EDITORIAL.

Roosevelt might make a capital stroke just now by making a handsome freewill offering to the czar. Japan is insisting upon payment of her war expenses, and the question of "tailed" money will hardly be raised.

Now we have the spectacle of Havana quarantining against New Orleans. A few years back and Havana was frequently scourged with yellow fever, but the change that has come since Spanish occupancy, has wrought wonders in the sanitary condition of that city.

The "graft" proposition has reached a stage that is enormous, and now President Roosevelt has given notice of the need of legislation against it. President Roosevelt has a happy faculty of rubbing up against something that smarts of opposition, and he is likely to stir up an unquenchable lot of politicians and others, if he goes up against the grafters.

From the tone of news from the Orient, it would seem as though the Kaiser wishes very much that his uncle Edward will restrain his English subjects from discussing things things German and expressing their views disparaging to his people and government too profusely. King Edward may have a firm grip on the British throne, but when it comes to curbing the sentiment of his subjects he will hardly be able to do so. In this case the Emperor will most likely have to pocket his pride or "grit" and bare it.

Teachers Institute.

It is known to probably all of our teachers that the Institute Law is suspended for the year 1905, in Coos County, and that there will be no Annual Teachers Institute held in the County this summer.

This is in harmony with the provisions of Senate Bill No. 133, the Section of which reads as follows:

Section 2. In case any County Superintendent shall dispense with his Annual Institute for 1905, in accordance with the provisions of this act, then all laws and all parts of laws relating to the apportionment of money to school districts in consequence of institute attendance, and all laws pertaining to teacher's attendance at county institutes, are hereby suspended in such county for the year 1905, but shall be in full force and effect after January 1, 1906.

The Educational Congress to be held in connection with the Lewis and Clark Exposition, and which is intended to take the place of the annual teachers institutes of the various counties, will convene on the Fair Grounds, Aug. 28, and continue for five days. A very strong program has been prepared on which appears the names of many instructors of national reputation. While teachers are at liberty to attend or not this Congress as best suits them, yet it would seem that the opportunity to be present at such a gathering of the educators of this and adjoining states, and at the same time see the wonders of the Exposition, affords an opportunity rarely met with in a lifetime.

It is my plan to leave Roseburg for Portland on Friday morning, August 25th.

If as many as ten can arrange to go by the same train, special ten day rates of $6 for the round trip are granted.

Since a number of teachers are going from this county sometime during the latter part of the month, I would suggest that we take advantage of these special rates by meeting in Roseburg on the date named.

Respectfully,
W. H. Brown,
Co. Supt.

Nothing on the Market Equal to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This fact is well known to druggists everywhere, and nine out of ten will give their customers this preparation when the best is asked for. Mr. Obe Wither, a prominent druggist of Joplin, Mo., in a circular to his customers, says: "There is nothing on the market in the way of patent medicine which equals Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. We sell and recommend this preparation." For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

A Warning to Mothers.

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to grippe. If this does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipency, and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known, and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Chamberlain Talks about Coos County.

At the Harriman banquet in Portland, last week, Governor Chamberlain, in the course of his remarks, said:

For the last week I have visited every town in Coos and Curry counties that had any population at all, and while I was there, the announcement was made that Mr. Harriman is going to build into that territory. (Applause.) It is true, as Mr. Cotton says, that we in Portland do not know our state as we ought to know it. I have never visited that section until last week, but I found a fine harbor at the entrance to Coos Bay, and another one at Bandon, and another small one at Port Orford, and sailing schooners 20 in at any season of the year, when it is not too rough, with out the assistance of a tug. They take a great trade from all of these ports, not to Portland, where it ought to come, but to San Francisco. It is a trade which justly belongs to Portland, and would come here if we had the transportation. Some of those rivers, with their branches, are navigable for 40 miles inland.

All the dairy products and the lumber of that vast region, which ought to come this way by the Southern Pacific system, finds its way to San Francisco or to the Orient. With a 24 hour steamer haul from Portland to Coos Bay, and a 40 hour haul from Coos Bay to San Francisco, with rates about the same, the trade is going to San Francisco instead of Portland, and the lines of steamers carrying the trade belong to San Francisco capital. I believe Mr. Wilson is the only man that really does any business between this port and those ports. But not only this; between Coos Bay and the Willamette valley is a timber belt 25 miles in extent, which, if it were in Michigan, would make more millionaires in a year than were made by the California gold mines in 40 years. With the opening of this territory by the line now projected by Mr. Harriman, I believe much of the trade will come to Portland, where it ought to come.

A Broken Leg.

Frank Ward, a son of Wm Ward, of Daniels creek, is at the Horsfall hospital with a broken leg. In company with Charley Erickson, he was driving from the county landing on Catching inlet over to Daniels creek, returning home from town. Going down the hill the horses took fright and ran away. A small tree had fallen across the road, and the horses jumped over this, but the wagon struck it and was badly smashed. Ward was thrown out and his right leg was broken just above the ankle, while Erickson was thrown down the hill and badly lacerated up. Ward crawled about half a mile toward home, when he was met by his brother, who had been alarmed by the arrival of the horses at the home place. Const Mail.

Public is Amused.

The public is amused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 516 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes: "For several months I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak from needless doctors' drugs that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at C. Y. Lowe's Drug Store. Price 50c.

For Sale.

I have for sale 13 head of Rambouillet bucks. Price twenty dollars per head.

Home Circle Column

Crude Thoughts As They Fall From The Editorial Pen, Pleasant Evening Recreations. A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join The Home Circle at Evening Tide.

"Home's not merely four square walls, Though with pictures hung and gilded; Home is where affection calls. Filled with smiles the heart hath builded; Home's go watch the faithful dove, Sating 'neath the heaven above; Home is where there's one to love! Home is where there's one to love us! 'Home's not merely roof and room, It needs something to endear it; Home is where the heart can bloom, Where there's some kind lip to cheer it! What is home with none to meet, None to welcome, none to greet? Home is sweet—and only sweet— When there's one we love to meet us!"

It is a fact which mathematics cannot explain, that the more affection we leave at home the more we carry with us.

True religion sweetens, strengthens, devotes and ennobles home life. It pushes back the horizon of existence and makes one to live in a larger world.

A happy home does not result from a large income. A large amount of love, plenty of good sense, and a very little money will make a happy Home Circle.

Keep your head clear, your conscience fair, your heart pure, young woman, and go out into the world and make a life for yourself. It is your right as well as your duty.

"The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." This is a saying as old as the hills, but were it true our great men in our great cities would not be trial and sent to prison pens for "boobles" and "graft." When the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, there will be a "school house on every hill top and no school in the valley."

DUTY OF OUR CHILDREN.

We have not done our duty by our children until we have done our utmost to surround them with the best moral influences, to strengthen them with the highest religious instructions within our power, and to lead them on lines that are vitalizing by going that way ourselves. Morals are peculiarly contagious; life is communicated by life; sincerity and simplicity are not transmitted by precept but by example. "Whisper the word of God to the child," said Jean Paul Richter, "in the presence of the sublime and the majestic." "In the presence of things calm and soothing," said George MacDonald, and we would add, "in the presence of the beautiful, the familiar, the homely, the simple, the pious, the sweet, the pure, the faithful, the gentle, the loving, the sleeping babe, a father's hug and a mother's kiss."

THE MOTHER LIKE CHILD.

Children are very observant, and even the tiny little ones notice the difference between the smile and the frown on the parent's face. Year by year, as children grow older, and the soul's mind and heart begin to expand under the influence of the environment, sensitive children usually cultivate, unconsciously, the mother's disposition. The child will be sad and melancholy if the mother sighs and complains. If the child is independent and self-reliant, often under such circumstances, it will become stubborn and defiant. When the child leaves the childhood behind and becomes a young man or woman, then the evil effect of the sad in their becomes still more apparent. "Whatever is blue and hoarse is gloomy," says the young people seek their amusement elsewhere. And then the mother becomes blue-ribbed, because she cannot control the family and they do not enjoy the home. The sad mother has a depressing influence on the home. She comes to the breakfast table sighing; the family hurry through the meal and all soon relieved when it is finished. The household tasks are taken up with a heavy spirit, and the whole house has a funeral like appearance. The gloomy complaining woman has few friends; she spends much of her time alone; there is an estrangement between herself and the other members of the family; her children seek brighter and more congenial friends, and the confidence and companionship that should have been hers are given to others. Mothers have heavy burdens, but they are committing a great wrong when they allow those burdens to shadow the lives of the members of their families.

They Appeal to Our Sympathies.

The bilious and dyspeptic are constant sufferers and appeal to our sympathies. There is not one of them, however, who may not be brought back to health and happiness by the use of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. These tablets invigorate the stomach and liver and strengthen the digestion. They also regulate the bowels. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

A MATTER OF HEALTH

Oregonian: A Chicago man came home intoxicated Friday and his wife suggested to him that he should go and drown himself. He did. But he left a letter reproaching her. She oughtn't to worry. It was good advice.

A Touching Story

is the saying from death of the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyles, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months our little girl was in declining health, with serious throat trouble, and two physicians gave her up. We were almost in despair, when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. The first bottle gave relief, after taking four bottles she was cured and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At C. Y. Lowe's Drug Store, Bandon and $1.00. Guaranteed. Trial bottle free.
