Polly Larkin

A husband who is, as we say, through life, by no means is. She can give us a good deal more acquaintance, and we would not shrink from the idea that she is a good deal more acquainted with the habits of the upper classes of society. Her father is a gentleman, and she is the daughter of a gentleman, and she has been brought up in the upper circles of society.

The subject of this article is the wife of a man who was a member of the upper classes of society. The man was a gentleman, and the wife was brought up in the upper circles of society. She is the daughter of a gentleman, and she has been brought up in the upper circles of society.
