadd, brother of the Sultan, is incarcerated in the same quarters where the late Sultan Murad was confined by the great Abdul last year. Murad was also a brother of Abdul, and, according to rumor, was given his passport to another world by men acting under orders from Abdul. Ree Hadd is accused of the same offense as that which caused trouble for his late lamented brother—that is they both wanted Abdul's position. This envious banking added unbusiness to a head that was already wearing a crown several sizes too large. Royalty in Turkey is not always happy when the bombs are flying thick, but Ree Hadd seemed to be willing to take a long chance at it, even though he lost.

A Warning to Mothers.

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil causes and has a tendency to grip. If this does not work, the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipency, and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known, and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

A Valuable Book.

One of the most valuable books that has been offered to the public lately is
The American Family Educator.
This book is a fund of knowledge that will interest the whole household, and should be the companion of all persons in their leisure moments. If its advice is sought and followed it will prove a source of profit as well as pleasure.
Sold only by J. J. EDWARDS, AGT.
For Sale—Corner lot with small house and outbuildings; lot 125x42 feet, situated on Iris Street near Broomfield Factory. Price $90. Enquire at this office. Also three lots in Cartwright Addition.

Nothing on the Market Equal to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This fact is well known to druggists everywhere, and nine out of ten will give their customers this preparation when the best is asked for. Mr. Obe Witmer, a prominent druggist of Joplin, Mo., in a circular to his customers, says: "There is nothing on the market in the way of patent medicine which equals Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints." For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Waiters, of 546 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes: "For several months I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak from useless doctors' drugs that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at C. Y. Lowe's Drug Store. Price 50c.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Never fails. Buy it now. It may save life.

Home Circle Column

Crude Thoughts As They Fall From The Editorial Pen. Pleasant Evening Reviews. A Column Dedicated to Third Mothers as They Join The Home Circle at Evening Tide.

Children should be taught the importance of persistency. It is not necessary that they should early choose their vocation, yet it is necessary that when they do choose it, they should choose it for life. An occupation once chosen should be entered upon with a feeling that there is no other occupation. The ship should be burned behind. So long as there is in the mind a lingering thought that after all some other occupation will constitute the life work, failure is almost certain, for the mind is not concentrated, and its acts are like the acts of those who are half in jest.

The first law of friendship is sincerity; and he who violates this law, will soon find himself destitute of what he so erringly seeks to gain; for the deceitful heart of such an one will soon betray itself, and feel the contempt due to insincerity. The world is so full of selfishness, that true friendship is seldom found; yet it is often sought for paltry gain by the base and designing. Behold the toiling miser, with his ill-gotten and worthless treasures; his soul is never moved by the hallowed influence of the sacred boon of friendship, which renews again on earth lost Eden's faded bloom, and flings hope's balmy halo over the wastes of life. The envious man—he, too, seeks to gain the applause of others for an unwholesome, by which he may usurp a seat of pre-eminence for himself. Self-love, the spring of motion, acts upon his soul. All are fond of praise, and many are dishonest in the use of means to obtain it; hence it is often difficult to distinguish between true and false friendship. Our best friends are beneath our own roof. A family circle when each member is linked to the other by home ties, is where you find true friendship in its unadulterated and pure form.

One of the saddest sights is that of a young man, who, without ever having asked himself if he possessed sufficient strength of nerve to endure the strain of an intellectual career, has been graduated heavily in debt, and has sacrificed what little health and constitution he had for a college course. No one told him, that even if he should obtain his degree, he would be totally unfitted to excel in intellectual pursuits, and would be doomed to perpetual mediocrity. He thought that if he could only get through college, even if he were broken in health and in purse, he could get on somehow. He is no longer content with his former lot, his ambition is poisoned by visions of impossible goals, his vitality exhausted, his energies scattered, and so the youth who might have become a useful farmer or a skillful mechanic, staggers under his load of pecuniary obligation, ill health and unsatisfied ambition, until death relieves him of his misery. There are many such young men in every community. The parents, and not the young men, are to blame for this. Before John is ten years old, his parents decide to make a doctor, a lawyer, or a professor out of him. When John develops, he is naturally taken to the plow; he is best adapted to, as a duck does to water. Wait for those developments before trying to mould a lawyer out of a natural mechanic or farmer.

In this community, like all others, we have a few penurious farmers, whose prosperity and happiness is crippled by their own avarice. Such a man is to be found using a wooden plow which his father left him. He goes barefooted week days in order to make his shoes last two years of Sundays. If he buys a new coat he must pay for it with beans or some product of the farm. He could not think of selling the beans for money and then buying the coat, for that would be paying money for the coat. Indeed, he has well high dispensed with that instrument of civilization—money. He has gone back so far toward barbarism that he desires to barter instead of buy and sell with money. His home circle is not a happy one. The business man frowns when he is seen coming into the store or office. His children do not run to meet him. If he would open his purse-strings for one week, the old world would look brighter, his home would seem like heaven and the bright faces that would meet him at the door would more than compensate him for the little money that it required to bring about this radical change. This same class of persons borrow this paper each week of their poorer, but more happy neighbors. When they come after it this week just mark this article before giving it to them.

A MATTER OF HEALTH

Nothing but a Whiskey Flask

A nautomoblist on Broadway, New York, had a thorough scare the other day, after bumping into a tall, spare person and causing him to sit down violently. The victim sprang to his feet, and his hand reached swiftly for his hip pocket. The chauffeur cringed beneath the seat to be out of the way of bullets, and bystanders grabbed hold of the excited man. The scare turned into a laugh, however, when the cause of the stranger's excitement was discovered to be a broken flask of whiskey in his hip pocket. He was a Southern Colonel.

A Touching Story

is the saving from death of the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyer, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months our little girl was declining health, with serious throat trouble, and two physicians gave her up. We were almost in despair, when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At C. Y. Lowe's Drug Store, 50c and $1.00 Guaranteed Trial bottle free.

One of the most popular places at the Lewis and Clark Exposition is the "Best Pavilion" adjoining the Sherman Lincoln House. The state of Illinois has built this costly pavilion so that visitors can stop awhile and rest on the broad portico. Rest chairs and rockers are free to all. The Lincoln home, as reproduced at the fair, is a center of interest.

X-Ray Gas Generator.

The Wonderful Light of The Twentieth Century.

On an ordinary lamp this attachment will increase your light to at least double the capacity of the ordinary burner. This is a late and most popular invention, and does away with smoking chimneys, and requires no cleaning or trimming of the wick.
