EDITORIAL.

Carnegie believes that five of the civilized nations can secure universal peace by combining their influence. The scheme seems to encompass the condition, that five nations banded together and fully prepared for war, could dictate to the rest of the world. This would work very well, perhaps, so long as peace continued among the five allies, but when trouble drives his wedges into the combine, the allies would forget all about keeping the peace. Love for humanity, not force, must be the power that will retain the dove of peace.

Valedictory.

With this issue of the RECORDER we sever our connection with the journal, having sold the plant to Mr. A. T. Fetter, formerly of Drain. It is not without some regret that we step down and out, as we have served long in the Recorder office, and old associations cannot be broken off without a twinge of sorrow at the parting. During the years that we have labored in this field we have desired to do that which was right, have not counted the cost, nor swerved because of money consideration, but have always striven for justice, reformation, and higher morality.

If we have crossed others or caused them to feel unkindly toward us, it was done in the line of duty, and not for the purpose of contention, and if, at any time, we have failed to give proper credit, or to appreciate the efforts of our patrons, it was done through no purpose on our part to injure or ignore. In Mr. Fetter, we believe our friends and patrons will find an able newspaper man, and we ask that he be cordially and liberally supported. Town building is best done where all work together, and as there has always been a spirit of union among the business men of the town for the welfare of the place, we hope that that spirit may increase rather than diminish.

With the welfare and best interest of the people of Bandon and vicinity and the county at heart, we bid you adieu.

D. E. STITT.

Don't Borrow Trouble.

It is a bad habit to borrow anything, but the worst thing you can possibly borrow, is trouble. When sick, sore, heavy, weary and worn out by the pains and poisons of dyspepsia, biliousness, Bright's disease, and similar internal disorders, don't sit down and brood over your symptoms, but fly for relief to Electric Bitters. Here you will find sure and permanent forgetfulness of all your troubles, and your body will not be burdened by a load of debt disease. At Lowe's Drug Store. Guaranteed. Price 50c.

Cos County Stands Second.

The County Superintendent and Teachers in Cos County have just cause to be proud of the standing of the County in elementary education, as the following, which was sent by Superintendent W. H. Banck, will show:

Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, -Division of Exhibits, -Cos County.

We beg to inform you that the jury under Group 1 and 2, awarded your Exhibit a Silver Medal on Exhibit in elementary education, collective.

Under the rules you have three days in which to file an appeal if you so desire.

HENRY E. DOSCH,
Director of Exhibits.

Insomnia and Indigestion Cured.

"Last year I had a very severe attack of indigestion. I could not sleep at night and suffered most excruciating pains for three hours after each meal. I was troubled this way for about three months when I used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and received immediate relief," says John Dixon, Tullamore, Ontario, Canada. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for a cough medicine whether it was wanted for a child or for an adult, and if for a child, they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup, it is unsurpassed. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Economical and Just.

The Portland Evening Telegram of October 12th, says: "In the extent, variety and general excellence of its agricultural display at the Fair, Colorado easily leads all the states participating, with the exception of Oregon. This was accomplished by the Colorado State Commission, despite the fact that the appropriation available was small."

One of the claims of the advocates of woman suffrage has been, that, inasmuch as women have, all their lives, been forced to grapple with the problem of making a dollar go as far as possible, woman suffrage would introduce economy into the administration of public affairs, and that public officials, responsible to women voters, would have to give a good account of themselves in the expenditure of public moneys.

The above facts seem to bear out this contention, and they do not constitute the only evidence of this character which comes from Colorado. In 1902, the Humane Society of Colorado, at an expenditure of $5,000, handled 1300 cases of children, and 68,000 cases of animals, while, in the same year, in New York City, it cost $272,000 to handle 6500 cases of children, 4000 of whom were simply lost children, and 53,093 cases of animals. Woman suffrage seems to be economical as well as just.

How to Cure Corns and Bunions.

First, soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it; then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Help the Under Dog.

Help the man or woman who is down! Help the child who has had incompetent parents. It is a world of help. Did you ever think of that a little while?

Hasn't somebody ever helped you? Think this over. He is dead, maybe, or gone far away. You couldn't repay him if you would. There is no repayment of many things. But if you had a chance, and it was needed, wouldn't you help that person? If not, we pity you.

This is the slightest phase of the great subject, Help One Another. Help those who maybe will never be able to help you in return. This is the law of Love. Your reward is in the Kingdom, and this is within you.

The under dog may be a scrub; help him, nevertheless. The weaker man may be in one way or another unworthy; help him, nevertheless. The child that you despise may be, if helped, the mother of better men than you! Help her.

Have you strength? Lend a little to the weak. Have you courage? Turn a little of it into the conduits of the neocourages.

Help the under dog even if the upper one bites you. Help to give humanity a square deal. You will go hence soon, and perhaps will meet Abou Ben Adhem, who was of all men best beloved by God because he best loved his fellow men, or that sweet singer, Coleridge, who wrote:

"He prayeth best who loveth best
"All things both great and small,
"For the dear God, who knoweth best,
"He made and loveth all."

Some Seasonable Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is all most sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Home Circle Column

Crude Thoughts As They Fall From The Editorial Pen. Pleasant Evening Recreations. A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join The Home Circle at Evening Tide.

A MOTHER'S GIFT.

Remember her who gave thee this,
When other days shall come;
When she who had thy earliest kiss
Sleeps in her narrow home;
Remember 'twas a mother gave
The gift to one she'd die to save.
That mother sought a pledge of love,
The holiest for her son;
And from the gifts of God above
She chose a goodly one;
She chose for her beloved boy
The book of light and life and joy,
And bade him keep the gift; that when
The parting hour should come
They might have hope to meet again
In an eternal home.
She said his faith in that would be
Sweet incense to her memory.
And should the sufferer in his pride
Laugh that fond faith to scorn
And bid him cast the pledge aside
That he from youth had borne,
She bade him pause and ask his breast
If he or she had loved him best.
A parent's blessing on her son
Goes with this holy thing:
The love that would detain the one
Fast to the other clings.
Remember, 'tis no common toy—
A MOTHER'S GIFT! remember, boy.

Every woman has it in her power to make the environments of her home uplifting and ennobling. Let every mother make her home attractive. She can adorn the walls of her home with pictures, inexpensive ones if necessary. A new tidy may be made for a chair occasionally, table covers renewed, beautiful flowers kept in view, and in other ways the rooms may be made bright and cheerful. All these are surely good touch and shape to the child's mind as that the sunshine paints the hues or the flowers. A child who goes out into the world from such a home, a home presided over by a mother who has striven to make it pleasant and attractive, who has striven to keep high and noble ideals before her children, one leaving such a home carries in his memory a heritage that cannot be compared to the riches of this world.

As a rule husbands are just what you make them, (of course it won't do to toll them this) and the better material you have to start on the better job you can perform with the same amount of labor. If you have a bump of carelessness developed in your nature, don't marry a tombstone. Although he is about as genial as an iceberg, and you will go plodding through life with him to the dead march of his own leaden thoughts. You may be distant and dignified, you couldn't freeze him colder than he is; you may love and pet him, it is a waste of ammunition, he can't be thawed out. Above all things don't marry a dud. He is a weak-minded contemptible apology for a man. God created him a man, therefore let him pass for one; but one good, honest industrious young man is worth all the floating fops in the world. Unless they can choose wisely, or learn to manage a man, girls had better set their affections on cats or poodles, and let matrimony alone.

PURE WATER.

Fire and water are two elements which man cannot get along without—especially water. The water we are writing about in this article, however, is not the fluid that ships sail upon, or boys swim in, or in which fish live, but a different brand. It is just as powerful as the kind which flows in its magnificence over Niagara Falls, or turns the wheels of the mighty mills and factories situated along the banks of some swiftly running stream. Its action is like the tiny drop which finally wears away the largest stone. Unlike the pure, cold, crystal water of our forerunners, or the sweet and tasty fluid drawn from the well by means of the moss covered and iron bound bucket, its action is evil, cruel, and heart-breaking.

The cold water we refer to comes in different colored bottles with variegated labels. Nargging is one brand. The habit of finding fault. Picking flaws and never scattering a ray of sunshine in the shape of a gentle word of praise for a good action performed. Nothing is so discouraging to a person, whether a grown up or a growing child, when conscientiously trying to do right, to be harped at because he did not do better, and, when persisted in, breeds discontent and rebellion. There is a difference between reproach and fault finding, just as there are different kinds of water, health-giving springs, and the disease breeding stagnant kind found in blackened pools.

Another kind of water is the icy-cold brand, disbed out under the name of discouragement, ridicule and belittlement of worthy actions. All singers cannot rise to the greatness of a Jenny Lind or an Adelaide Batt. All artists cannot equal Raphael; or all writers cannot reach the Shakespearean height in literature. Because of his limitation, don't throw cold water on the hopes and aspirations of those who may some day reach a reasonable, if somewhat lesser plain of greatness, but encourage every good and perfect action which tends to lift aspiration from the rut of the commonplace. A dash of cold water in some cases may be necessary—but in the main, Turkish baths are more appreciated than the Russian kind!
